Road Trip '99

Some were bumpy, some were smooth. Some were uphill, some were downhill. Some were curvey, while others were straight. All helped lead us to where we are now, and will continue to lead us to where we will be going next. When our trip first began, it was easy to feel lost on the open road. We quickly learned that knowing how to read the signs and stopping to ask for directions were among the most important things for getting ahead. Though we had to take a few minor detours along the way, we still managed to stay on course. Now, we have each found our own road for which the map has not yet been created. As you continue on your life's next journey, don't forget about the road that brought you to where you are today...

LION 1999

"The yearbook room will become your second home" the 1998 Lion Editors warned us as we began our new roles as Editors-In-Chief. This couldn't have been closer to the truth. Since May of 1998, we have spent countless hours in the little-known yearbook room of Chelmsford High School creating the yearbook that captures the memories of our senior year. We have tried to freeze the year within the content of this book. As you turn through these pages, you will find pieces of 1999 that you will remember for the rest of your life.

The seemingly overwhelming task of producing such an important element of our senior year could not have been possible without the contribution of our dedicated yearbook staff. The support of our advisors Mr. Eang and Mrs. Donovan was also essential to our successful edition of The Lion. Thanks to everyone for a great year.

Around the World

CHS students follow The Road where ever it leads them - even to the four corners of the globe.

Rhode Trip

In June of 1998, Mrs. Coffey and Mrs. Taylor took their American Studies classes to Newport, Rhode Island to see the mansions. Here, the students stop their travels for a group shot in front of one of the estates they visited.

No one knows where the road will lead you. Chelmsford High School students have taken different roads and ended up in some of the world's most beautiful and interesting places. If you have never been to these exotic and magestic lands, let us take you there...

“Travel, in the younger sort, is a part of education; in the elder, a part of experience.”

- Francis Bacon

Foreign Affairs
 Cegeon, Angela, and Jaime have lunch at a cafe in Vienna, Austria. The CHS orchestra toured Austria and Germany in the spring of 1996. Some of the other stops on the tour were Salzburg, Munich, Waidhoven and Dinklesbuhl.

Love for Lava
 On her trip to Hawaii, Mary Ellen feels fire at her finger tips - or the closest thing to it. The lava came from the Kilauea Crater on the Big Island of Hawaii.

“Never any weary traveller complained that he came too soon to his journey’s end.”

- Thomas Fuller

“He made History come alive...He completely changed my attitude not only towards his class, but all of my classes.”

- Matt Ingalls

On the Road With...

Mr. O'Keefe

1999 Lion Dedicated to an Outstanding New Teacher

In the fall of 1997, a twist in the road brought a young, energetic, and creative new teacher to Chelmsford High School. For the past two years, Mr. Michael O'Keefe has continued to be a source of inspiration and support to his students. From the beginning, Mr. O'Keefe has had a strong and evident connection with all who have come to know him, so much that the senior class has honored him with the dedication of the 1999 Lion.

Lecturing at the podium? We caught Mr. O'Keefe in rare form as he gives notes in a traditional style. Mr. O'Keefe is better known for his unpredictability than his conformity in his teaching.

Mr. O'Keefe - The Man, The Magic, The Mystery

He is a very personable and easy going man who makes the class enjoyable." quotes Dennis Price, who had Mr. O'Keefe his junior year for U.S. History. Mr. O'Keefe demonstrates his true love for teaching by taking the time to get to know each of his students. Lis Drake notes that "All his stories and papers about mental strength help you if you are upset. He makes you see what is really important in life."

Along with his unique ability to put students at ease, Mr. O'Keefe has a teaching style all his own. With a card trick repertoire that even David Copperfield would envy, Mr. O'Keefe holds his students' attention and interest with his infectious enthusiasm. Kelly Donahue says, "He made his students want to learn with an air of true enjoyment in teaching History." Dan Leahy affirms, "He made class exciting."

How has Mr. O'Keefe become so widely respected and admired in the course of just one year? Dan Craig suggests that it is because he "...is full of school spirit. At every game I've been to, no matter the sport, he was there!" Another reason, says Geno Villaire, is because "...he is always there for his students, even ones not in his class." Mr. O'Keefe's dynamic teaching style and personality have won the admiration of all students.

I can tell you the score of the next CHS football game before it even starts. Betcha a juice?...Well, you got it Toyota, it's 0-0, just like every game before it starts" is a typical phrase Mr. O'Keefe might say. His personality makes all his students feel welcome. Meaghan Smith said it best, "The nicknames he gives to kids makes his class more personal, like he's your friend not just your teacher."

