Case Number 1993

Who's been framed???

In every court system a series of steps must be climbed in order to achieve supreme standing. For the past thirteen years the Class of 1993 has ascended this judicial ladder through the Chelmsford School System. Each new step has brought about difficult challenges and rewarding triumphs. From gaining experience as the court stenographers, to finally achieving the ultimate position as judges, the Class of 1993 has proven its stamina, integrity, and loyalty.

Now in the supreme position as rulers of the court, we ready ourselves for the greater challenges that await us in higher courts. We look back on our hard work with admiration, knowing we did the best we could. Our experience in this judicial system has prepared us to meet any obstacle with the fairness to do what is just.

The evidence has been heard, the closing arguments have been spoken. It is now time for the Class of 1993 to review the case one more time through the pages of The 1993 Lion.

Deb, why so glum???

The 1993 Yearbook Staff is a "head" above the rest.

With liberty and justice for all

COTILLION 1992

As we walked up the illuminated path we realized that it was no longer May 16, 1992 but a time of knights and fair maidens. The sudden change was somewhat dizzying and we seemed to lose our way. A sign in the distance pointed us in the right direction: "This way to Sherwood forest."

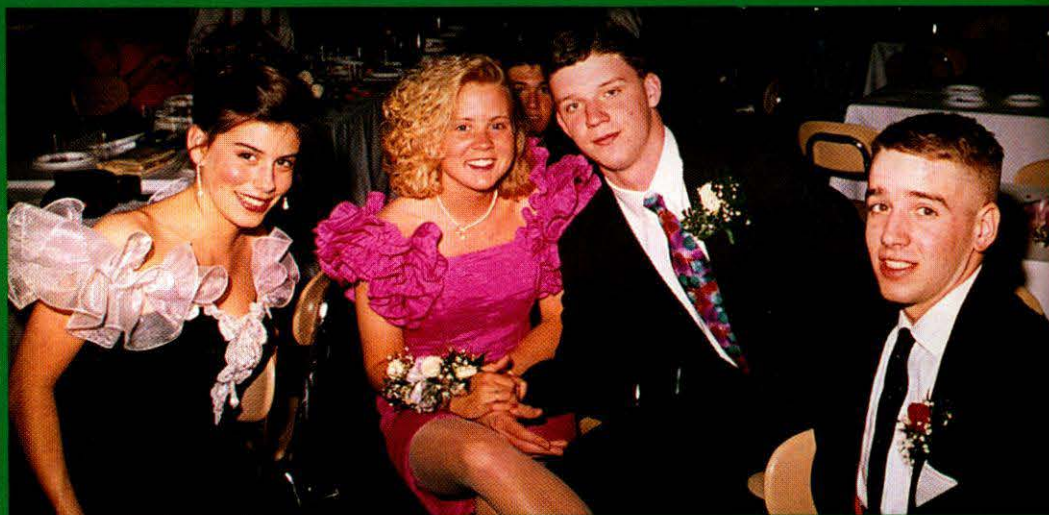

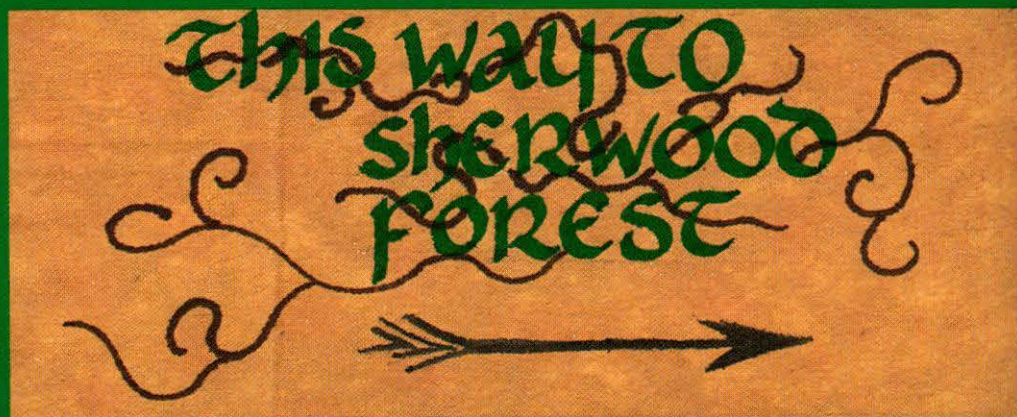

As the members of the class of 1993 stepped into Sherwood Forest, they found themselves entranced by the magic of the woodland. Peering through the trees, they caught a glimpse of a magnificent stone wall. Curious, they wandered towards it, greeting friends along the way.

Once approached, it became evident that the only way past the wall was through a magnificent arch. After walking through, the knights and maidens found themselves standing in front of a great castle guarded by a knight in shining armour, who only allowed passage to Chelmsford's finest.

The knights escorted their fair maidens through the castle gate and into a grand ballroom. Coat of arms and flaming torches adorn the walls. In the castle's moat, candles floated, like shining star in the sky. A strolling minstrel filled the air with music.

After dancing, Robin Hood's merry men found themselves hungry. A feast awaited them in the adjacent dining hall. They were seated at grand tables. Fresh fruit and punch were offered as the songs of the ballroom carried over in the air.

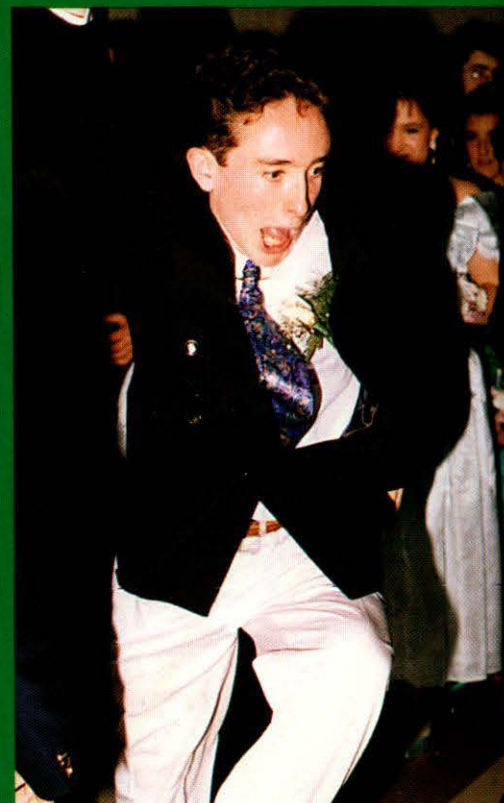

This night in the enchanted forest will live forever in the minds of the Class of 1993.

Kirk, Marybeth, Heather, and Steve stroll up the illuminated path.

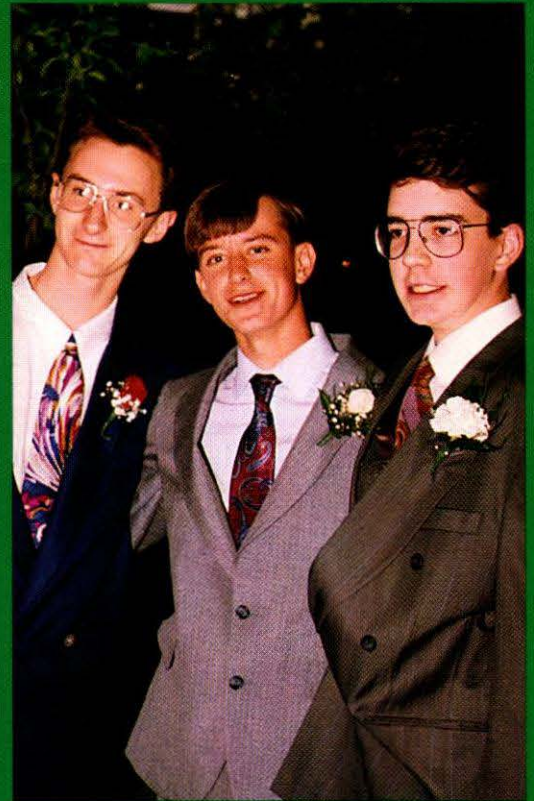

Dan Maguire, the dancing fool.

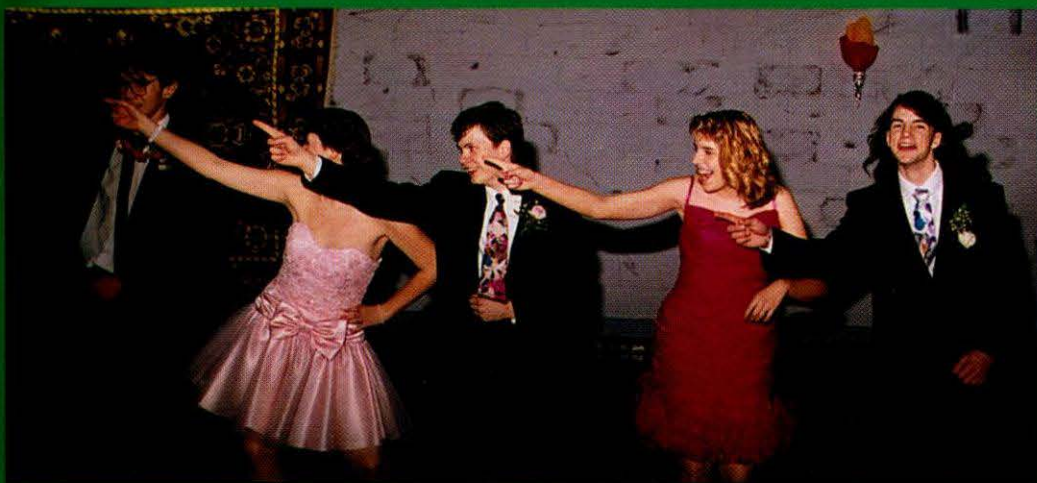

Chris McAnespie and Jennifer Ferron waltz around the grand ballroom. Just one of the happy couples in the forest.

Matt Crocker, Josh Downing, and Matt Gamache, what studs!!!

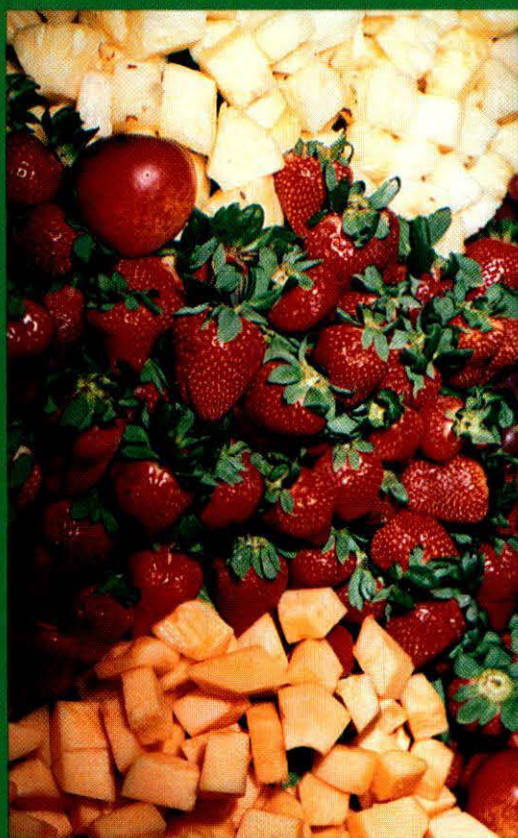

Mr. Pollard and Mrs. Bickel deserve our undying gratitude for all their hard work.

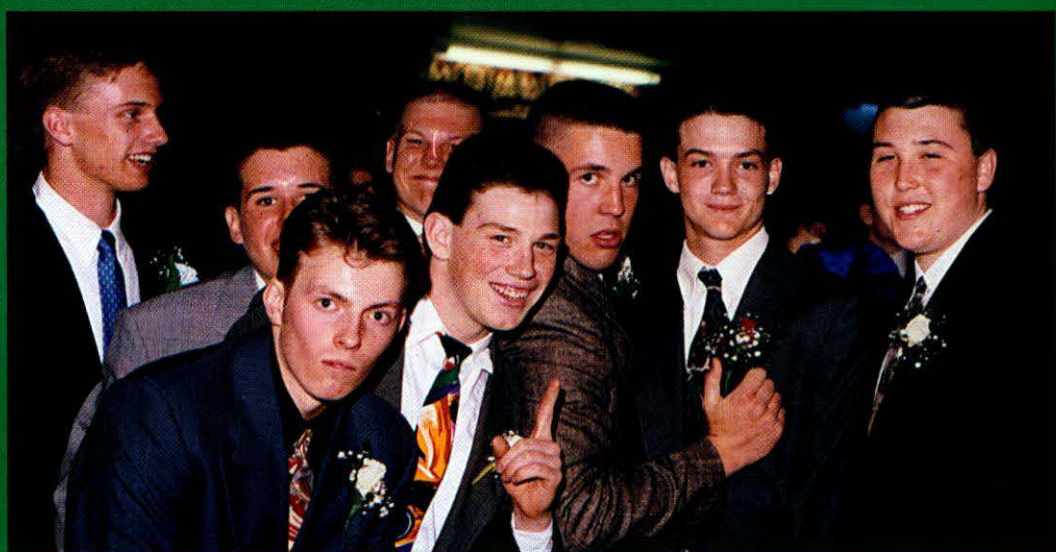

And who says disco is dead?

Mrs. MacDougall did a wonderful job catering.

Robin Hood's band of merry men looking their best.

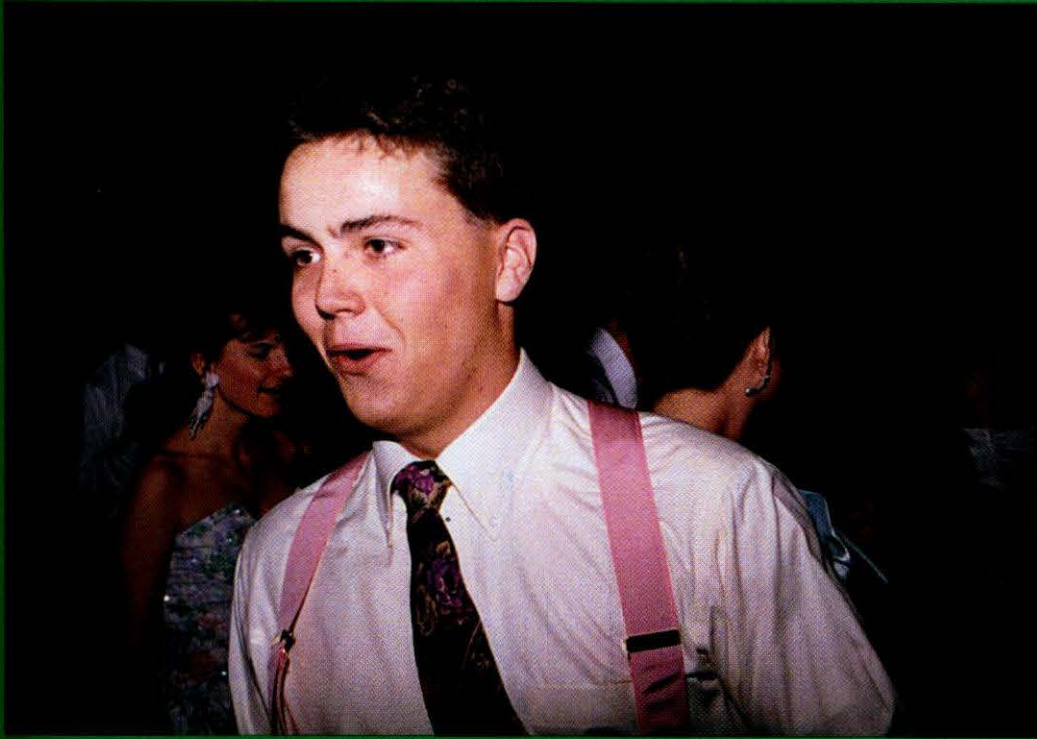

Beau Lamontagne and Susan Boss get a little closer.

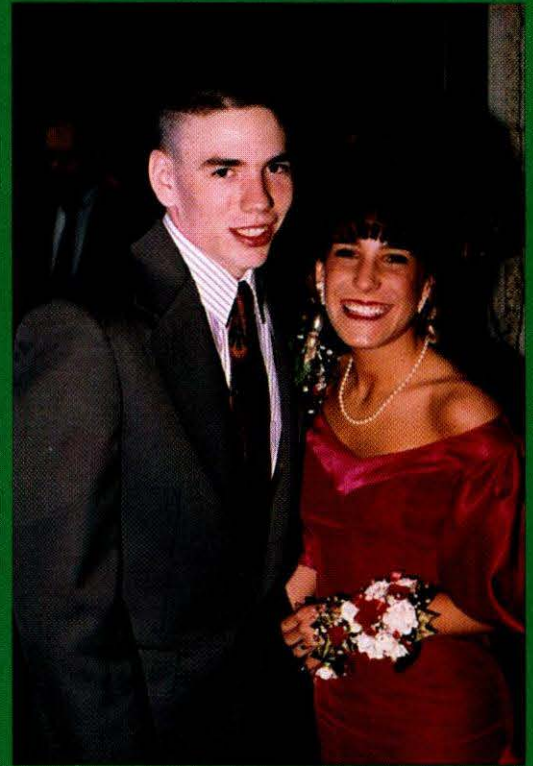

Mike Scully and Lynn Zebroski enjoy the enchanted evening.

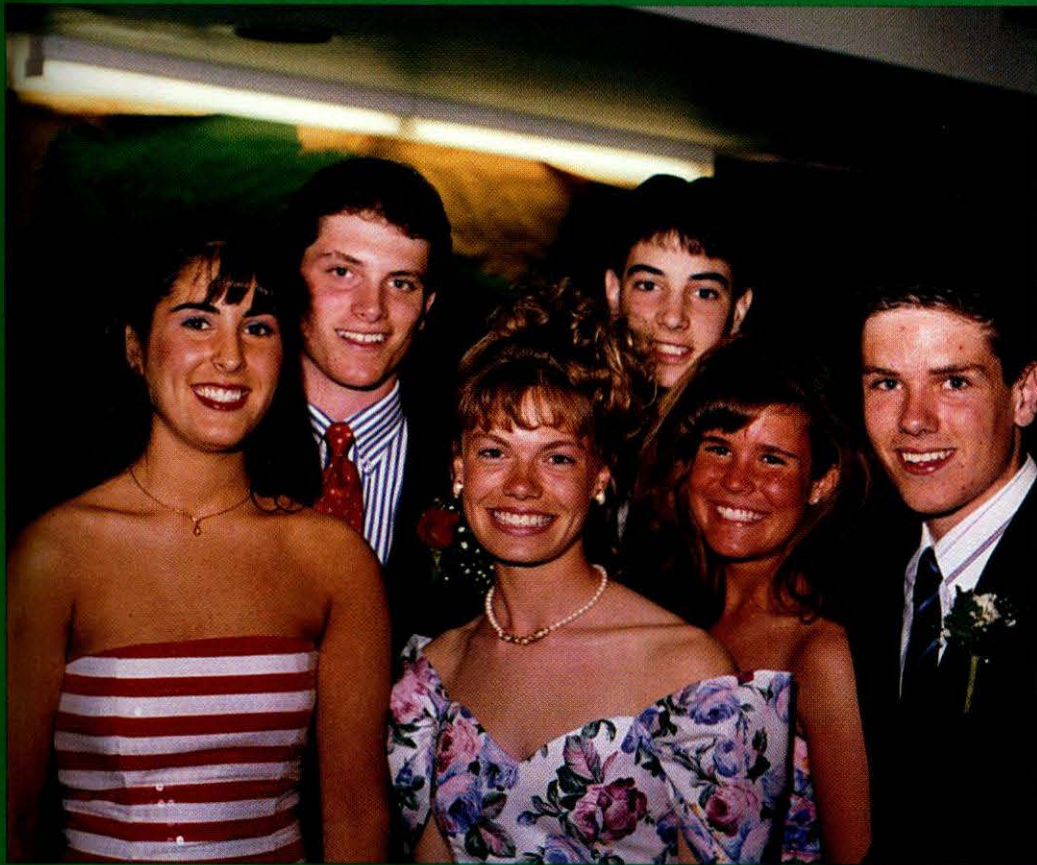

Pat Coit, what did you do now? That's an awfully guilty look on your face.

Kevin Conley and Jen Hellawell make their grand entrance.

Kim, Todd, Kara, Rob, Karen, and Owen make up a very handsome band of thieves.

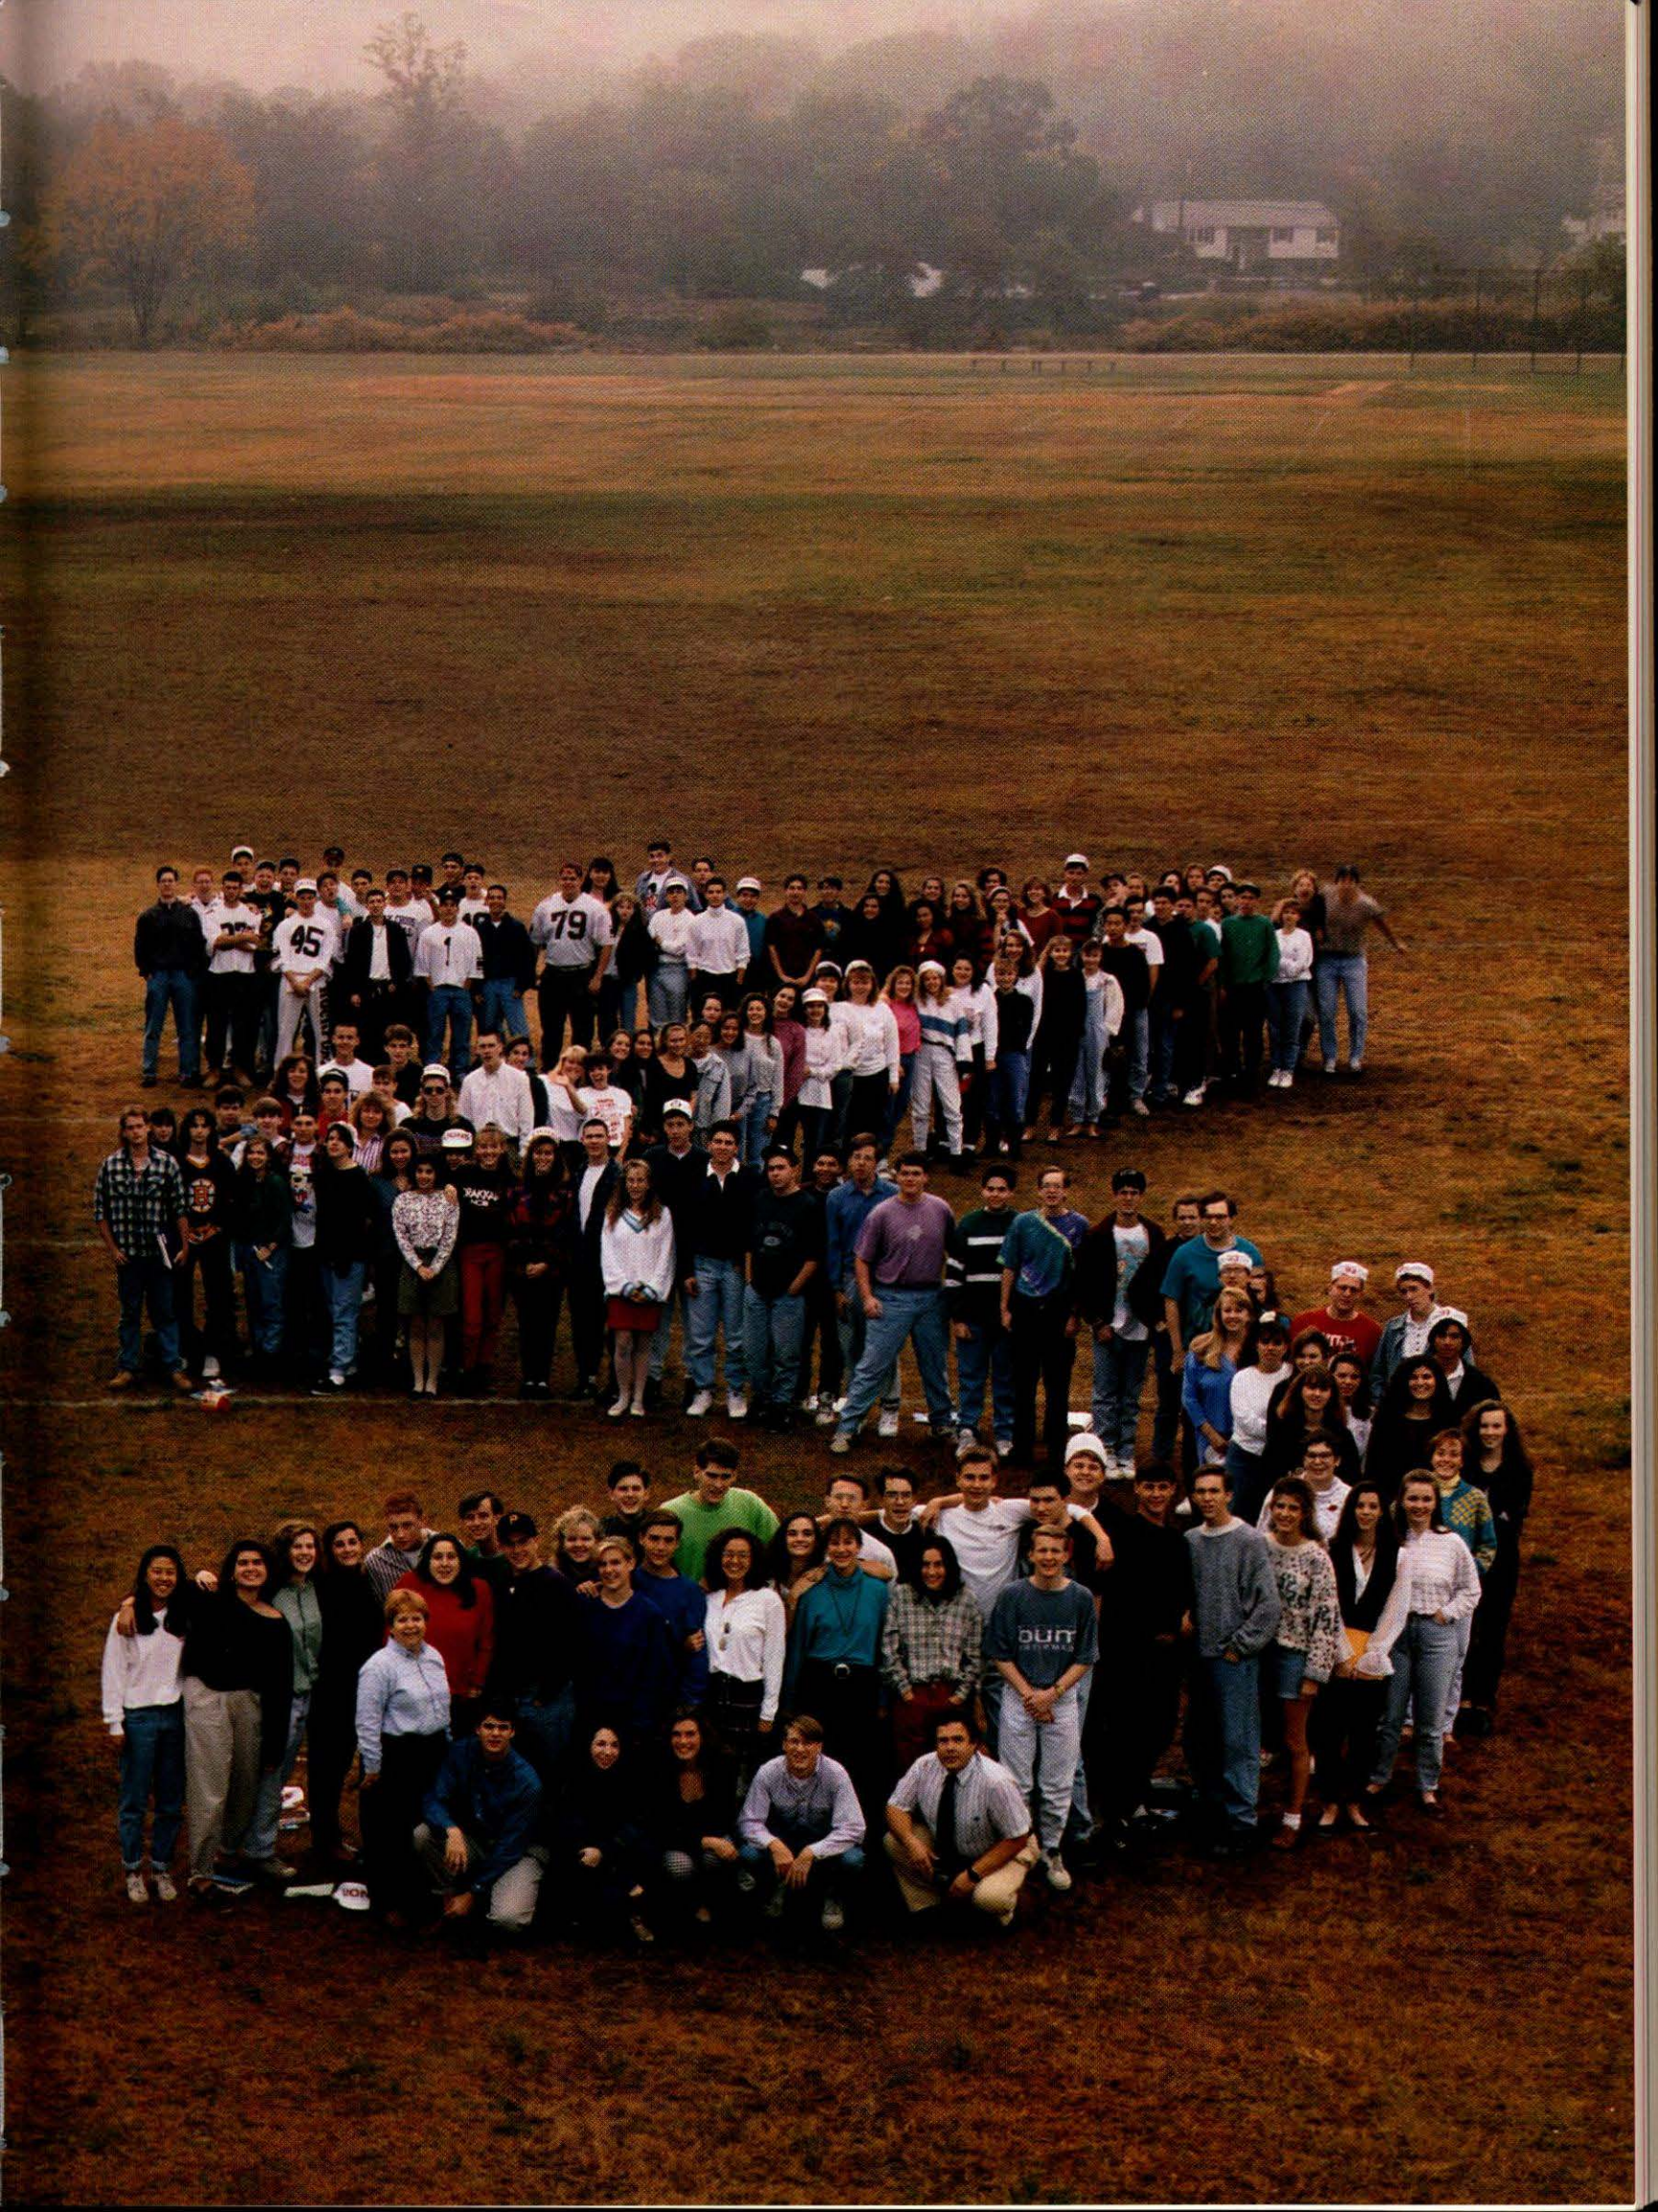

Scott Carney, STOP! HAMMERTIME!!!

MORP 1992

Court was adjourned for the night of September 26, 1992. Traditional robing was cast aside along with the sophisticated aura of the court room, replaced by Saturday morning grubbies and a playful attitude.

One of our fellow judges, Armen Jeknavorian, provided the music that sent everyone into a dancing frenzy. A mosh pit quickly formed as bodies collided, sweat layered the floor, and fog tinted the windows.

The MORP proved to be a great escape from the pressure of pending cases. No deliberation was necessary to determine that the night was a success.

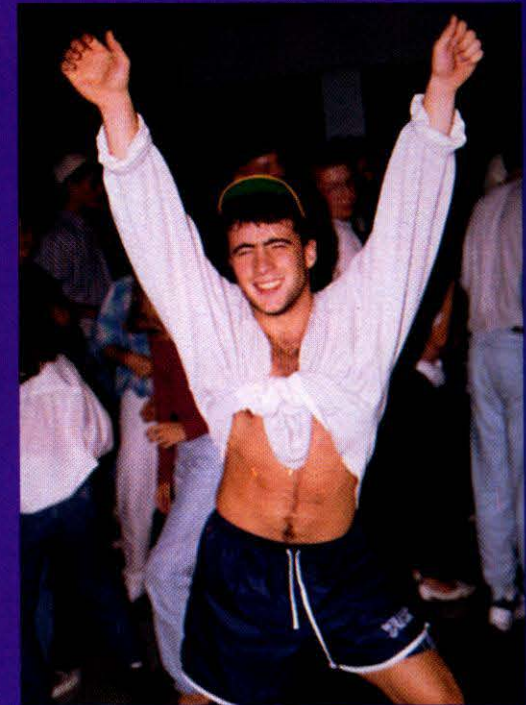

Stephanie Athanasoulas caught all of the night's action on tape.

Matt Crocker gets by with a little help from his friends.

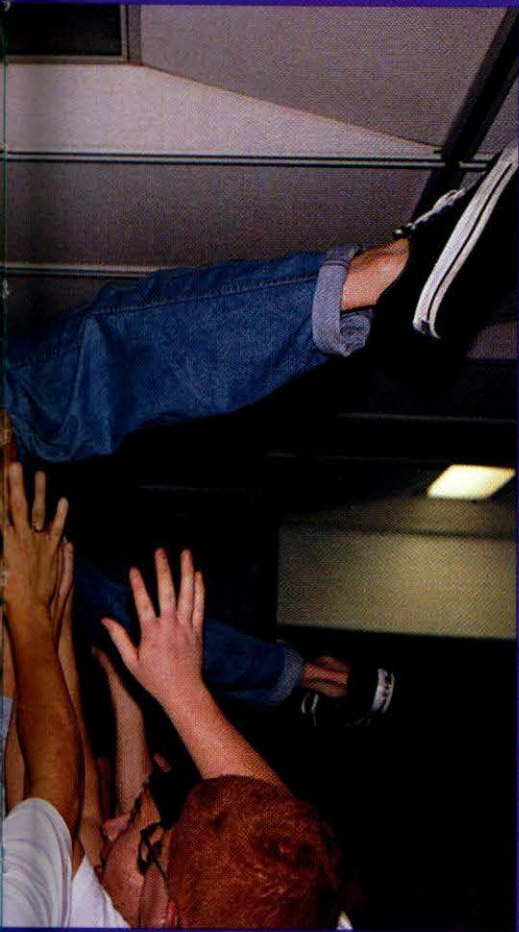

Renee Major and Karen Barbera live it up at the Morp.

Chris Howard, you are the king of disco.

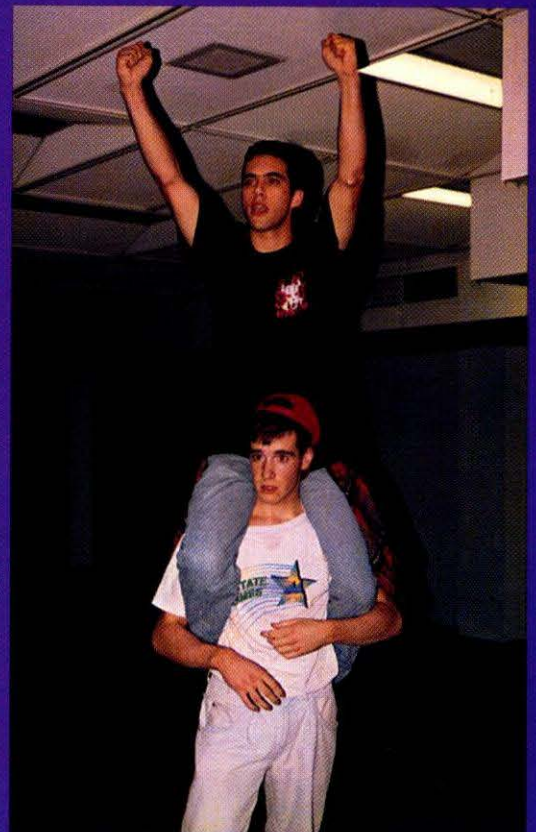

Courtney Finnegan and Nicole Roy still manage a smile after all that dancing.