School spirit is one quality that nearly every student mentioned about Mr. O'Keefe. As the coach of both the Junior Varsity Boys' Basketball and the Varsity Baseball teams, Mr. O'Keefe has shown time and time again his dedication to the CHS athletics and his support for the entire student body. "He does as much for CHS as he can... his school spirit cheers us all on at no matter what sporting event he's at, and he comes to them all" says Alan Sager.

Dear Mom, I can hardly begin to describe my 15 words on the Road. These past four years experiences I have been filled with some incredible times.
I have stopped at some of the most interesting places & met some of the most fascinating people. Although this leg of my journey is about over, another is soon to begin.

H Next stop... HOLLYWOOD Memories

On the night of May 15, 1998, Chelmsford High School was transformed into a star-studded, Hollywood gala. Celebrities made their way down Hollywood's Star Walk where a red carpet led them into the cocktail lounge that sparkled with all of Tinsletown's city glitter. Rare appearances were made by stars including Humphrey Bogart, Marilyn Monroe, and John Wayne.

After hors d'oeuvres, the famed guests followed the romantically lit corridor into the main ballroom, where they danced the night away as the sun set behind the Hollywood Hills. The dance hall had a spectacular view of the brilliant spot-light that lit up the night sky.

After an evening of high society entertainment and dancing, the stars took their last look at Hollywood's glamour before leaving the event of the year. The glitz may have lasted for just that one night, but the memories will last a lifetime.

Behind the Scenes

Proud of their successful evening, the class reps take five for a picture.

Group Thing

Celebrities like Rhonda, Eric, and Sarah make their entrance in style.

Circle of Friends

This group is ready to shine and add another special evening to their memories.

Smashing Entrance

K.P. and Tara are among the fashionable couples arriving at the star-studded event.

Lovely Ladies

Glamour girls Jill and Linda show off their hot spring fashions.

Captivating Couple

This lovely couple captures the enchantment of Hollywood Memories. Decked out in their finest, they resemble stars of the silver screen.

Spotlight

Five of Hollywood's best pose for the Papa Razzi.

Livin' it Up

Jared, Jaime, Joan, Alex and Sam are having a blast at their Junior Cotillion.

Smile!

Star Walk

Awaiting entry to the ball, these stars seize the chance for a quick photo opportunity.

Charmed

High-class celebrities add charm to the already posh dance.

M Next stop... MORP Dance

Tired of being cramped up in the car all day, CHS students stopped for a stretch at the Morp Dance on September 26, 1998. The blaring music drew people in from miles away to come join the first dance of the year. Although it felt more like a sauna, the cafe was packed with people ready to let loose. It didn't matter that it was hot, sticky, and uncomfortable, the CHS students just kept on dancing. For the seniors, the Morp was a familiar way to begin the last leg of their journey. For the freshmen, it was a whole new stretch of road. Before the anxieties of the school year really piled up, the students took advantage of the chance to sit back and enjoy the ride.

Stretch Stop

K.C., Katie, and Meredith stop at the CHS Morp for a few hours of fun.

Class Pride

Student Council members Nadia, Alex, Annie, Andrea, Sam, and Kristin show their school spirit at the kick-off dance.

Swing Thing

Seniors Erin and Mike dance to pop-swing music by The Brian Setzner Orchestra.

Burn, Baby, Burn

These underclassmen work up a sweat but have fun doing it! There were over 500 students packed into the sauna-like cafeteria.

Next stop... HALLOWEEN Dance

The full moon cast a dim glow on the entrance to CHS. Characters including Bill Clinton, Martha Stewart and her Turkey, a pack of Wild Indians, and the cast from Alice in Wonderland raced to be among the first into the party held on October 24, 1998. Cupid was there to reunite Sonny and Cher, while the Crayons left their mark all over the dancefloor.

Agents Scully and Mulder arrived at the dance to investigate the Crime Scene, and the Sumo Wrestlers hungrily eyed the fruit basket sported by the Chiquita Banana Lady (?)

Though 11 o'clock rolled around much too quickly, the party-goers had to get back on the road. The success of the evening was measured by the high spirits of the travelers as they prepared for their next destination.

Masked Men

The Pentium Processor men invaded the scene decked out in their hazardous waste suits and high-tech gas masks.

Electric Slide

Workers from Mass Electric brought power with them to CHS.

Six-Pack

Pepsi Bottles show us how to shake things up without poppin' their tops.

I Wonder...