Chris McAnespie moshes it up. Needless to say, the MORP had many surprises.

Mark Boroyan gets a boost from Dave Parks.

HALLOWEEN DANCE

The date was October 24th as Cafe II filled with all sorts of creatures. One by one, they entered into the unusual world of cowgirls, farmers, bikers, doctors, and many more. The blaring music unified the diverse group that attended the 1992 Halloween dance.

For some, costumes totally hid their true identities, while others bared more than usual. No matter what anyone was, half man-half woman, "Lusty Lions," or babies, everyone danced to the beat of d.j. Armen Jeknavorian's music. Chicken or not, anyone who knew the moves to the Chicken Dance joined in. Karaoke was also a big success with songs from Elvis, Cindy Lauper, Elton John, and many more with the crowd getting shook up.

As quick as the dance started it came to an end. Every creature was saddened that their one night of craziness was over. They were also exhausted due to the energy expenditure of each one in the depths of Cafe II and retreated back to their homes.

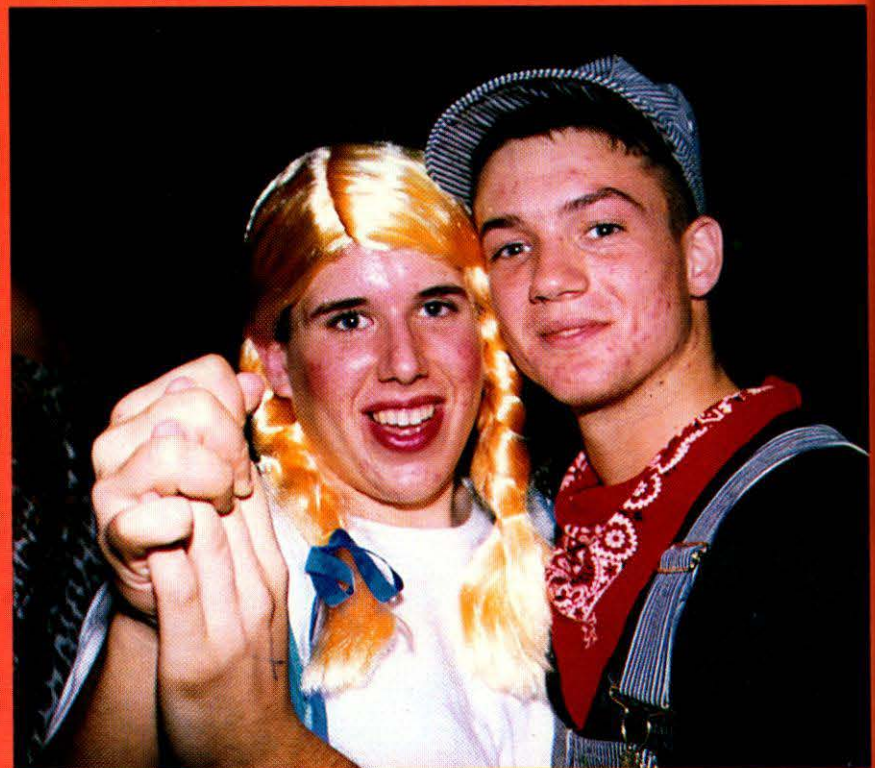

Molly, are you confused?

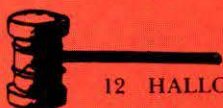

Aren't you guys ever going to grow up?

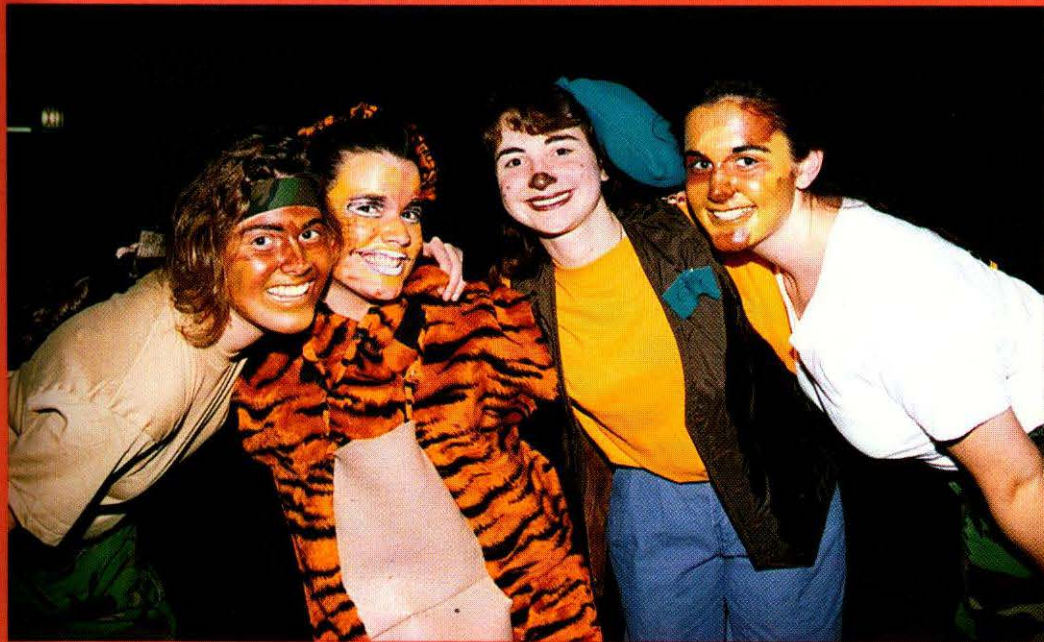

Leslie, a rising rock star?

What a cute couple.

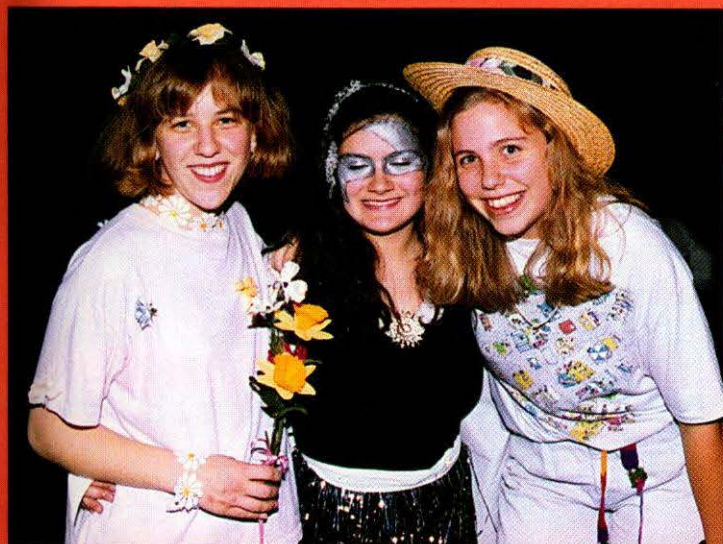

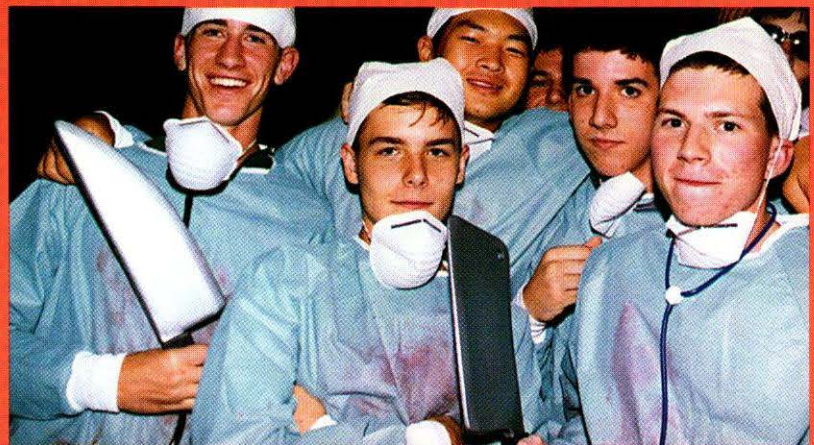

They are all smiles as they take a break from dancing.

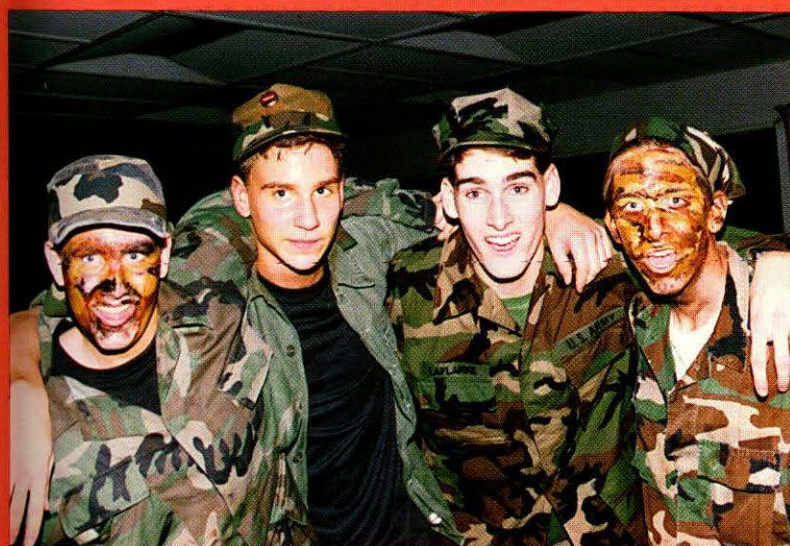

Oh Christmas tree, Oh Christmas tree.

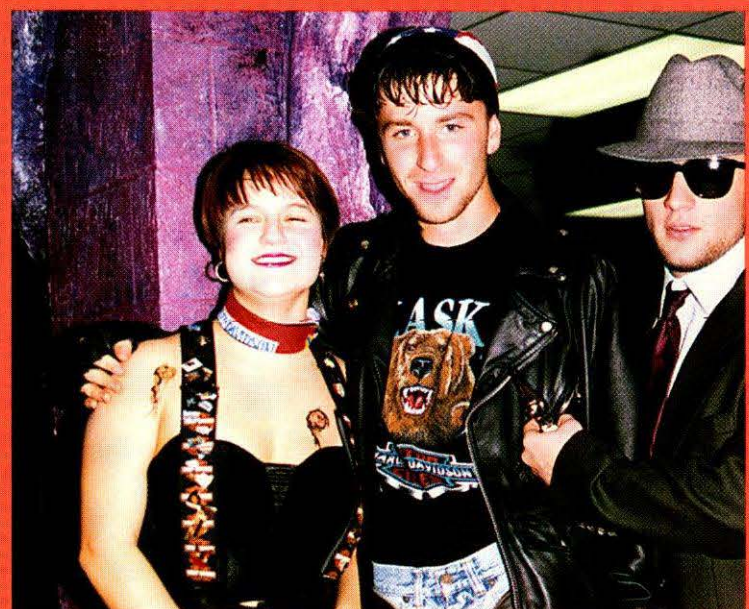

Girls for all seasons.

The doctors are ready for surgery.

You are in the Army now.

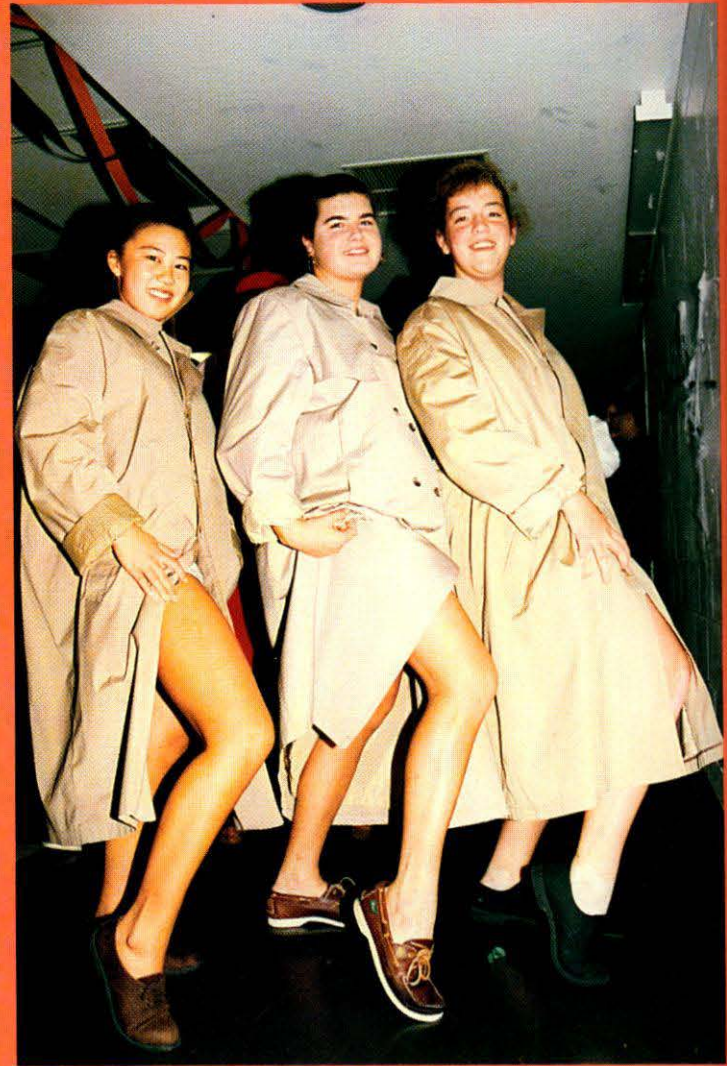

Chris, is there a problem here?

Hey Biker Babes, where are your Harleys?

Steph, Sarah, and Brettney, put some clothes on!

Isn't it past your bedtime?

Howdy partners!

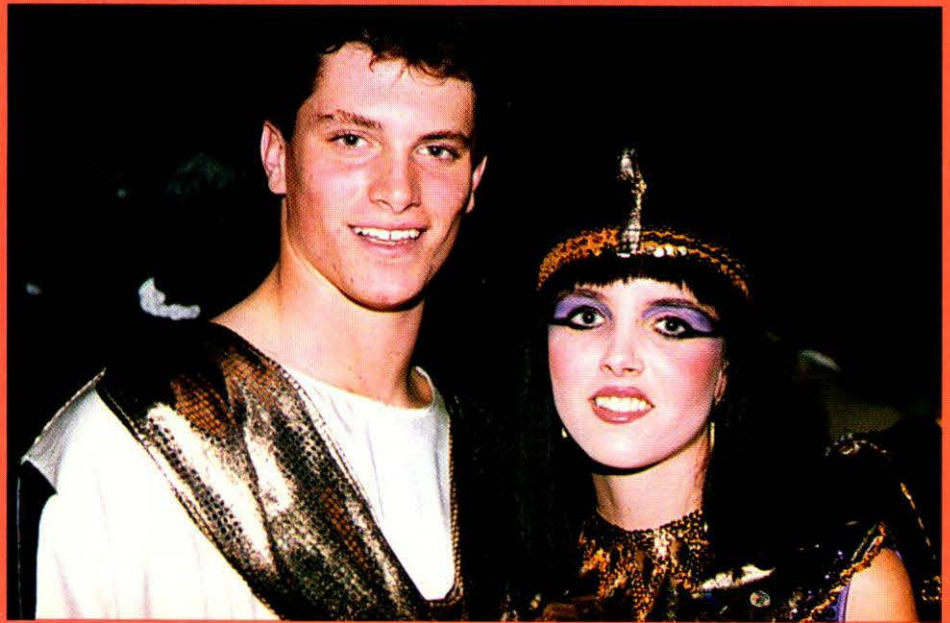

A match made in heaven.

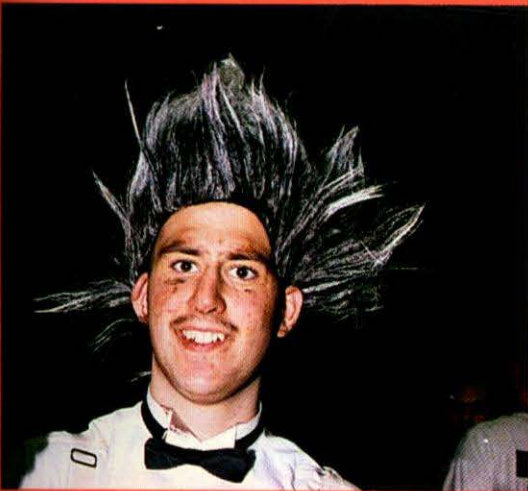

Felipe struts his stuff.

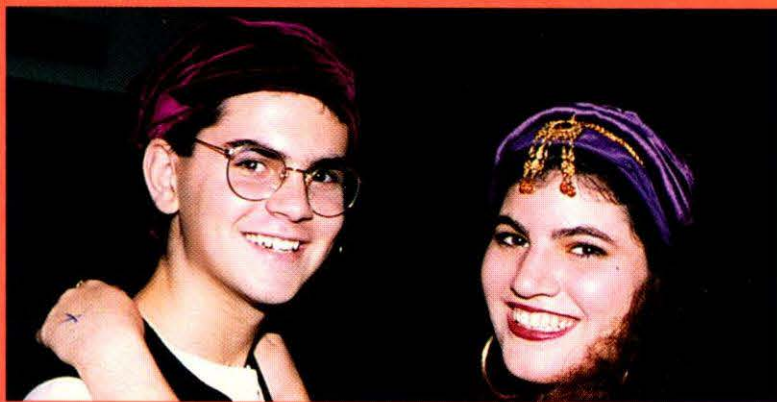

Todd and Marcy, a historical couple.

A blast from the past.

What a shocker!

Show us your Crest best.

TO THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1993

This school year has been special for all of us: I have transitioned into my new responsibilities as your principal; you have transitioned out of high school and to a new beginning along life's journey.

Although your high school years will contain some of your fondest memories, the challenges, many accomplishments and successes, and, yes even some failures will provide excitement, fulfillment, and gratification as you shape the rest of your lives. So, I leave you with these thoughts:

No matter where your future leads you, continue to be decent and honorable human beings, soothing rather than causing pain, seeking solutions rather than confrontations, solving rather than creating problems. Be kind and compassionate; tolerant of differences which separate us; celebrating those things which bring us together. And, by all means, maintain your dignity, never allowing anyone else to take it from you while never taking it away from anyone else. Keep your mind sharp and your body healthy, and if you need a helping hand, do not forget from whence you came.

Godspeed to a wonderful group of kids, and thank you for embracing me as your principal.

Court Advisors

To the Class of 1993:

It has been a short but momentous four year trip from the first day of freshmen year to the last day of your senior year, graduation day. As with any class, there have been highs and lows, with the highs far outnumbering the lows. Consecutive "Spirit Week" victories, a spectacular Junior Cotillion, a rewarding magazine drive, and an overall fantastic four years of activities, accomplishments, service, learning, growing, and fun. We have appreciated your support of your class and its leaders and the various needs they have brought to you and you have fulfilled. You should be proud — we are proud of you.

You have endured and have been victorious in hard financial times, said good-bye to one principal and welcomed and supported a new one, held the first Chelmsford High School homecoming with the hope and desire that it become an annual celebration and rejuvenation of school spirit within the community of Chelmsford. You have accomplished much in a short time, but there is a whole future ahead of you.

There are so many thoughts to express and so little space. You have raised our spirits, been a source of energy and enthusiasm, left us with a feeling of satisfaction and yet a sense of loss because you are moving ahead to new challenges and successes, leaving Chelmsford High School behind with best wishes.

We wish you luck, happiness, success, and the continued strength needed to go on in life and continue to prosper.

With all sincerity,
Your Advisors

Supreme Court Justices

Officers Julie Mills, Leigh Johnson, Jeffrey Metivier, and Michael Hass with our esteemed advisors Mrs. Bickel and Mr. Pollard.

Senior Class President Jeffrey Metivier

The officers are headed in the right direction, usually.

It is with great sincerity and gratitude that I write this letter. However, there is also an air of sadness. For this letter marks the end of a triumphant journey. A journey which has been long, but embellished by what has been called by our elders, "The best time of our lives."

It began in September 1989. We entered the high school for the very first time. This was perhaps the most frightening portion of our journey. But through hard work, and the help of faithful friends we made it through unscathed.

Sophomore year was also a time of adjustment, for we were no longer the lowest rung on the high school ladder. In this year, we saw perhaps the biggest metamorphosis of all. We were no longer the children we once were, but beginning to think and act as adults. I believe our mentors have also named this process as "maturity." This marked the mid-way point of our quest. Junior year was perhaps the most brilliant year yet. Not only did we have to strive academically, but also socially. People became more involved in the school and the community around them, striving to make a difference. This was also the period when we witnessed the emergence of friendships that would last a lifetime. It was at this point that the end was in sight. So, we took a night off and celebrated our success thus far. We aptly named this the Junior Cotillion. And with great excitement, looked on to perhaps our biggest year of all, senior year. Senior year marked a time of great change, we experienced the retirement of Principal George Betses, and witnessed a new leader take the helm, Mr. Herbert Levine. We looked back fondly on all that we had accomplished, but realized we still had to look forward to all that was left to accomplish.

Now our Senior year is over. Our journey has ended. We have shaped into mature, self-motivated, and responsible adults. Along the way we have tasted the sweetness of victory and the bitterness of defeat. All of which has molded us into the people we are today.

I wish all the members of the Class of 1993 the best of luck in all their future endeavors. In closing, I would like to leave you with a quote from the great American humorist, Will Rogers. "There is no such thing as strangers, just friends you haven't met yet."

To the future,

Jeffrey P. Metivier

President
Class of 1993

The Class of 1993 reps love to just hang loose.

Stephanie, are you always on top of things?

These reps are all smiles about their hard work for the Class of 1993.

Our first steps through the halls of CHS were uncertain, feeble ones. We were hesitant and quiet, overwhelmed by our surroundings. We spent freshman year pretty much in hiding, staying as far out of the way as possible. By the time sophomore year came around we had adjusted to CHS and fully immersed ourselves in the many sports and activities our school had to offer. Junior year was incredible. Over the course of the year we matured as a class and became more aware of who we were. The end of the year brought us closer together, and walls broke down as we united for the very first time in Sherwood Forest.

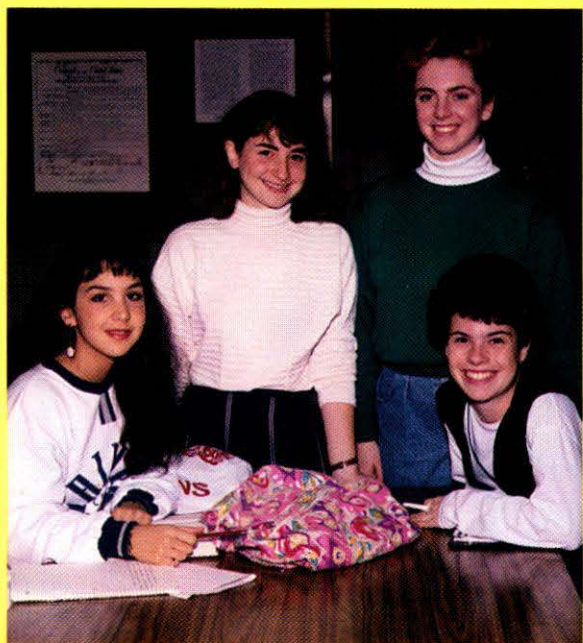

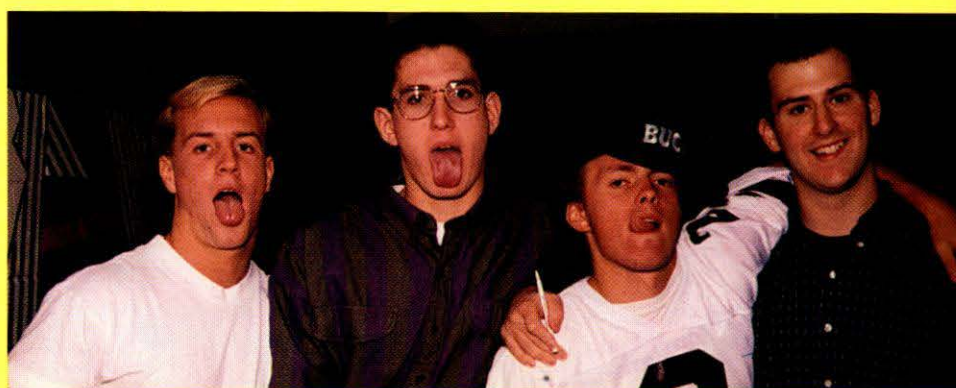

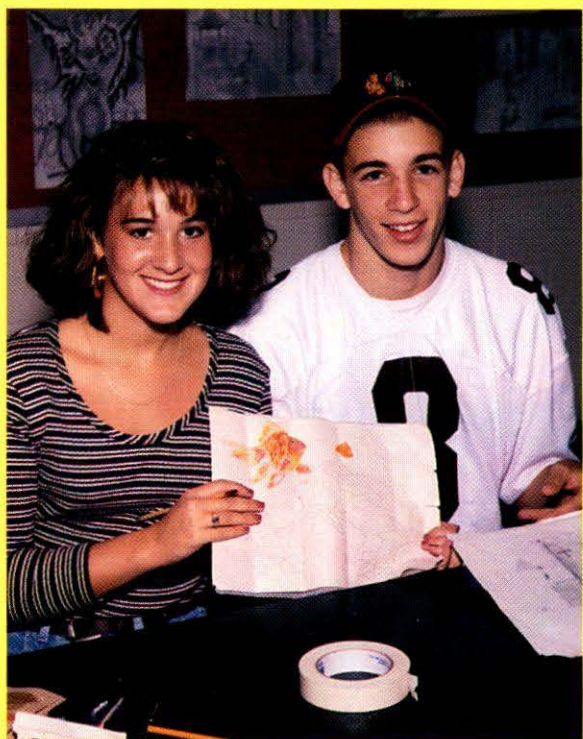

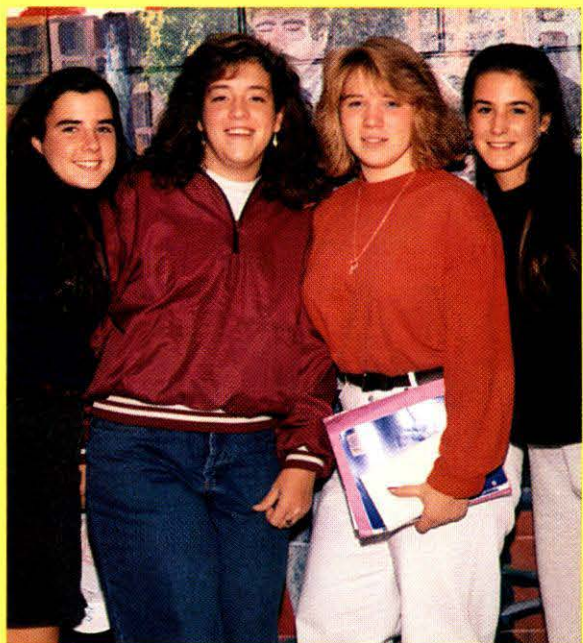

Suddenly we were the cream of the crop. The underclassmen looked to us for leadership and guidance. After these long years of waiting we were seniors. The Morp and Halloween Dance were among the best ever and the Holiday Dance was an enchanted evening not to be forgotten. But these four years could not have happened without the dedication of the Class Representatives, who labored countless hours for the Class of 1993.

Soon we began to hear of college acceptances and realized that this safe haven of tightly knit friends could not last forever. We gained more from these four years than we ever imagined possible. We part from one another in reluctance and sorrow, but also with joy in our hearts because we know that the friends and memories we have made at CHS will remain with us forever.

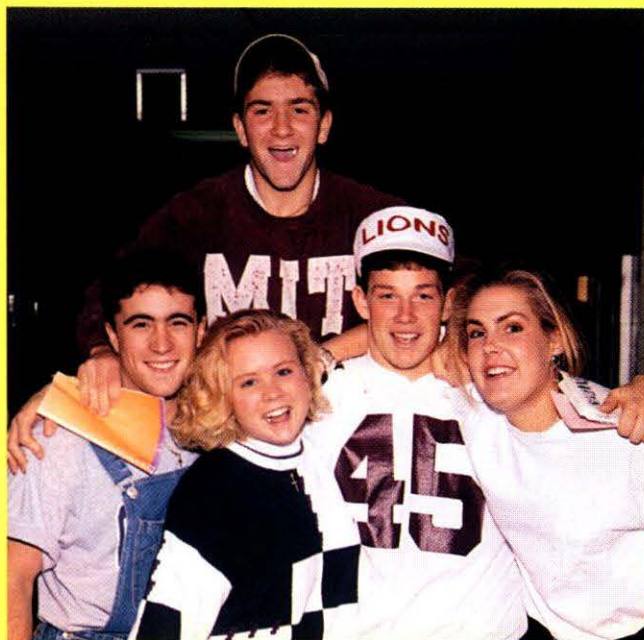

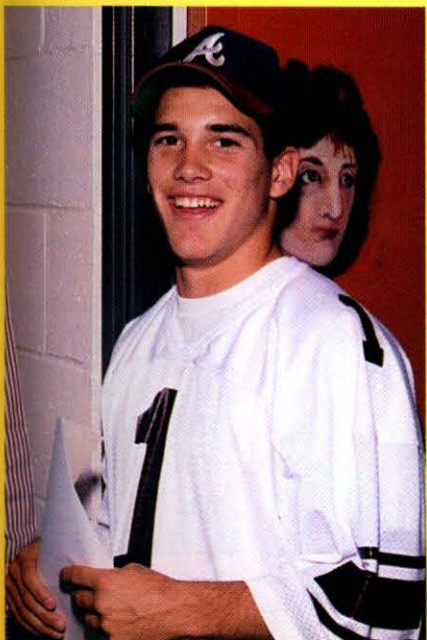

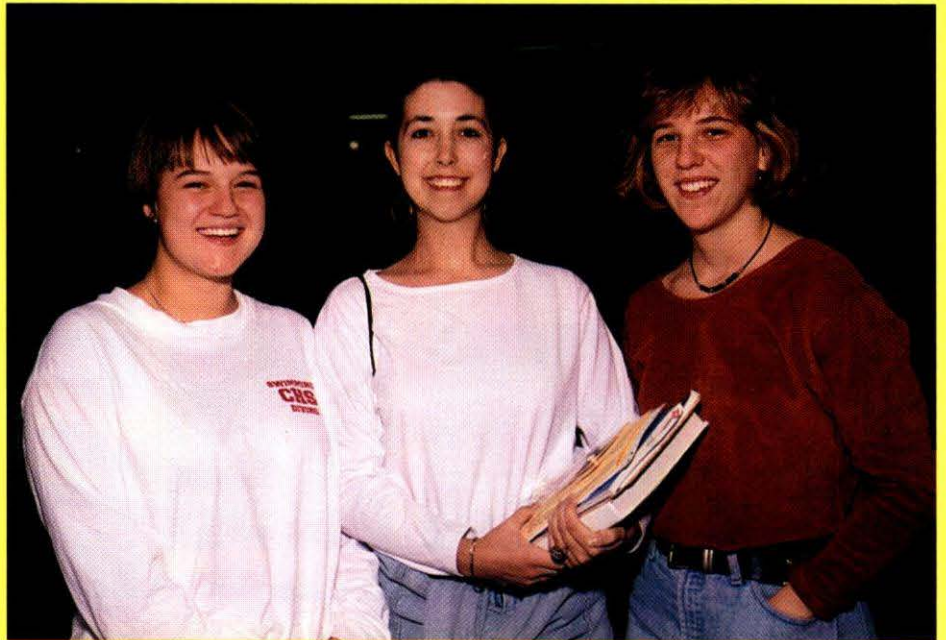

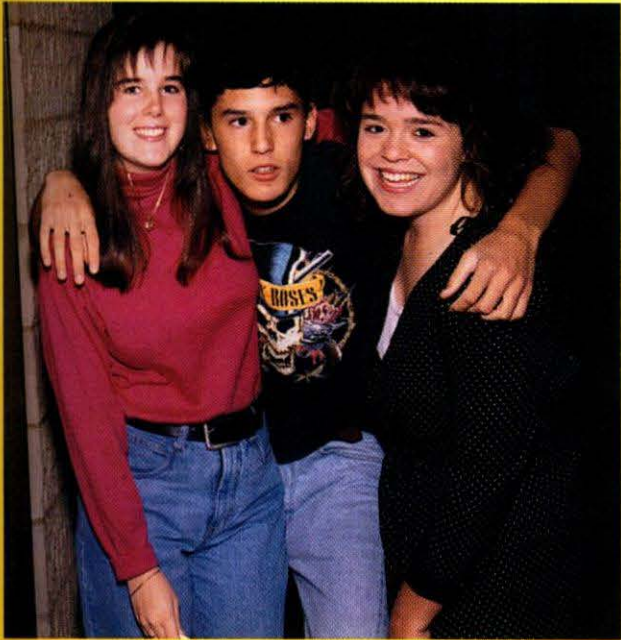

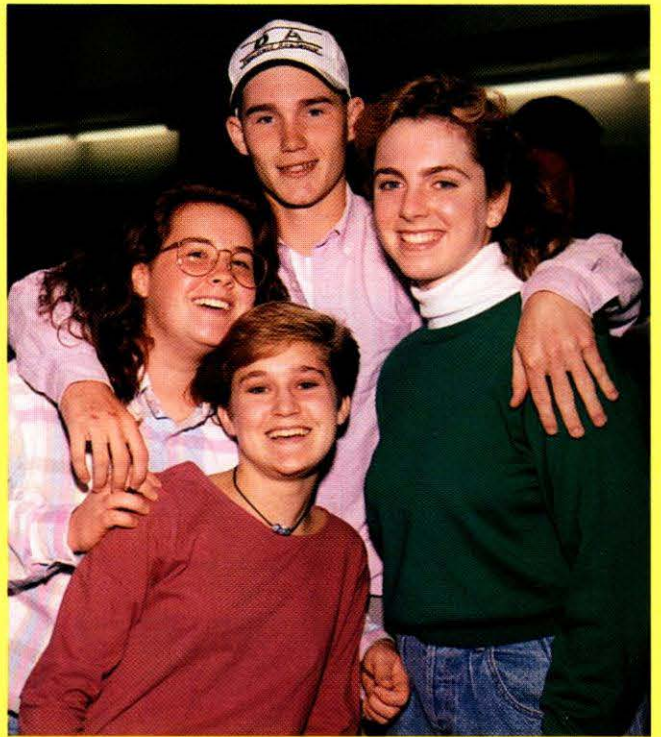

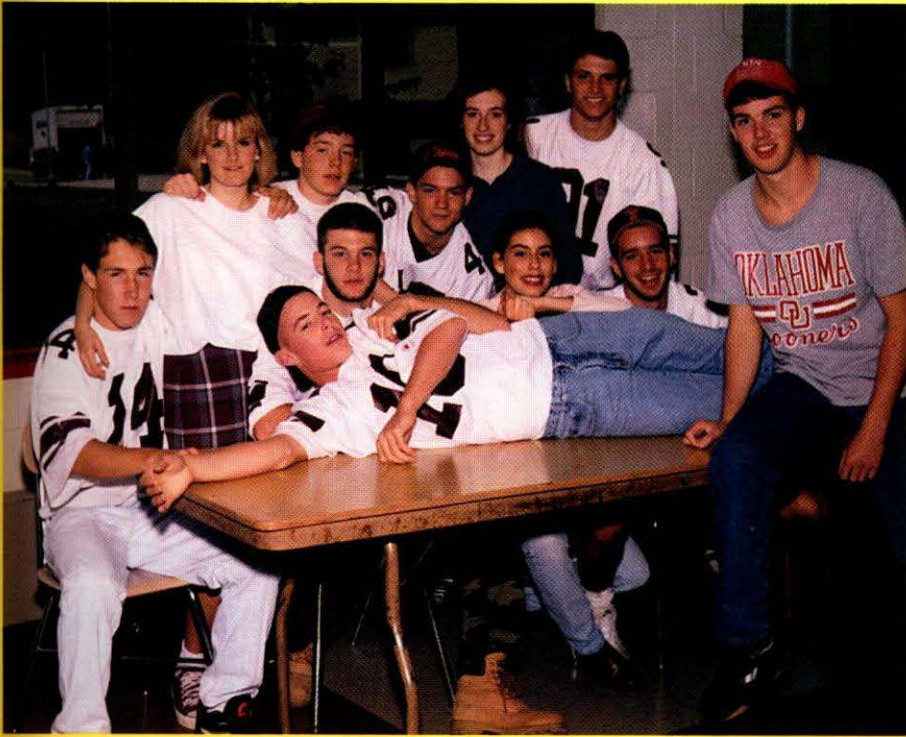

Michael Hass	Vice-President
Julie Mills	Treasurer
Leigh Johnson	Secretary

The Class of 1993 is unique and special in its own right, however there is one rarity that makes it stand out from all other classes at Chelmsford High School. The Class of 1993 has six sets of fraternal twins including girl-girl, boy-boy, and girl-boy combinations.