The cast of Alice in Wonderland took a magical journey to be at the CHS dance. They brought along all the fantasy of their world.

It's a good thing

According to Martha Stewart, turkey on Halloween is definitely a good thing.

C Next stop... CHELMSFORD Seniors

The CHS Class of 1999 is home to a variety of colorful characters. We have some of the funniest, craziest, and most outrageous students in the school, but we also have some of the most quiet and reserved students in the school. This diversity is what makes the Class of 1999 so special. The following candid captures our unique seniors in all of their glory.

Give Me a Break

These five senior girls take a break from their busy school day to hang out.

Mama Mia!

The great chefs of CHS prepare an authentic Italian meal. Grab your forks and dig in!

Twenty Four Hours a Day

Kristen, Joan, and Beth spread a little Student Council spirit at the twenty-four hour relay.

Show Me the Money!

The class of '99 can be assured that its money is in good hands with the Money Man Cegeon Chan.

Wet Floor

Caution boys!! Who would have thought walking through CHS could be dangerous? Good thing Jim and Tim were there to help this innocent young victim.

Cheese

These boys are all smiles. They are the perfect picture of the class of '99.

We Made It

After four long years of high school, these seniors are ready to hit the road.

Friends Forever

Parting is such sweet sorrow. Katie will always treasure her moments with Erin and Lauren at CHS.

Smile

Come on boys smile. You are seniors now. This isn't a mug shot.

C Next stop... CHELMSFORD Classrooms

Who said class was boring? Between Music Theory, Chef's, Computer Graphics, and Marketing, Chelmsford High School offers some very interesting courses. Our photographers caught a few CHS seniors in action. Whether it was posing for the camera during a break, or in the midst of a great discovery, we found CHS students doing what they do best - having fun.

Pay Attention

Kristen and Kirsten are giving their attention to the camera, not the teacher.

Senior Moment

After four long years of classes together, the seniors have created bonds and memories that will last them a lifetime.

Just the Two of Us

Armed with paper and pens, Katie and Sarah are ready for another exciting day of class.

Break Time

Classes can get a little monotonous but a small picture break will leave these girls feeling much better.

Find Mr. Lemire

This section is traditionally reserved for candid shots of seniors in class, but this year a teacher decided to sneak in. Can you find him?

Feel the Love

One can easily see the bonding that this class has done this year.

No Horseplay Boys

Just for the record, Chelmsford High School's classes are usually not this wild. The students do prefer to learn in a vertical, instead of horizontal manner.

Learning Beyond the Classroom

Chelmsford High School boasts some of the best science labs, some of the most advanced curriculum and some of the latest language facilities. With all of these resources available to students, what more could seniors want from an education?

Last year, CHS opened its doors to the "Real World" in a cutting-edge program that allows seniors and highly qualified juniors to explore careers in an environment related to their interests. In the 1997-1998 school year, six CHS students held internships at Avid Technology in Tewksbury, MA to pursue cinematography, digital imaging, or marketing communications. This year, CHS was able to send other students to Avid, as well as MediaOne.

In addition to these high-tech opportunities, Chelmsford students now have the chance to student-teach at a local elementary school. With this program, students can gain exposure to the teaching world even before they have to choose their major.

Between these three educational opportunities, CHS students have the chance to explore their career interests while gathering experience in the business world. Though an internship or a student teaching position may not be the most conventional methods of learning, the skills gained from these experiences often cannot be attained while sitting in a classroom.

HIGH-TECH Junior Nate MacKinnon edits an episode of Homicide on Avid's MediaComposer editing system. Nate is an intern in the Product Marketing department at Avid, where he digitizes film from tape to the computer. Nate's thoughts on the Avid internship? "It's great. I'm getting so much experience that most people don't get until they are in college."

"Since the middle of junior year, I have been student teaching at Byam School," says Senior Heather Rubenstein. "I started off in kindergarten where I observed the first few weeks of school. Then I traveled to second grade where I helped two little boys with their math skills. From there I went to the fourth grade where the kids were working on science projects. This is a great experience for anyone who thinks they may want to become a teacher because you will get hands-on experience in what it is like to lead a class."

FOLLOW THE LEADER Heather Rubenstein leads the class of second graders in a lesson about seeds. Heather had to prepare a lesson plan, activities, snacks, games, and worksheets as a part of her assignment.

Next stop... CLASS OF '99 Representatives

"Spotlights!" "No no, better invitations!" "Wait, I got it. Spotlights, marquee lights, Christmas lights, a red carpet, and palm trees!" The Class Representatives have many decisions to make that directly affect the entire class. Between Cotillion decorations, expenses for class events and Spirit Week activities, the 1999 Class Reps put a lot of effort into making class activities the best they can be.