Many of us have often wondered what it would be like to have a twin. But for Pamela and Patrick Calnan, Stephanie and Michael Lowe, Marcella and Todd McDonald, Keith and Kenneth MacPhail, Amy and Beth Petro-Roy, and Meredith and Michael Yauckoes it's a part of life. All their lives they have shared everything from matching outfits as kids, to the all important car as adolescents.

Now that their secondary education is almost complete, this phase of their lives draws quickly to the end. New and exciting challenges await them after graduation. Although they may go their separate ways, their memories of the great times they shared at Chelmsford High School will never be forgotten.

Dedicated To . . . Mr. George Pollard

For the past eight years Mr. George Pollard has been a mathematics teacher at Chelmsford High School. Each of those years has been spent as a class advisor, first for the class of 1989 then the class of 1993. He has been with our class since the first day we set foot in Chelmsford High School four years ago, guiding and encouraging us every step of the way. His contributions to the class of 1993 are countless. Our fundraisers and social events were great successes because of his tremendous efforts.

In addition to his teaching duties, Mr. Pollard not only is our class advisor but is also a hard working member of the PTO, serving this year as their secretary. With an endless supply of energy, he also finds time to be an assistant Cub Scout Den Leader and coach in a recreational basketball league.

When Mr. Pollard agreed four years ago to be the 1993 class advisor, he had no idea what was in store for him, but his patience and care have carried us through the years. You are an inspiration to us all, Mr. Pollard, and that is why this yearbook is dedicated to you.

Seniors

All rise, court is now in session. The honorable class of 1993 presiding . . . finally.

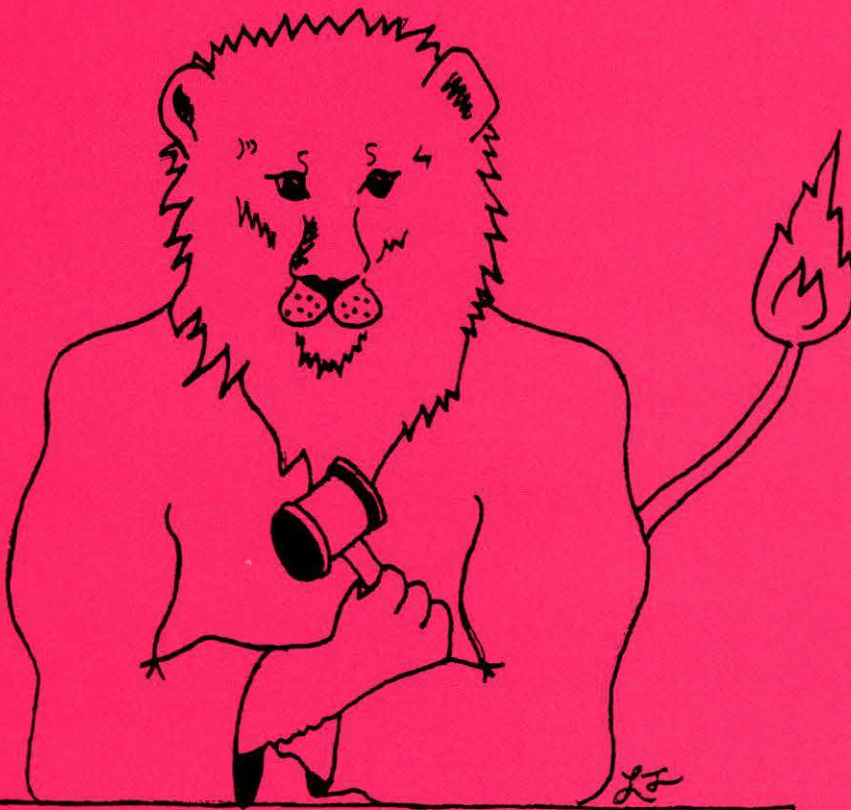

It seems like forever since we started working our way up the ladder of the court system at Chelmsford High School. We began as stenographers, learning the ways of the courts, doing as we were told, hoping to get ahead.

Our hard work and perseverance paid off. We moved up the following year to bailiffs. Not the most prestigious of positions, but still a rung up on the ladder. We had the tiniest bit of power in running the court, which is more than we could say before.

In our third year in the system, we made the big jump from bailiffs to attorneys. We found ourselves laden with more responsibility and more paperwork than we could handle.

This year we reentered the halls of justice as judges. The gavel had been passed to us. We served as advisors to the lower court officers, guiding them with our knowledge and wisdom whenever called upon. We presided over the court with authority and dignity.

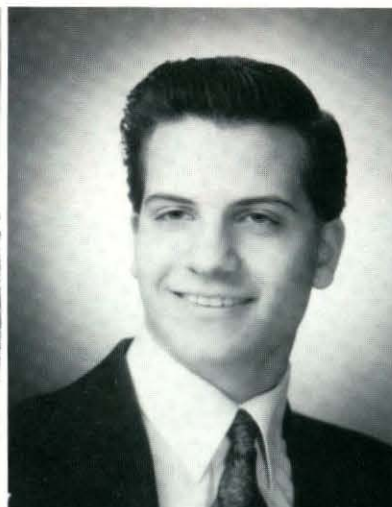

Graduation will mark our retirement from the Chelmsford High School Court and entrance into a higher court. Our experiences here have helped us to prepare for the challenges that lie ahead. Through hard work we have learned many things and overcome many obstacles, remembering that with confidence and knowledge, anything is possible.

Magazine Drive

The senior class held its largest fundraiser in October of 1992. This was the Magazine Drive, in which the seniors were asked to sell subscriptions. The senior class received 40% of the total profits, totaling about $13,000. This helps to defray the cost of various senior class activities.

Many different prizes gave seniors the incentive to participate in this very successful fundraiser!

Class President Jeffrey Metivier and Class Rep Brent Popolizio show their excitement for the drive.

These girls are all smiles about this fundraiser.

Blood Mobile

On October 16, 1992, the Red Cross Blood Mobile visited Chelmsford High School. From the first bell in the morning to the last bell of the day, Red Cross volunteers, as well as student volunteers, worked hard to collect blood. Eighty-five pints of blood were donated by students, faculty, and staff. Donors gave the gift of life to those who need blood, and the Red Cross was grateful to Chelmsford High for sponsoring the Blood Drive.

Friends provided company to the donors while their blood was being taken.

Establishing A New Tradition

CHS's First Homecoming

This year the 1993 Class Representatives were bursting with new and exciting ideas. With the help of class advisors Mrs. Bickel and Mr. Pollard, the reps organized a series of events scheduled during the week prior to Thanksgiving. Although two of the activities, the Powderpuff Football Game and the Sandhill Bonfire, were cancelled due to rain, the first annual Homecoming Dance went on as planned.

More people turned out than expected to watch the coronation of the Chelmsford High School's first Homecoming Queen. After the votes were tallied, senior Leigh Johnson was crowned CHS's Homecoming Queen. Members of her court included senior Karen Barbera, junior Kerry McDonald, sophomore Ellen McCabe, and freshman Laurie McCormick.

All in all the dance was a huge success, raising large sums of cash for the Class of 1993. Hopefully the Homecoming Dance will become one of the many wonderful traditions at Chelmsford High School.

Kari and Scott are too cute for words.

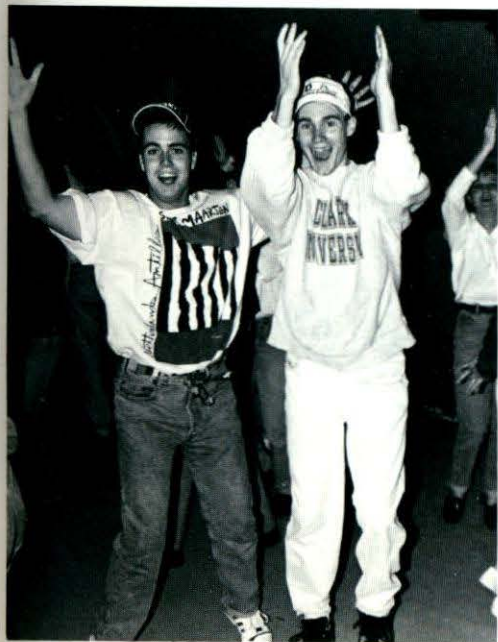

Really, Mrs. Bickel, I've already paid.

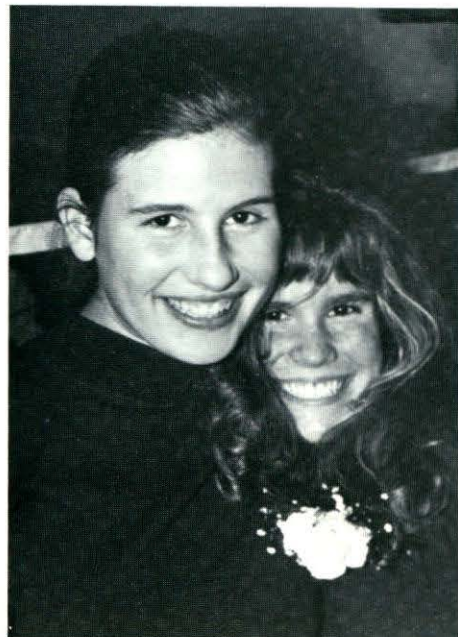

Tricia, Jen, Ann, and Jasmine love CHS, where the party never ends!

Alix and Kerry are two of a kind!

Matt and Pat are jumping for joy!

Karen and Leigh are the first, and the prettiest senior queens.

Oh, What A Night . . .

Oh, what a night it was. Chelmsford High School was the scene of the annual holiday dance . . . Take Two! Originally scheduled for December 12, 1992, an untimely snowstorm pushed the festivities forward a week. By the time December 19 arrived, everyone was beginning to glow with holiday spirit.

Upon entering the "ballroom" one could see a sleigh full of presents, a decorated tree, and a recreated Nutcracker scene, whose glow turned into a blazing fire. The night was filled with excitement, especially when it came time for the royal coronations. Moments after Ryan Hirt and Christine Villeneuve had the crowns securely on their heads, they led the way in the royal dance.

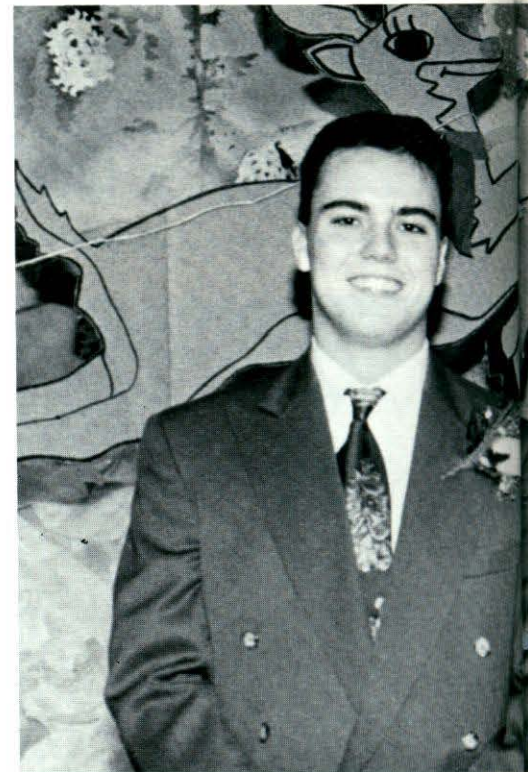

As the night wound down, the last song played and the good-byes said, people were seen strolling down the front walk hand-in-hand. The memories beginning to fill their minds and warm their hearts.

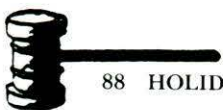

Mrs. Bickel puts the finishing touches on Frosty.

King and Queen, Ryan Hirt and Christine Villeneuve are joined by two royal subjects, Tracy Normandin and Dan Johnson.

What A Very Special Time For Me . . .

Michelle McLaughlin, Craig Thompson, Tom Reynolds and Nicole Grasso warm themselves by the fire.

Mark Boroyon and Kerry Ducharme stop to refuel.

Mark, what do you do when both Amy and Barbara want to dance with you at the same time?

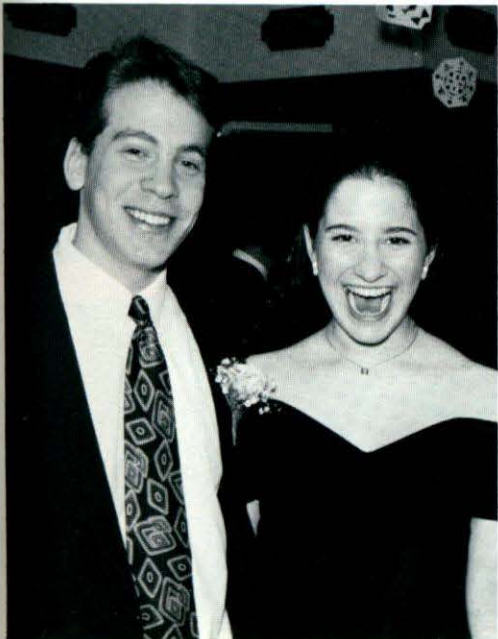

Sandra Wharton seems very happy to be with Mr. Heartthrob.

Burke Driscoll says, "Hey, wanna dance?"

J.J., Greg, Felipe and Pam show that they really know how to have a good time.

Jen Block, don't scream! The music isn't that bad.

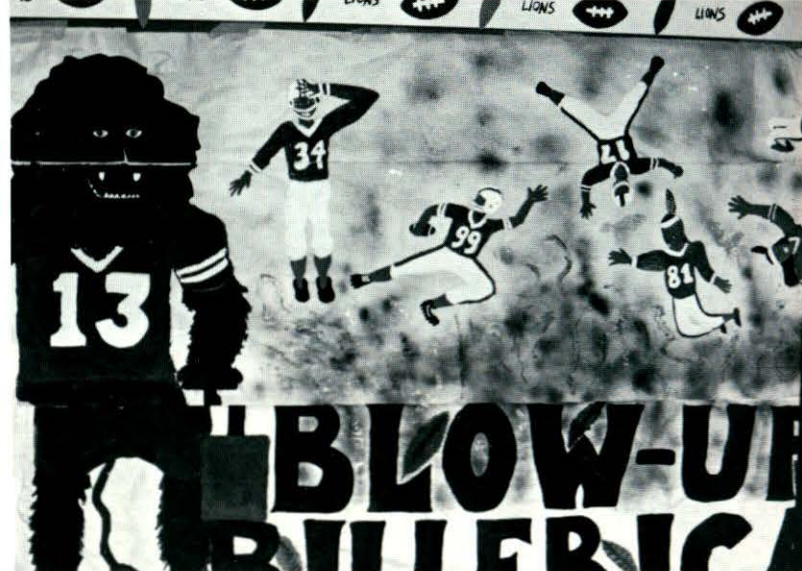

Mr. Conrad is quite the lucky guy . . . Julie Meidell on one arm and Megan Toohey on the other.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

Attorneys

Juniors

The Junior Class of 1994 has "passed the BAR" achieving an esteemed position as attorneys in the Chelmsford High court system. Although they still have a ways to go to achieve their goal of attaining the high ranked position of the Judges, they are working hard to move up the ladder. This class has set standards for future classes and worked hard with extreme determination to achieve their best. They have set high goals and all obstacles will be overcome.

With three years of experience behind them, the class serves as a helping hand to the underclassmen. As attorneys, the Juniors provide advice and discipline for the Sophomores and the Freshmen. As new members to the school, the underclassmen often need counsel; the Juniors serve as an example of what the underclassmen need to go through to reach what they so deserve.

The class of 1994 also knows how to work with the system instead of against it. When they first became a part of this school they were timid, shy and new to the Court System at CHS. As they matured and became comfortable with the way things worked they began to work for themselves. They knew which jurors to avoid, and which classes to attend.

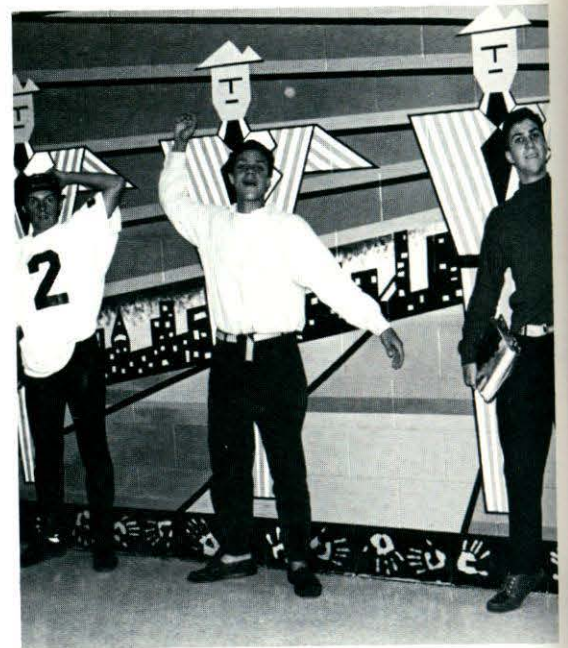

The class of 1994 has proven their determination to be graciously rewarded. Thanks to the honor that they have received, this class has set an example of what following classes will strive to achieve. They are a milestone to the upcoming classes, how to be the best and how to get the best.

Bailiffs

Sophomores

The sophomore class of 1995 clings to their position as bailiffs in the court system. They have worked hard to show their "strengths" and use their abilities to bring order to the court. The bailiffs always want what is best for themselves (and everyone around them). They think that they are always right during their days in court (school). The sophomores know the basic rules that they are to hold in the court, but have much to work up the judicial ladder. They dominate over the freshmen stenographers in the court system as they do in the school system. But this position is rather low in the overall system of the court. The bailiffs have nothing to lose and room to grow in bringing themselves into the court. Although they are also favored over the freshmen, the sophomores are not as respected as their superior attorneys and judges are. They do keep control and order in the courts. The bailiffs take their position in stride, learning and working their way through the court system, waiting to become wise judges.