With the help of Mrs. Deislinger and Mrs. Gauthier, the 1999 Class Advisors, the Class Reps have successfully planned and held some of the most exciting dances and fund raising events that CHS has ever seen. They have been working hard for four years, and now we will give you a glimpse at some of the Reps in action.

Hard Core

Laura, Cegeon, Kristin, Andrea, and Nadia are among the few Class Reps that have been in it for the long haul. After four years of commitment, these guys get together for a crazy snap shot.

Advisory Council

With pens in hand, Mrs. Gauthier and Mrs. Deislinger take careful note on the meeting.

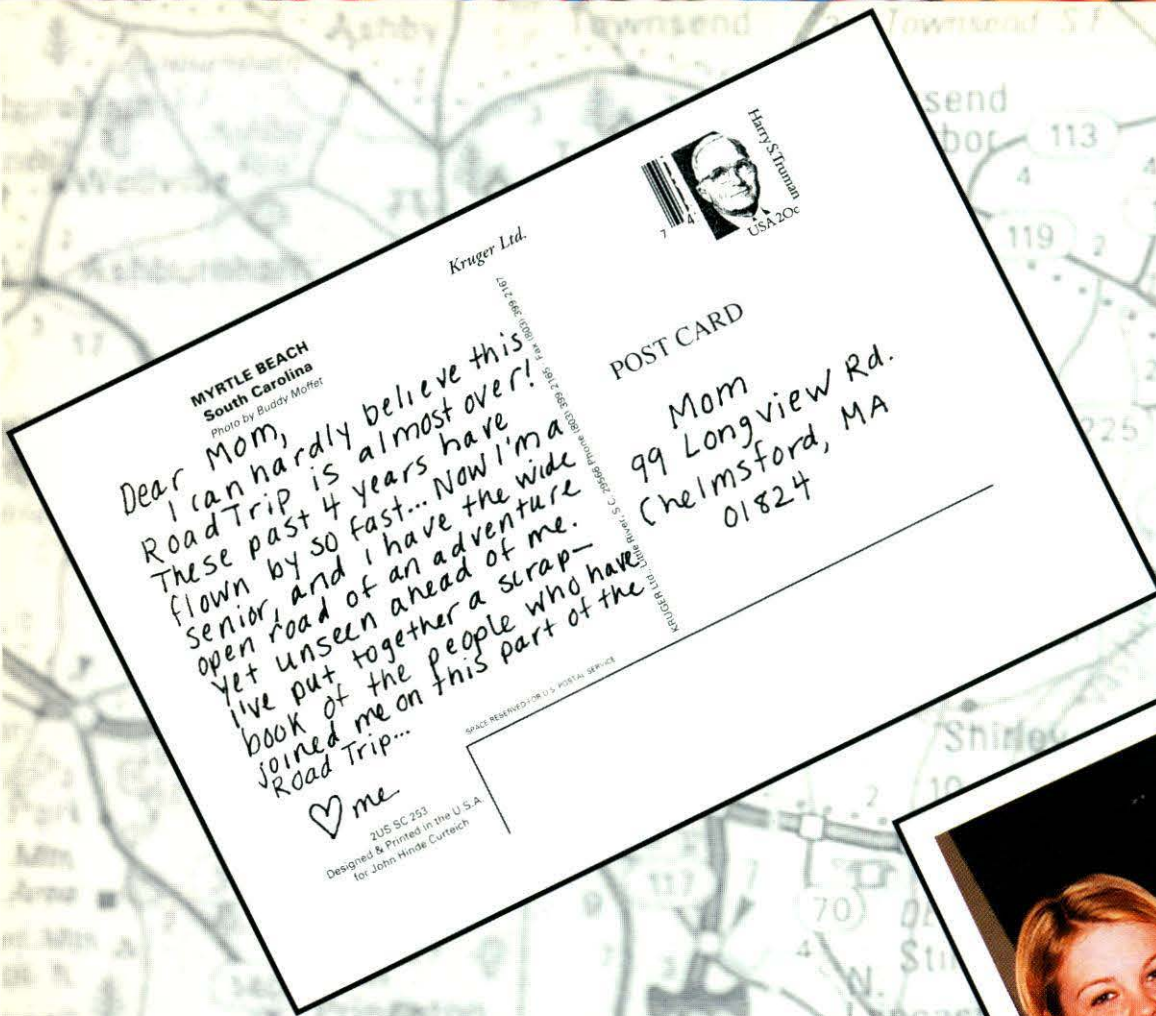

Class of 1999,

I can only express my gratitude and joy for being President of such a tremendous and dynamic class. Your performance these four years assures me of success in all your endeavors. I am proud to say we have succeeded as a class, succeeded in becoming the future leaders of the world. As I reflect back on my memories of all of our time together, I am impressed and inspired by all your maturity. Working with you as well as the Class Representatives and advisors has been a pleasure. Good luck in all the years to come.

In Loving Memory of Bill Taylor

A Tribute From Family and Friends

Billy loved life and he loved people; but he especially loved to draw. Whether it was his tag, B.T., or his favorite cartoon character, Calvin, his artwork appears on desks, walls, notebooks and just about anywhere he went. Someday he had hoped to be a cartoonist and surely he would have been a good one. Perhaps his nickname, Billy the Kid, would have been his signature. We will never know. Billy never got to become Billy the Man.

Although we can't understand why, Billy is gone. But the memories of that mischief-making, always-smiling boy will live forever in our hearts. We will all, hopefully, live to adulthood and make our dreams come true. Perhaps we have learned to love others and enjoy life a little more for having known Billy Taylor.

We miss you, Bill. And... "We'll see you when we get there" Nelly.

- The Taylor Family

"You were always content; the big ear to ear smile that shaped your face, every second of every day. No matter how down something got, you brought it right back up."

George Byam

"You lit up the world with your smile."

Melissa Laurin

"So many people knew how were, with a smile that brightened days and we all will miss you so much, forever and always."

Everyone

"He never held anything against anyone. He always had a smile on his face."

Erik Sullivan

"Bill and his friends were always hanging out; he taught a lot of people what frinedship's all about."

Becca Taylor

"Bill was always happy."

Where Our Journey Began...

All roads begin somewhere. Our journey together began 12 years ago in a classroom filled with many unfamiliar faces. Flipping through the senior section of the yearbook, we see our last school picture. Here, we can take a look back to where it all began...kindergarten or first grade. Through elementary school, middle school, and finally high school, we have been able to put many of these faces with names and memories.

H Next stop... Holiday Dance

On Saturday, December 12, 1998, everyone gathered at the Holiday Dance hoping to capture lifelong memories. Excitement filled the night as students walked up the lit entry to behold a winter wonderland. Despite the cold air outside, everything about the night inside was perfect.

For freshmen at the dance, the memories were just beginning. But as the students danced the night away, seniors treasured each moment knowing like everything else, its end would come all too soon. This year's dance was truly filled with holiday magic.

Group Thing

Dan, Jim and friends party all night amidst the snowflakes and holiday cheer.

Double Date

Eric, Jamie, Kristen and Jim take a breather from doing the holiday boogie to capture a memory.

Vouge

Strike a pose! This girl pauses for a quick snapshot with her escorts.

Mistletoe Magic

Find these two some mistletoe!

Girl Power

Girls just wanna have fun! This group ditched thier dates hours ago.

No. One

No matter what the season, seniors know who's number one.

Naughty or Nice?

Santa knows who's been naughty and who's been nice. Above, Holly, Katie and Lauren show us they're getting what they want this year, but the guys at right might have to wait until next season.

Picture Perfect

Jingle Bells

Sophomore and Freshmen girls all decked out enjoy the music and the magic of their favorite event of the year.

Next stop... Spirit Week

Mix 1500 excited students with wall-shaking cheers and tons of school spirit. Add some maroon and white streamers and you've got the ingredients for the Thanksgiving Day Game Pep Rally -- the culmination of Spirit Week. After having created breath-taking murals and racking up hundreds of points in theme day participation, the students of CHS - Drivers and Passengers alike - were ready to burst with class and school pride.

All of CHS's chanting and cheering paid off for the Football Team, who gloriously beat arch rival Billerica 23-20 in the last few minutes of the game. The fans went wild as the football players celebrated their victory on the field. The seniors, many with tears in their eyes, revelled in the glory of their last high school football game, making it a memory none will too soon forget.

Attack !!!

Seniors gave a memorable performance in their skit as they depicted Indians protecting the Temple of Doom from Indiana Jones who was coming to get the golden football.

We've Got Pep

The Sophomore class shows off their school spirit and takes notes for next year.

Here We Go Seniors

After three long years, the class of '99 took its rightful place in the bleachers and cheers its way to victory.

Wu Who?!