Stenographers

Freshmen

The freshmen class of 1996 fits into the scheme of our court system as stenographers. As they enter the school, the freshmen don't know what to expect and how to handle their position. They have a talent for being attentive to what is going on. As they become more comfortable with being stenographers, they learn to write down what is said and done. The freshmen, being young and unconditioned to the way the system works, are eager to conform. The freshmen stenographers are the lowest position in our court, and they look up with awe to their superiors — the bailiffs, attorneys and judges.

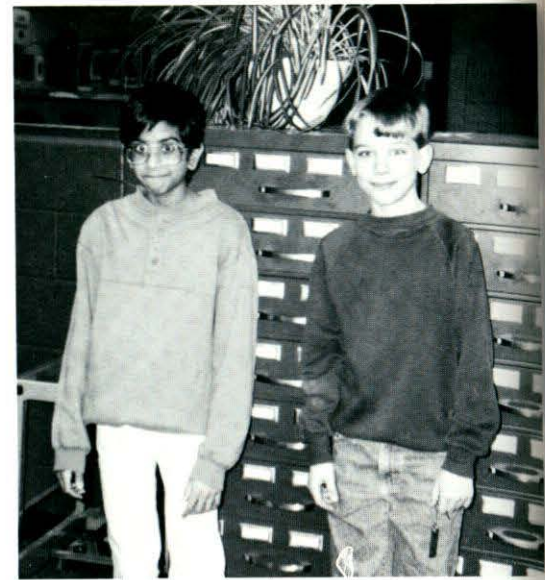

Although the freshmen have a low position, they are a vital counterpart to the system. The freshmen, begin the most naive class, keep truthful and accurate records of what goes on in school. But the freshmen will not be stenographers forever. They will gain more knowledge and seniority through the years, and will eventually be promoted to the higher and more prestigious positions in the court we call Chelmsford High.

JURORS

FACULTY

Throughout time, the goal of the jury has been "to inquire into any matter of fact and to give their verdict according to the evidence"; in other words, to discover the truth in all that they encounter. This pursuit of the truth has also been deemed the role of the Chelmsford High School staff.

Just as when a jury is sworn in, when one accepts a position on the Chelmsford High School faculty one becomes devoted not only to the daily tasks that one's job entails but also to the discovery and development of the true characters of the students. Each and every member of the faculty has the inherent ability to see the good and the bad in each of the students.

Their devotion to the development of the students' characters is in no better way displayed than through the faculty's involvement in Chelmsford High's extracurricular activities and athletic department. The faculty shows a genuine interest in every aspect of our lives by being counselors, advisors, coaches, and friends, as well as educators.

A trial by jury is considered by the United States of America to be an unalienable right, as in an education. It was our job as students to make the best of this great opportunity. We, the students of CHS, would like to offer our sincere gratitude to the staff for making our time at Chelmsford High School the most productive, enlightening, and unforgettable one it could be.

TEACHERS

"Hi, Mrs. Mamalis!"

"I consider myself incredibly fortunate to be teaching at Chelmsford High School. It is a job I thoroughly enjoy for many reasons . . . the subject, mathematics, is fascinating; the colleagues that I work with are some of the most dedicated and supportive people I know; and of course, the students at Chelmsford High . . . they're great!"

Barry Ware, mathematics

"I truly enjoy teaching marketing as it is creative, dynamic and encompasses a multi-dimensional approach which makes it fun and exciting as well as applicable to all students desiring practical arts knowledge as well as business and personal use knowledge. It is most rewarding to see your students excel, enhance their self-esteem, and get involved in projects . . . beyond the classroom . . . a special bond exists as you work with your students . . ."

Beverly Conway, business

"It's the average kid who sees the light. You do one thing, and they understand a process. It makes it all worthwhile."

Richard Olson, mathematics

"There she is, Mrs. America . . ."

"Karen, Yale will love this nomination for weirdest sense of humor."

"If the goal of education is to prepare students for life's challenges, then English language instruction, with its emphasis on human interaction, is not only a means to achieve that goal, but an end in itself."

John A. Kamal, English

Susan Christman, social sciences

"So you want this transcript right now?"

"It just makes my day to look out and see the enlightenment in a student's face when they understood what the author is trying to communicate."

Carol Marcotte, English

"Mrs. Toney, we really want your picture for the yearbook!"

"Libraries provide the freedom to learn, to explore ideas, and to gather information, as well as the freedom to work independently or to communicate with others. The Library is a place in which everybody in the school is welcome to come — students, faculty and staff."

EVIDENCE

SPORTS

"Do you swear to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth?" Just as it is essential for the witness to give one hundred percent of themselves on the stand, Chelmsford High athletes must give one hundred percent of themselves on the playing field. As the year comes to a close, the evidence proves that through a combination of dedication and hard work the Chelmsford Athletics program has produced a year of stunning victories, personal and team achievements, and wonderful memories that will never be forgotten.

When putting together a case, the lawyers must choose the witnesses who can best withstand the pressures of the witness stand and best support their case. Coaches face the same responsibility in choosing superb athletes to represent Chelmsford High School. The athletes must demonstrate more than just athletic ability, they must also exhibit a positive attitude, willingness to work hard, potential for improvement, and leadership qualities.

As any of the athletes would tell you, the Chelmsford High athletics program demands hard work and sacrifice, but what we have to gain and learn in return is immeasurable. Coaches and teammates teach us about discipline and pushing limits to achieve our best and then do even better. We learn that although you cannot always score the most points or be the fastest, you always "win" when you do your personal best. These lessons are valuable throughout our lives as well as in athletic competition. The CHS athletes and coaches have produced many memorable victories that will never be forgotten. WHERE WERE YOU WHEN . . .

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY

A Winning Season

Once again the Boys Cross Country team has had a great season. Despite a heartbreaking loss to arch rival Lowell early in the season the team went on to finish the season successfully. With their dedication, competitiveness, and teamwork the cross country team outscored Lowell every other time the two teams met. Their season of hard work paid off when the team won the Northern Area Championship, placed third in the Eastern Massachusetts finals, and ninth at All States despite the loss of several key runners due to injuries.

Coaches Durkin and Christman are proud of how consistently their team performed throughout the dual meet season. Team standouts include seniors Owen Evans, James Mayol, and Scott Klayner, Junior Robert Therrien, and sophomore Steve Mayol. Owen Evans had an outstanding season, breaking the school record and consistently placing first for Chelmsford, until he was sidelined late in the season by an injury. However Owens was awarded the Most Valuable Team Member award. Scott Klayner was recognized with the Team Most Improved Award.

The season will long be remembered as a winning experience.

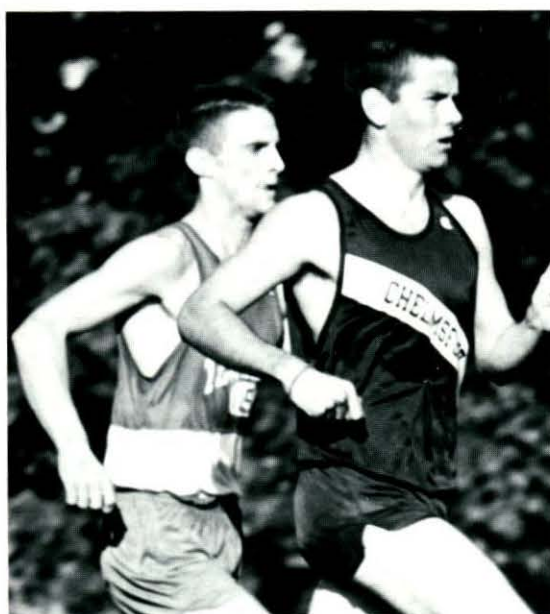

Juniors Charlie Schramm and Mike Marchand give it their all to catch the competition from Haverhill.

Senior James Mayol is determined to be the best he possibly can be.

Captain Scott Klayner is such a happy runner.

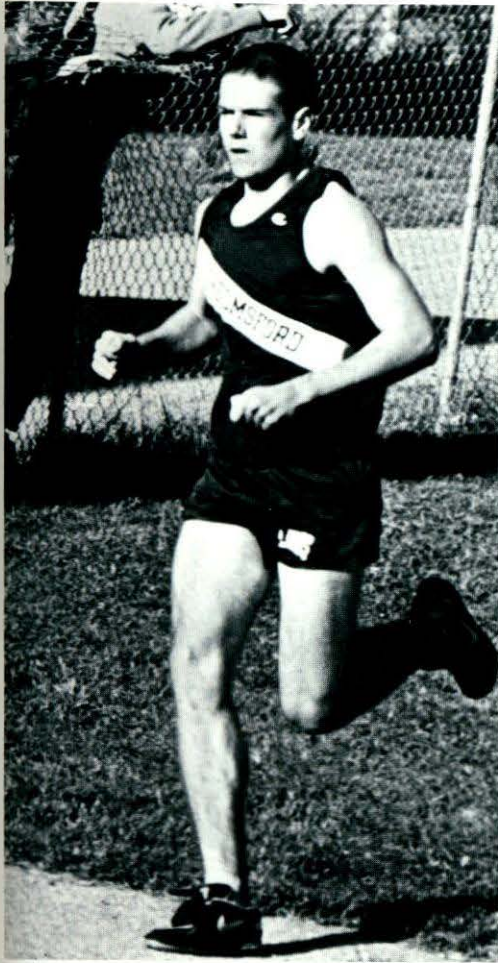

Captain Owen Evans, A.K.A. Dick Hatfield, beats off the last of Tewksbury's competition.

"I'll take it! I'll take it!" said the sophomore Matt Metivier.

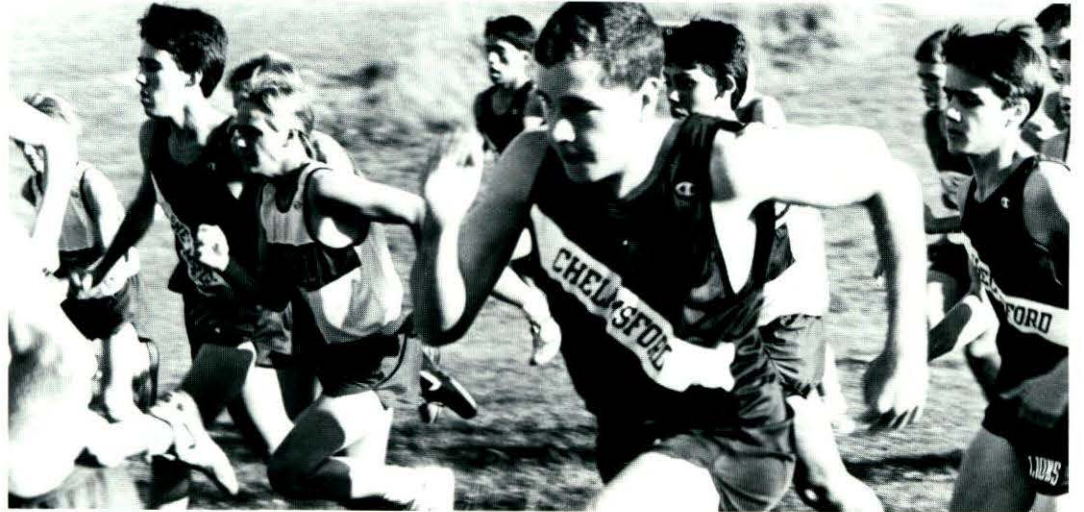

Chelmsford's #1 long distance runner, Owen Evans, is once again untouchable at the head of the pack.

Rob Therrien breaks away from the pack due to the fact that he doesn't like the group thing one bit.

GIRLS' CROSS COUNTRY

OVER THE HILLS AND THROUGH THE WOODS . . .

The girls' cross country team ran their way through an exciting season with a tri-meet and came out even with a win over Methuen and a loss against Lowell. The girls ram themselves into a rut and lost a couple of meets, but of course this could not keep the Lady Lions down.

The girls moved on to bigger and better things by producing victories against Dracut, Billerica, and Lawrence. Chelmsford, led by captains Karen Barbera and Danielle Bartholomew, went on to host the MVC meet for the first time ever. The girls' cross country team placed third overall. They avenged two earlier losses that they had earlier in the season.

The team went on to compete in states and finished seventh overall — doing better than expected. Stacey Keane was the only member of the team to compete in all-states, and she finished fourth. Although the team did not qualify for all-states, they improved greatly over the season and got to know each other well during their long practice runs.

As usual, Chelmsford is off to an outstanding start.

Senior Kim Phillips gave it her all in every race.

ARE YOU UP?

There was a new found enthusiasm that surrounded this year's varsity field hockey team. This feeling was brought on by the team's new head coach, Laura Caito. Although the Lady Lions (6-7-5) struggled to put the ball in the net, the defense proved to be strong — allowing the opposing team to score an average of less than one goal per game. The solid defense was led by senior goalkeeper, Deb Heroux with great support from senior captains, Courtney Finnegan and Lisa Legrand. The captains worked hard all season encouraging the team through good and bad times.

Meredith Yauckoes, Carrie Sougnez, and Amy Landry made strong contributions to the defense. In late season action the defense played two of the best games of their career against their always tough rivals, Wilmington and Tyngsboro. Junior captain, Holly Eng along with seniors Karen Flynn, Jill Bernard, and Eileen Marinella consistently displayed their strong support in the midfield throughout the season. The team would not be complete without senior offensive standouts, Stacey McEnaney, Marci McDonald, Nic Roy, and Amy De-Saulnier.

This year proved to be a season of stunning victories as well as disappointing defeats, but the future looks brighter. Juniors Holly Eng, Heather Mahon, Kerry MacDonald, Deb Wood, and sophomore Lauri Nowlan as well as members of an undefeated JV team will return to help rebuild the struggling program. Hard work, determination, and team unity will hopefully bring these girls to a long overdue tournament berth.

BACK TO BACK CHAMPS

After a disappointing 1-3 start, nobody thought that the 1993 Lions had a chance at the MVC championship . . . they were wrong.

The Lions, led by captains Kevin Conley, Jack Durkin, Eric Kelly, Mike McGoldrick, and Doug Rideout, won their last seven games and the MVC Championship. The Lions, known usually as a defensive team, were a powerful offensive unit. With a strong offensive line and an explosive backfield, the Lions were the second highest scoring team in the MVC. The defense, which got off to a slow start, kicked in during the Lions' seven game winning stretch. The defense shut down high caliber offensive teams like Andover and Billerica.

The 1992-93 Senior Lions would like to thank the coaching staff, especially Coach Caito, for all of their hard work and dedication. Special thanks goes to Coach Thomas for Greg Amiro and Chris Phair.

GOLF

MORE THAN JUST PUTTING ALONG

Besides being the "best dressed" team at Chelmsford High School, the 1992 golf team also had the best record in the history of CHS golf. The team experienced the thrill of fifteen victories and suffered a mere one loss. Of course, this loss could not keep the Chelmsford golf team down.

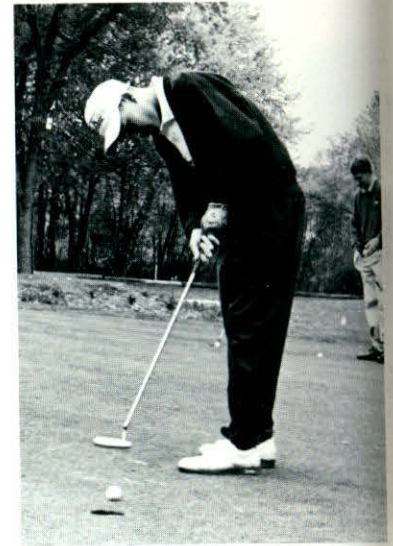

The team went on to compete in the state championships led by seniors Pat Coit, Greg Federico, Matt Ireland, Jeff Woolard, and Jeff Waber. This was no surprise to the team, however. As Pat Coit said, "I just knew that we would qualify for states." Not only did they qualify, but they won the Division I North Team title. The team's adrenaline was raised by their loss to Methuen earlier in the season and they crushed them by 13 strokes in the states.

It was an extremely productive season for the golf team as a whole. It was a well balanced team and every player had the ability to shoot an even par. Junior, Steve Capone however, was the only player to get a hole in one. Much of the team's success was due to the fact that they worked together and thought as a team on and off the green.

Several Chelmsford golfers were selected to be a part of the MVC all-star team. Greg Federico and Jackie Holmes were named to the All-conference team, and Jeff Waber and Adam Tramonte were named to the all-stars. Much of the credit is due to Coach Jim Moriarty, who has been named Coach of the Year for two years in a row. As the players put it, "We had good feelings about the season from day one."

While no one is looking, Adam and Steve try to help their team's score.

Matt caps off another beautiful drive.

BOYS' SOCCER

CHARGIN'

The boys' soccer team committed themselves year round in preparation for the 1992 comeback season. High expectations were set by Coach Scott Thomas and the team. These expectations included winning the conference and going on to the state tournament.

Lead by senior captains Sean Gilleland, Chris McNeany, and Beau Lamontagne, the team contended and "charged" with every opposition they played against. Josh Downing, George Mihailidis, and Mark Scipione lead the offense, while the powerful defensive force of goaltender Robin Lennox, and his fullbacks made it extremely hard for a team to put the ball in his net. The CHS team, however, had a difficult time scoring, and as the season went on the players questioned their chances of reaching the expectations they had set. The goals of the season were readjusted, and the Lions showed great character and pride as they went on to win five of their last seven games, including a revengeful win against Billerica, whom they previously lost to in a score of 2-1.

There was one goal that was definitely reached; it was comradery. These guys became extremely close to each other and a team effort was made on and off the field. Although the season was somewhat of a disappointment, when one recalls "Captain Munroe" at the chalkboard, Rich Bachini's drive to please Coach, or "Lopez," the season is a little easier to take. The boys also appreciated the loyal support of their fans, especially the few on the other side of the field. The future looks bright for this team, which has rising stars such as Mike Maloney, Chad Fay, Matt Brown, and Kevin Beaudoin who should fill the void for the next season.

GIRLS' SOCCER

MORE THAN JUST A TEAM

The girls' varsity soccer team began the season as the underdogs this year, with only five returning seniors and little varsity experience. Things did not get much better for them as the season progressed, either. Under the leadership of tri-captains Kristin McCarthy, Melissa Mingoelli, and Leigh Johnson the team ended the season with a dismal 2-14-2 record.