Lady Lion Stephanie Wu fills the role of the CHS hero in the seniors' Pep Rally skit. Steph has just freed Suraj from the Indians and is getting CHS roaring with her.

Close Second

The juniors will never have as much spirit as the seniors during the Pep Rally, but the Class of 2000 sure puts up a good fight! Ingrid and Nate lead the class in wild cheers.

To glance back at the past four years is simple; but is it just that - a glance. To fully understand the learning and growth that has taken place, both in and out of the classroom, would easily require a lifetime of study.

We have surely grown. Each timid freshman that entered this school in 1995, a bit frightened by the size of the school, is now a fine young man or woman, standing with confidence at the door to a brand new world.

Much more than we have grown up, we have grown together - as a class. Shyness and a fear of embarrassment abounded at our first Pep Rally. But those same freshmen, who the seniors had dismissed and said would never unite, have exceeded all expectations and are the finest class to ever have called Chelmsford High School their home.

In closing, I think our distinction as the last graduating class of the millenium is something quite amazing. The class of 1999 has surely given new meaning to the phrase "OUT WITH A BANG!"

Good luck to all,
Patrick Walsh
Vice-President, Class of 1999

Ninety Nine!

As the seniors pour into the gym, enthusiastic class members take their place at the front of the crowd and get raedy to make some noise.

Punch Patrol

Class of '99 Reps Meghan and Angela take their turn on punch patrol at the Spirit Week Dance. Over 300 students attended.

When I hear the words, "school spirit," Spirit Week comes smashing into my head. From bodies drenched in an excessive amount of socks to painting your class year on your body, to wearing vinyl pants impersonating an artist at the Pep Rally, Spirit Week brings out the wackiness in you. While each class competes for the most spirit, each class unifies attempting to meet their goal: to obtain the most points to win Spirit Week. Although Spirit Week is believed to be rigged to benefit the seniors, like past seniors, the class of '99 has earned their way to victory.

In my mind, the Class of '99's winning contribution to Spirit Week will be remembered for possessing three key elements: dedication, talent, and enthusiasm. Not only did the Class Reps show dedication, an essential element in winning Spirit Week, but so did the entire class. Everyone contributed by either participating on theme days or by being the dedicated souls that devoted their life to the mural. But the best part, in my opinion was the awesome, beautiful, wonderful people in our senior class who, penny by penny, helped win Penny Wars by a huge landslide.

Not only was dedication demonstrated, but the talent in the class was evident. The talent inherent in the high-caliber Class of '99's Powder Puff team will forever be unmatched. The class' undefeated high school record of 4-0 is not only unprecedented but also reveals our winning ways and our desire to triumph. This talent does not stop at the football fields. From the exceptional murals to the complex construction of the Titanic, the high-caliber talents worked on by all the Class Representatives were phenomenal.

Although talent and dedication were vital to winning Spirit Week, the memory of enthusiasm will forever be engrained in our memories. The feel of happiness, enjoyment, fun and most importantly a feel of class unification go oozing through each individual body. Because these experiences will never occur again, the feeling of Spirit Week will always be unique.

As the seniors treasure the successful Spirit Week, the three elements will always bring you success. When you exhibit your talents, demonstrate your dedication, and use your enthusiasm, success will be attainable. The Class of '99 will always be remembered for fully capturing all three elements.

May the feel of Spirit Week remain engraved into your memories!

Gegeon Chan
Treasurer, Class of 1999

Senior Spirit

Clad in her Class of '99 T-shirt, senior Jennifer Campbell waits for her turn at the Penny Wars bottles. The seniors won by a landslide in this annual event.

Dear Class of 1999,

We have grown immensely in four years, from insignificant freshmen to mature, focused seniors. (Most of us, anyway.) And now we are making The Big Step, moving beyond high school to bigger and better things, limited only by our ambitions and dreams. We are ready for anything.

Of course, nothing ever proceeds according to our wonderful plans, and eventually everything appears to be headed for complete and utter chaos. Luckily, everyone we have ever known (and a lot of people we haven't) have given us some kind of advice to deal with these situations. We must personally separate the good advice from the useless and then apply those words of wisdom to our everyday lives.

Naturally, I have my own words to remember, borrowed from Henry David Thoreau: "Nothing is at last sacred but the integrity of our own minds." No matter how much input we receive from the rest of the world, we must take decisions for ourselves. Advice is (usually) great, but it shouldn't be the basis for every choice we make. Instead, the words and ideas that have influenced us should merely complement the way we think.

In a nutshell: Don't let your mind be dominated by anything but your own feelings.

And don't let the door hit you on the way out.

Sincerely,
Brian Eastwood
Secretary, Class of 1999

Dear Mom,
 At first when you told me to bring my little brother and sister along, I was less than thrilled with the idea. Although being cramped in the car with them was difficult at first, they soon became great travel companions. Keep you posted!
 Love,
 MC

Even as CHS students journey around school, they have their favorite scenery that they always take time to admire. While some students prefer to imagine themselves traveling out West, others use the murals to remind themselves of adventures such as trips to parades or to Boston. CHS students, while they enjoy all murals around the halls, do have three favorites.

A Picture is Worth a Thousand Words: Favorite Murals

1st Place: Hollywood (Cafe II)

CHS students look with longing at the yellow brick road and wonder if it could take them to Hollywood and fame.

2nd Place: Ocean (stairway by Whittier House)

To be free to swim with the fishes. What would it really be like? CHS students can only imagine.

3rd Place: Jungle (outside LH2)

The roar of the lion, the cry of the bird...To be able to reach out and touch a giraffe...

So many places to go, so many things to do! For many CHS students, vacations are something which occur too infrequently. Even when they do come, not only do they fly by, but they are also immemorable.

Traveling to an exotic place is a part of most people's dream vacations; the only problem is that students have a hard time choosing where to go. Does your dream vacation include a tour of Europe? What about a journey through the wilds of Africa? Or is your dream lying in the sun on a Carribean beach? The answers to this question may surprise you.

Where Do You Go, My Lovely?

- #1: Hawaii
- #2: Caribbean Island
- #3: Australia

Based on these choices, if CHS were moved to an island with warm weather, many beaches, exploding volcanoes, and unusual animals running around, most of the students here would be perfectly content.

With many of last year's team graduating, the Golf Team shows CHS that they know how to get back into the...

Swing of Things

All in all, if you asked anyone on the Golf Team, they would say that we had a good season. We got started pretty quickly and ended earlier than any other team. It was a tough schedule to play because of the many rained-out rescheduled matches. Some weeks we would have to play four matches in four days! Despite this grueling schedule we were able to win ten out of sixteen matches. We made it through and we all had fun. Good luck to all of the underclassmen and especially to Gerald and Hanna Banana.

Just Kickin' It

The Boy's Varsity Soccer Team had high expectations this season. We began our training during the summer and were all ready to play when the first game came around. We had a great first half of the year winning seven of our first nine games. We were able to compile eleven wins and play in the State Tournament for the second straight year.

Overall, the season was very exciting. The fans were great this year and gave the team much-needed support throughout. Everyone involved in this season was important to the team's success. We would like to thank those people and especially the team for their hard work and determination. Good luck to all of the underclassmen next year.

Just for Kicks

The season came and went so fast
The 98 season is now in our past
For our overall record feel no shame
We all played our hardest every game
Through the N.A ropes course we all did roam
And the ram 35 hauled us home
All eighteen players bonded this fall
The seniors kept order in the sophomore's stall
The wins were great but the losses hurt
Remember ladies: Tuck in your shirt

The game vs. Billerica was a sweaty mess
We pumped up for M.J. "Yes, yes!!"
Good luck to you next year though we're a part,
learn this from us seniors, play with your heart
It's sad the season was not a bit longer.
We went through aa lot but it made us all stronger
Wear a smile in all that you do
Until next time we willl "say a little prayer for you"

 Boxboro, the girls' Swim Team prepared to...

Make a Splash

On the team we have fifty-three,
 Our goal this year was to beat AB
 We laughed at the joke of the day,
 And wanted to swim on the "C" relay,
 No morning practice this year was great
 Caitlin Klick's cheers were always first rate
 We dressed crazy for every meet,
 And after, went to Papa Gino's to eat
 Sexy senior relays were number one
 For Halloween we made a bucket of fun
 Pasta dinners had good food
 Taking down the lane lines put us in a bad mood
 Once again we won the MVC,
 Only this year we were also undefeated, beating AB
 Thanks for all the fun,
 We'll never forget the night we won... Jamie & Meghan

Hit the Road

Once again the Boys' Cross Country Team continued their undefeated three-year streak of victory. Although Senior co-captain Sean McCarthy led the team in dual meets, the Lions' real strength was in the veteran captains Bill Sheridan and Martin Van Buren, as well as sophomore standouts John O' Connor and Steve Orr. Pat O'Shaugnessy also made his presence felt, becoming a key member of the varsity year of Cross Country. More than anybody, coaches Jim Durkin and Bill Christman pushed the team beyond all expectations and traditions to once again come out on top.