There was a lot of talent on the team, even though the record does not reflect it. Although this talent never fully displayed itself over the course of the season, some very positive things did shine through. The feeling of comraderie on the team was stronger than anything the girls had ever before experienced. Everyone supported each other on and off the field; at times during the season when everyone else seemed to have given up on them, it was the girls who kept themselves and each other going. Mr. Rondina's undying faith in the team added an extra boost as well.

Although this season was not a high scoring one, it was definitely a winning experience for the entire team. No one ever gave up; the girls gave their all every second of every game. As a result, they grew as a team, as soccer players, and as individuals. Through it all, the good definitely outweighed the bad. Although the season was disappointing in some aspects, it will be a positive memory instead of a negative one because the girls know that the memories and friends they made over the course of the season will stay with them forever.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

A Winning Spirit

The CHS girls Swimming and Diving Team had a great season. The dedication and spirit of all the team members came together to produce a season full of victories, excitement, and fun.

The team, coached by Allen Thomas and Pat Peterson, finished with a record of 9-2 overall and 8-1 in the Merrimack Valley. Despite a loss early in the season to Haverhill, the team did not lower their expectations for themselves. They continued to work hard and as the end of the season approached, the girls knew that they were ready for any challenges that lay ahead.

The final duel meet of the season against traditional rival Lowell High had everyone in high spirits. The Lady Lions proved that a season of hard work and determination paid off as they outswam the Raiders by thirty-six points. The next week the swimmers and divers competed in the MVC Championship Meet which all teams attended. Led by record breaking swimmers Kelly Gouldson and Clewis Kinnet, everyone swam well and Chelmsford placed first in the meet.

The swimmers all agreed that the positive spirit and closeness of the team had a lot to do with their success. Seniors Beth Petro-Roy, Steph Lowe, Betsy Cushing, Sarah Knowles, Katie Totten, Rachel Goldman, and Captains Heather Donahue and Marybeth Feeney will always have great memories from their last high school season.

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL

Unexpected Victories

Despite the shining records of previous years teams, no one was quite sure what to expect of the Girls Volleyball Team. With the loss of several key seniors last year it looked like this year might have been a building year. However the team outperformed everyone's expectations for them. After disappointing losses early in the season the team went on to improve tremendously under the coaching of Dana Filjippo and Michelle Pouliot. Even then some would be surprised by how good this team would become.

The girls conquered long-standing rival Dracut in their opponents home court and then went on to become the Large School Champions. Senior Co-Captain Lynn Ericson attributes the team's great success on the combined strength and teamwork of the entire starting line, saying that, "everyone counted." The strength and depth of the team was recognized when two members were named All Conference Players and three were chosen as All Stars. The close team spirit of the Girls Volleyball Team and the support of their dedicated fans also no doubt contributed to the outstanding season.

With many players on the starting line returning next year the future looks as promising for the 1993 Girls Volleyball team! Good Luck!

Majorettes and Color Guard

The Halftime Show

The majorettes and Color Guard performed rain or shine during every halftime show throughout this exciting season. They twirled batons, rifles, flags, and even fire. The girls kept the crowd's enthusiasm and spirit high during halftime.

The majorettes practiced everyday under the leadership of captains Brettney Bevington and Kendra Nolet and Coach Maureen Dunn. They know their hard work has payed off when the difficult and complicated routines look effortless. The majorettes were also rewarded for their long hours of practice with a second place finish in state competition. The Color Guard is led by seniors Nancy Keely, Julie MacFarland, and Cristina George. Both squads performed in the Memorial Day and Fourth of July parades.

Cheerleading

School Spirit

It's hard to imagine sports at Chelmsford High without the supportive fans that have become so important to the athletes. From VCAing lockers to cheering at games fans make the sports more fun and victory seem more reachable. And who are the most loyal fans of all? The cheerleaders, of course!

Led by Captains Lynn Zebroski and Erica Gaudett in the fall, and seniors Jen McCrarrren, Jen Ferron, Lynn Zebroski, Jen Conradt, Mitzi McGee, and Tania Stachowicz in the winter, the cheerleaders practice everyday. They are dedicated to perfecting their routines, pyramids, and dances for the big games. They emphasize that cheerleading is hard work and that it takes alot of practice to make their routines look as effortless as they do. Both the basketball and football players appreciate the support and enthusiasm the cheerleaders provide.

It takes a lot of practice to make pyramids look this easy. The cheerleaders practice for several hours every day.

BOYS BASKETBALL

A Slammin' Season

This year's boys basketball season was marked by overachievement and determination. The 1993 Lions basketball team was picked to finish last in the Merrimack Valley Conference. The team was thought not to be very competitive; but then proved everyone wrong.

First year coach Charlie Micol was determined to build a high quality, competitive team and he succeeded. The team played each game with intensity and heart; they never gave up and played with the confidence that they could win every game. This was demonstrated most accurately in a heart breaking double overtime loss to first place Andover.

Though Chelmsford really tried hard, things just did not go their way most of the season. Their 7-14 overall record does not accurately reflect their abilities. The Lions were led by captains Mike Scully and Sean Gilleland. Other players that displayed leadership were seniors Greg Federico, Ken LaFlamme, and Dan Maguire. Another hard-working senior, Luis Duarte, illustrated dedication and commitment during practice.

The juniors show great promise for the future with excellent play from John Myers, Ryan Murphy, Rich White, Brian McHale, Greg Kay, Tim McMaster, and Paul Barton. The coming years will bring even more success for Charlie Micol and his ever improving Lions basketball team.

YEAR OF IMPROVEMENT

Though the final record of the '93 Lady Lions Basketball Team was not the best in the MVC, they had an extremely successful season. Considered to be a little threat in the preseason analysis, the Lady Lions turned some heads with their inspired play and finished with a respectable record of 11-9. Led by co-captains Lynne Erickson and Leigh Johnson, these seniors were joined by classmates Eileen Marinella, Lauren Quattrocchi, Jen Clark, and Meredith Yauckoes. Juniors Jen Oliver, Jess Downing, Traci Boyd, and sophomores Tricia Metz, Jen Mumby, and Emily Kluga rounded out the lineup as well. Even though Jess Downing was unfortunately sidelined early in the season due to mono, her unending support was greatly appreciated.

Lynne Erickson was usually the driving force for the Lady Lions, but everyone on the team contributed a great deal. The Lady Lions put their all into every second of every game, and were unceasing in their efforts to improve. By the end of the season they were battling it out with top MVC teams and even defeated Andover, to whom they had previously lost. Through it all the Lady Lions stuck together and kept a winning attitude. The coaching of Nancy Williams was superb. She remained supportive through wins and losses, always encouraging her team to do their best. She unfortunately will not be returning next year and her coaching will be a hard act to follow.

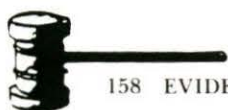

Senior Eileen Marinella helped lead the team throughout the season.

A Building Year

The CHS gymnastics team started off the season with a bang, winning the first three duel meets. Unfortunately, as the competition began to heat up towards the end of the season they were less successful and finished the season with a 3-7 record.

Although this season held a big disappointment with the team not qualifying for sectionals for the first time in several years, it was not without some bright spots. Six individuals, Becky Harris, Deanna Hovey, Michelle Martel, Amy Lemaire, Danielle Ferry, and Robin Johnson, qualified for the MVC meet, at which the team posted a fifth place finish. Junior standout, Becky Harris, who was the team high scorer, qualified individually for sectionals.

This is a team with a bright future ahead. With eight freshman joining the team, this was a year for improvement and getting to know each other. Great accomplishments can be expected for this team in the future.

SETTING GOALS FOR A WINNING TEAM

The 1993 Chelmsford High hockey team, led by captains Chris Stagnone (senior) and Bill Riley (junior), finished its season at 10-5-3. This is a remarkable record considering the team was young this year, with only three seniors — Chris Stagnone, Chris Pajak, and Todd McDonald.

The team consisted of one of the youngest defensive lines in the league including four sophomores — Terrence McCrensky, Rick Sacchetti, Steve DeMoulied, and Brad Robeck. This solid defense was able to play consistently well knowing that they were being backed up by either of the two junior goaltenders, Matt Stanton or Kirk Bishop.

This year the CHS hockey team had several players selected to be a part of the all-star team. These players included Chris Stagnone, Bill Riley, Adam Tramonte, Kirk Bishop, and Steve MacKinnon. MacKinnon was Chelmsford's leading scorer through the course of the season. He proved to be a versatile player, having the ability to play either offense or defense.

The '93 hockey team was unfortunately eliminated in the first round of the state tournament by No. Quincy. Coach Fletcher and his team are, however, expected to go further next year due to the valuable experience earned by the younger players this year.

MVC CHAMPS!

The 1992-93 swim season for the Chelmsford High School Lions was quite a ride. In the regular season they compiled a 9-2 record, being undefeated in Merrimack Valley dual meet competition. After avenging Andover by taking back the MVC championship, the Lions placed an impressive second and third at North Sectionals and States, respectively.

There were several factors for this team becoming so successful this year. Coached by Al Thomas and Pat Peterson, the team developed a terrific work ethic that carried over in competition. The Lions were led by Co-Captains Beau Lamontagne and Matt Kennedy, who displayed excellent team spirit and sportsmanship whether they were victorious (which was mostly the case!) or not. Senior Jeremy Quimby returned this season after taking a year off, and was well welcomed. He soon became the team's premiere swimmer, being the key factor in all the Lion's scoring. Other Seniors showing talent and determination, were Tom Harrington, Keith MacPhail, and Steve Dator.

Diving was also vital this year. Steve Heron, Glen Thoren and Andy Griffin were a force in the dual meets, and very seldom lost that event. Having over a dozen talented rookies dive into the program this year didn't hurt either. Freshmen Scott Campell, Davie Howe and John Quimby led this threat which will be here for the next three years.

Next year the team will still be strong contenders with top swimmers such as Matt Quigley, Jeff Lurvey, Chris Blagg, and Dave Rines leading the way.

BOYS' WINTER TRACK

Respectable

This year's boys' track team has completed another successful season finishing with a 5-3 overall record. Although this was not their best record the team performed throughout the season despite losses of key athletes from last season due to injury and graduation.

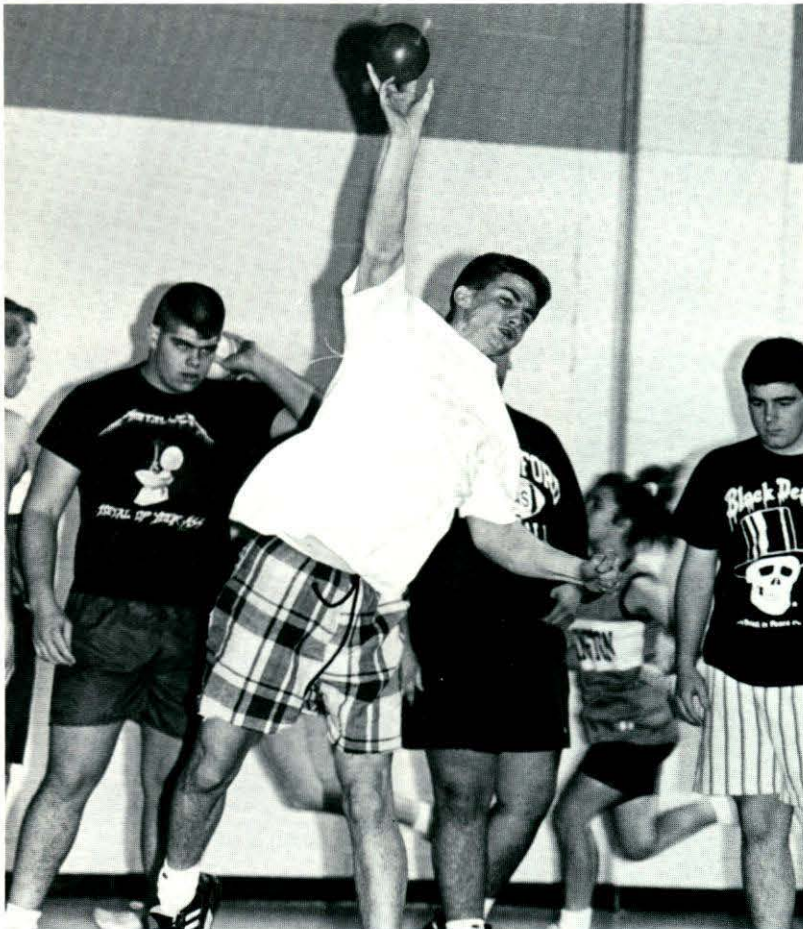

This year Coach Christman and Coach Lang's team's strength lay in the distance events, the shot put, and the high jump. Senior Jack Durkin continually out classed the competition in the shot put, while seniors Dave Parks and Mike Mast did well in the high jump. Top distance runners included Steve Mayol and Rob Therrien. James Mayol, Chris McNeany, and Tim McEnvoy led the pack in the mid-distance events. Jeff Saviano and Keith O'Neil competed well for the lions in the sprints.

The 1992-1993 season was filled with ups and downs. The meet against Andover, one of the top teams in the league, was one of these times. Although the Lions came through with an outstanding performance, with many of the athletes posting their best times of the season Andover managed to edge them out in the final event. However this is a young team with many key scorers returning next year. So next year watch out for the boys' track team!

GIRLS' WINTER TRACK

Running Circles Around the Competition

Few teams have had the phenomenal success that the CHS girls track team has shown this year. The team went undefeated in the 1992-1993 dual meet season and earned the title of MVC champions. The girls 8-0 record did not come without consistent hardwork and dedication throughout the season, but everyone realized all the tough practices were well worth it when the Lady Lions came through against everything that the competition could come up with. Against their biggest league competition, Andover and Lowell, the entire team rose to the occasion. In their closest meet of the season, everyone's performance counted as the meet came down to only a two point difference. In the end, during the final meet against Lowell, also undefeated, they pulled together and outclassed the competition by 26 points.

As the season went on it became apparent that there were several team members who could always be counted on to come through with great performances. Colleen Warton emerged as a star in the 600, set a new school record, and qualified for national competition later in the season. Junior Stacey Keene could be counted on in the distance events and senior Nora Benoit consistently performed well in the high jump. When a meet came down to the 1st race everyone had confidence in the final mile relay.

The girls' track team far out ran anyones expectations of them and can be counted on for greater things in the future!

WRESTLING

Pinning Their Way To Pure Perfection

The 1993 Chelmsford Lions Wrestling team once again proved that they are a dominating force. The Lions finished their season with an immaculate 25-0 record. These wrestlers won the Merrimack Valley Conference title, the State Dual Meet title, and placed second in the Division I North Sectional Wrestling Championship with a score of 228.5.

Although some may believe wrestling to be an individualistic sport, Coach Bruce Rich made sure that the Lions worked together as a team. As a team the Lions went undefeated, but the individual achievements were also amazing. The three senior captains including Scott Moreau, Adam Guthrie, and Eric Whitney proved to be valuable assets to the team.

Captain Scott Moreau went undefeated while defending his North Sectional and State Champion titles. Moreau once again claimed the title of 'State Champ.' Captain Adam Guthrie placed third in the state along with senior Chris Howard.

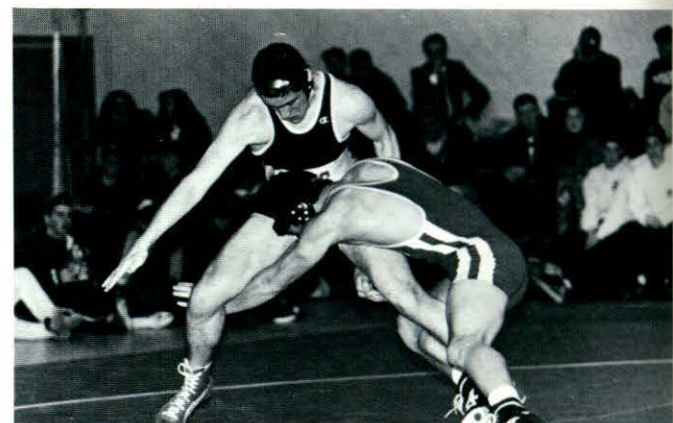

Among the future wrestling stars that Chelmsford has to look forward to are juniors Jason Fredette, Mike Sullivan, and Jeff Trudel. With Coach Rich guiding our Chelmsford Wrestlers the team will continue to be strong while expressing their Lions pride.

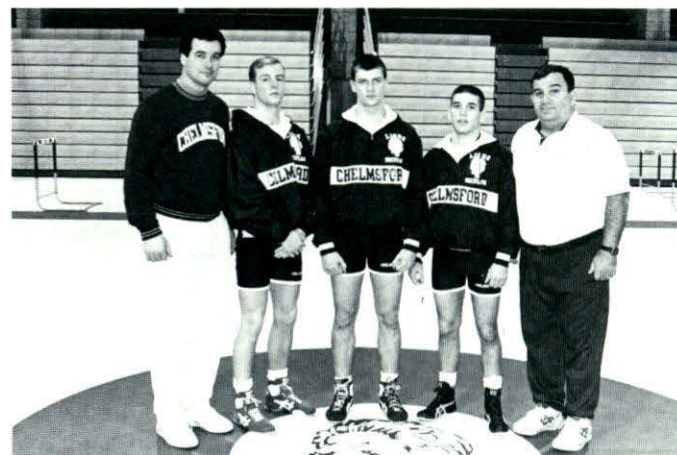

Junior Jeff Trudel uses his strength to work over his opponent.

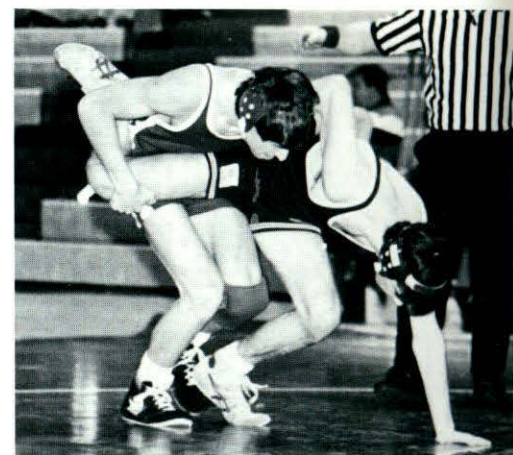

Trying to keep a Lion down? It won't work!

Junior Jason Fredette moves away from a killer take down.

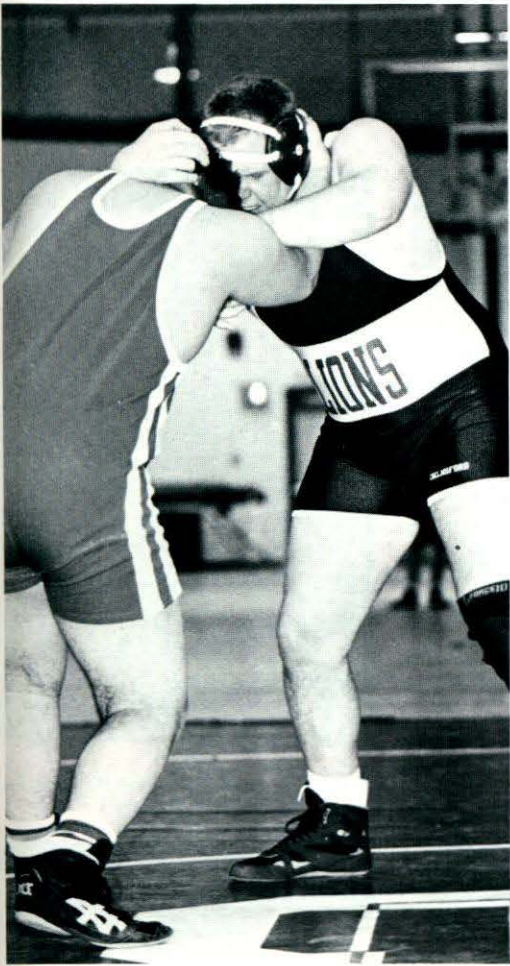

The captains and their coaches pose for a heck of a great picture.

This Chelmsford wrestler keeps his leverage while his opponent tries to take him down.

Senior Scott Klayner gives his all to pin his opponent.

Grrrr!!!!

Junior Mike Sullivan puts a painful move on his opponent.

Erica Guadett shows grace and poise on the balance beam.

Andrew Ferrante gives his all against his opponent from Tewksbury.

Matt Kennedy's freestyle scored valuable points for the swim team throughout the season.

Cherie Boormeester was a key player on the soccer team.

Junior Jason Fredette celebrates another victory for the football team.

The hockey team had a successful season.

RECESS

ACTIVITIES

By definition a recess is a suspension of business or procedure. In such a prestigious environment, the court of law has many reasons to call a recess. The reasons could range from a simple lunch break to the jury's difficulty in deciding the outcome of a case. Another reason a recess could have been issued was to take a break from a strenuous case one was involved in when it became too much to handle or to enjoy one's life. Court recess relates to members of a court the same way activities relate to the students at Chelmsford High School.

The activities at Chelmsford High School help the students by taking their worries and confusion away from their own lives. Activities relieve the stress we, the students, have to handle in High School. They help us relieve pressure that our tests, quizzes, papers, and of course, homework puts on us through the year. Activities help the student interact with students who have different interests than ourselves. Activities also "Broaden our Horizons."

As we see it, the activities at Chelmsford High School are very much like the recesses called in a court of law. Without either our lives would perhaps not be as interesting as life with activities.

NATIONAL HAPPENINGS

ANGER FILLS THE STREETS OF L.A.

Los Angeles, April 29, 1992 — The anger in this southern Californian metropolis erupts in a blaze of violence. When it is all over, 53 are dead, 2,383 injured, and $775 million of damage has been done. The media has been stuffed with images of burning storefronts and looters. The six-o'clock news tells of a white man dragged from his pickup and severely beaten by a gang of black youths.

The cause of this outburst is a court trial, a case of police brutality. Motorist Rodney King was beaten by six officers of the LAPD after resisting arrest and leading the officers to believe they would be put in personal danger. An onlooker who taped the confrontation with his video recorder ended up supplying the prosecution — Mr. King — with its main evidence.

Finally, the panel of jurors determined that the officers were not guilty of using excessive force. That decision sparked the riots. For some, it was a reaction to a white world that could not show justice, for others, it was simply a chance to loot, steal, and destroy.

UPDATE: Feb. 15, 1993 — Jurors are chosen in the appealed trial of the six Los Angeles Police officers. It is questioned whether it will be possible to find a fair and impartial jury to hear the case.

ANDREW DEVASTATES THOUSANDS

HOMESTEAD, FLORIDA — Hurricane Andrew hit hard along Florida's southern coast, leaving the wreckage of land, homes, and lives. Many lost nearly all their belongings to the wind and rain, some lost family as well.

Andrew swung up out of the Caribbean Sea, headed straight for Florida. After passing over the "Sunshine State," he continued to Louisiana, but by that time he had been downgraded to a tropical storm that did little damage compared to the effects on Florida.

The hearts of the nation went out to the victims, and towns from all over sent volunteers south. Even the US Army arrived to aid the recovery from "the costliest natural disaster in US history." The value of the lost property amounted to over $22 billion.

ELECTION '92: A NEW PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, DC — On January 20, 1993, William Clinton was sworn in as the President of the United States, the first Democrat to hold the office in 12 years. His taking of the oath ended over a year of campaigning and hype that began well before he made his acceptance speech at the convention in July.

In August, George Bush, the incumbent President, accepted the Republican nomination, and both candidates headed down the home stretch to Election Day. Along the way they were joined by H. Ross Perot, a Texas billionaire who came in and out of the race for the Oval Office innumerable times. While Perot was known for his large ears and purchase of many hours of media time, and Clinton for his grassroots bus tours with Hilary, Bush wasn't marked by any outstanding tactics, with his best seeming to be a Vice-President who couldn't spell "potato."

However, Bush did not give up. He highlighted his successes in office, his victory against Saddam Hussein, the stability and conservatism of a Republican presidency. His advisers also informed the nation about Clinton's draft dodging in his college years. Clinton responded with an appeal to the people. He promised change, a better way of life. He would provide a turnaround for America in the next four years. Never mind that he knew little about foreign affairs and had governed only at the state level — the plans would work out.

When Clinton won on November third, no one was shocked. The Bush people, following the Clinton bus tour with a train tour of the US, had seen that the President's hold was slipping fast. Even a late-October surge in the polls could not save him, and the boy from Arkansas finished first.

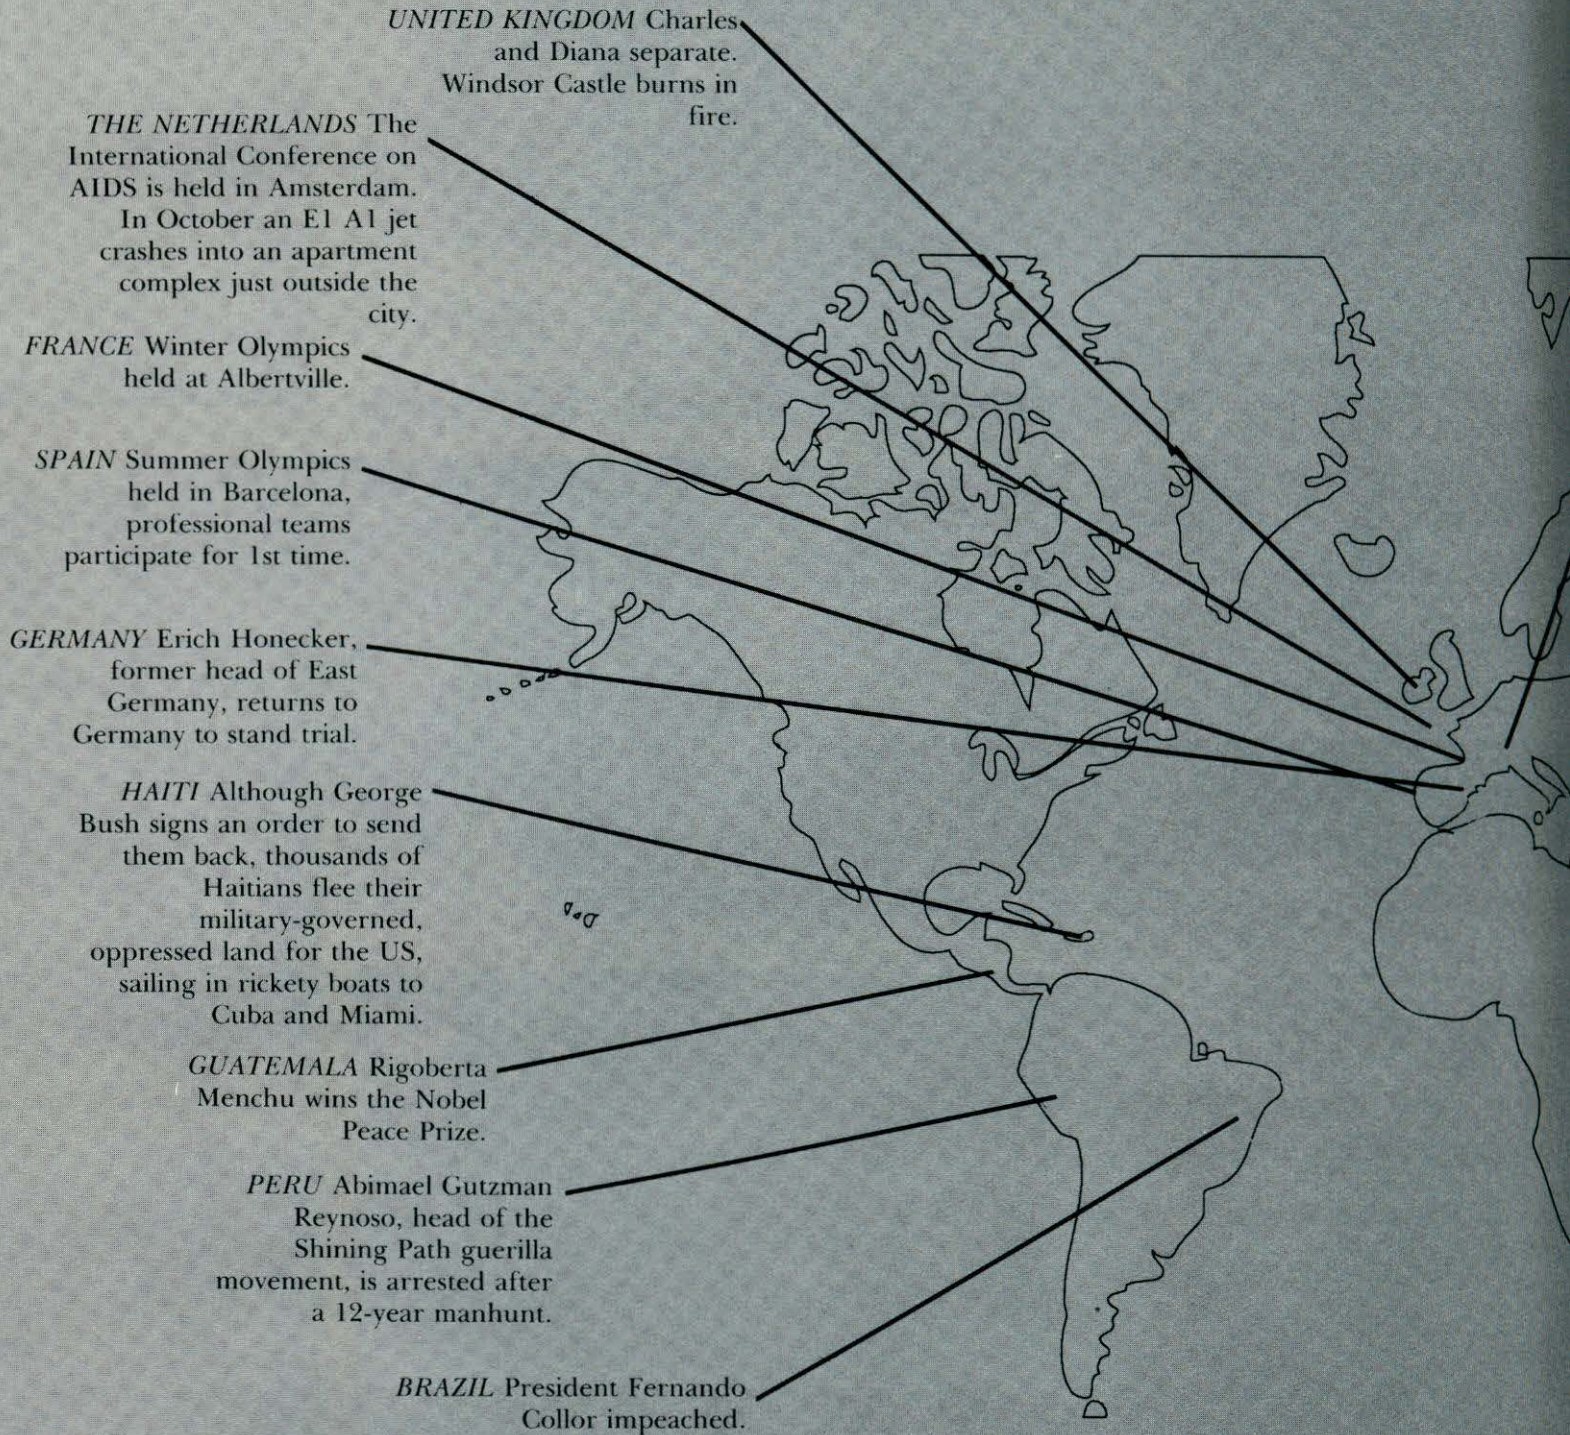

With the Inauguration over, Clinton found himself, faced with an enormous amount of decisions, both foreign and domestic. There was "ethnic cleansing" in the Balkans, famine and civil war in Somalia, trade agreements with Mexico, Canada and the EC, and threats from a resurrected Saddam Hussein to be dealt with. A growing elderly population and new (expensive) developments in medicine, health care reform was necessary for Americans to get the treatment they need. With a staggering national debt and deficit, the promise of no tax raises for the middle-class seems impossible, as does the pledge to preserve government programs. However, Clinton has chosen to address the situation with a series of "town meetings" to be held nationwide, to outline his plan and his plans and answer voter's questions.

Moser, School Comm., unveil new plan

A rising student population has led to serious overcrowding in the elementary schools. To address this, a redistricting and reorganizing committee was set up by the School Committee in October 1992.

The committee looked at the needs of different schools and programs, the number of students, and other factors. They came up with a list of criteria and 36 plans, which they presented to Dr. Moser.

The School Department wanted to be able to keep class size under 25, with students attending schools close to their homes. Having grades K-5 in one school was too difficult, and adding modular (trailer) classrooms was only a temporary solution.

Dr. Moser's plans were to either have K-3 in four elementary schools, 4-7 at two middle schools (Parker and McCarthy) and 8-12 at CHS; or to keep things as they are and build an addition to McCarthy. A great deal of parental opposition to the rearrangement plan led Moser to redesign his setup.

The new plan, accepted by the school committee in February, placed K-4 in four elementary schools, 5-8 at two middle schools, and 9-12 and Administration at the high school. The Center School may be used again or sold to pay for additions to other schools. The plan will go into effect in 1994.

Ice cream stand damaged in fire

Sully's Ice Cream Stand on Graniteville Road in Chelmsford was damaged by a fire on the night of Monday, February 22, 1993. Firefighters were able to extinguish the flames; however, they were unable to save the back of the building, which suffered serious structural damage. The back of the building has been the location of the freezers and compressors necessary for the making of ice cream.

The cause of the fire was believed to be electrical. The cost of repairing the damage was expected to run between $30,000 and $50,000. Fortunately, no one was in the building at the time of the fire, and there were no injuries.

Larry Bird retires. See Sports for details.

Sully's was scheduled to open in early March. It has been a favorite of students at Chelmsford High because of its location close to the school.

The Year in Pictures

FRIENDS OF THE COURT

ADVERTISING

The editors, staff, and judges of the 1993 yearbook endured long and hard hours throughout the hot summer months seeking the "Friends of the Court." The Friends of the Court are the advertisers, contributors, parents, and patrons who bailed us out and set us free in order to make this yearbook the case that would set the standards for future cases.

Local business, companies, and professionals contributed greatly to our case in the form of advertisements. Parents had the opportunity to place messages of love to all the presiding judges who had patiently waited for their turn to sit on the bench of success.

The Friends of the Court, through their support, were instrumental in guiding us to a successful final verdict. Without their continued contributions, the plaintiffs and defendants would not have had such a solid case. Their strong dedication leaves us with a transcript of memories. These memories will serve as a foundation of guidelines as we work to attain our goals and our aspirations.

These generous patrons and donors who bailed us out were indeed our "Friends of the Court."

We, the class of 1993, being

- I, Seth A. Arkin, leave my literary collection to my benefactors BK, BP, DL, SP, KO, BG, KH and all others.
- I, Greg Amiro, leave CHS with maximum potential thanks to Jeff Stryker.
- I, Kristen A. Anderson, leave Patrick Coitagrav, faceless Zebra.
- I, Nancy Archambault, leave my gum collection to the next person lucky enough to inherit my locker.
- I, Sarah A. Arnold, leave Amy black coffee, a man who reads poetry and shaves with a bowie knife, Eddie as our God and a barbaric yawp.
- I, Jason R. Arsenault, leave the posse my safe drivers plan and one awesome time at the beach "93".
- I, Stephanie Athanasoulas, leave SB our Clearly Canadian, in hope we'll mail it in times of need, happiness, & achieving dreams.
- I, Karen A. Barbera, leave all the runners of CHS a strong, fast, and happy run.

The case is closed, and the court is adjourned. After four long, hard trials, we were handed the final verdict: graduation. This brings us to the decision of what higher court we will advance to; higher education or work. No matter which is chosen, success is not far off. This book, The 1993 Lion, provides the memories of our experiences at the court of Chelmsford High School and provides a sense of support and a set of guidelines to help on future endeavors.

The past four years, full of trials and tribulations, have been memorable ones. We have met many challenges, either individually or as a whole, and we have succeeded. We have climbed the judicial ladder together and reached the supreme position: Judges. Each of the four levels of the ladder provided the experience we need to be successful in the higher courts. This book provides a collection of memories of our journey through the court system; showing how truly special the Class of 1993 is.

The editors of The 1993 Lion worked hard from our very first day on the job. We put our body and soul into this book in hope that it provides the class with a book of memories to be cherished in the years to come. We spent many days and nights putting together this wonderful year-book. We could not have done it without the help of each section's editors, our Literary Advisor, Mary Dukakis, and our Business Advisor, Mary Donovan. We, the editors of The 1993 Lion wish the Class of 1993 the best of luck in all of the higher courts.

Court adjourned!