Set the Pace

This season was great, it went by so fast,
When we think back on it, we all had a blast.
This year we had an unusually big team
Twenty seven girls made Mr. Lang gleam.
We were like one big family, there were no secrets kept.
We have made friends forever, we have a lot of team pep.
Keith always ran with us, He's one of a kind,
When practice got started, He'd scream, "Hammer Time!"
Who can forget toilet papering night,
When 50 cops pulled us over, oh what a sight!
I know you'll miss us, it won't be the same,
When practice gets tough, find something to blame!

Thanks for a great season

Being League Champs this year, The Field Hockey Team had to practice long hours to keep from . . .

High Sticking

We started off strong with Heather in goal, giving orders to anyone she could control. Shannon stayed tough and drilled the ball away, While Annie pushed anyone that tried to stay. Dani and Adrienne gave their very best and ran much faster than the rest. Maggio's hits were right on course, where Alyssa and Ashley were our lead scoring force. Christine was sick but now she's back, and her playing has gotten right back on track. Maura always knows how to pull our team through, with her endurance and leadership, we all learned how too! Theresa and Bridget were quick and stayed low, while Kate and Julie knew just where to go. Krista and Walshy were fast at link and blew everyone by in just a blink. Stacey, Courtney, and Shaina do the best of them all, and the two Lindsey's and Streb are in for the long haul. Coach Devaney and Coach T. pushed us to our limit, but we survived and they helped us win it. Our team has been through its ups and downs, but in the end we have all found, That to be our best and work our hardest, we must be ready to go the farthest. Rain or shine we would meet, because we all knew that we were the team to beat!

Success was our choice because we believed, Good luck next year!

In a season rout over the Hillies, forwards Bridget and Alyssa use their speed to be first to the ball.

When Chelmsford's Football Team came through with a big "W" during the last seconds of the Thanksgiving Day game, they showed they could really...

Tear Up the Field

This season was an uphill climb for us. We started down at the bottom where nobody expected anything great from us. Maybe people still don't think we did anything great, but from the eyes of this team, we did do something; we turned the football program around.

After the 0-3-1 start, it didn't look like we were going to amount to a "hill of beans," but we pulled together as a team, as a family, and finished winning five out of the last six games to have the first winning season here in three years. There are many things we could attribute to our winning record. Whether it be Mohawks, the Shoe-Nazi, up-downs, "hot shots", Coach Moran, or even a simple nickname, the bottom line is we did it. So we hope that the underclassmen have many exciting wins like we did on Turkey Day (thanks Mounsey), and that they keep the program on the rise. If you still don't think CHS is back on top, we have two words for ya... "Lions Rule!" Good Luck next year from the seniors.

While the boys won the games, its the Girl's Cheerleading Team that kept up the support of the crowd. This year these girls worked hard at new routines and moves that constantly amazed those in the stands. Though nothing ever comes easy, with determination and hard work these girls showed that they could make the cut.

This spirited group of girls dazzled the school with their stunts at the pep rally and the hallways with their signs before big games. But, when mentioning school spirit the Lions must not be overlooked. Seniors Brent Hann and Lea Perrault and junior Tara O'Connor showed off their Lion pride throughout the entire season. Hot Shots

The Boys' Basketball Team had another successful season. After a slow start we accumulated huge wins over Westford Academy (finished 22-2) and the State Champions, Central Catholic.

The team finished strong winning nine out of their last 10 regular season games. For the second straight year, we produced a First Round State Tournament win over Lexington High School before falling to the Medford Mustangs in a hard fought game.

We would like to thank the coaches Charlie Micol, Dave Witney, Mike Winn, Mike O'Keefe, and Bob Sullivan for a successful season. We would also like to thank the best fans in the Merrimack Valley for creating such an exciting atmosphere. Finally, team of 99-00, good luck; you'll need it (J/K)! Don't forget Hart Attack, Too low, and Dinner and a Movie!

Captains Dan Craig,
Adam McCusker,
Dan Hart

Dan Hart and Co-Captain Dan Craig proved to be inspirational leaders of their team. During their tremendous win against #2 ranked Central Catholic, Dan Craig shot the basket which sent the team into overtime while Dan Hart made the winning shot leading the team to a triumphant 77-75 victory.

Nothing but Net

To define the word success, one must not look solely at the win/loss record. Of course that is important, but our definition of success goes beyond that: to learn, to have fun, to put forth full efforts in all situations, to discover ourselves, and to enjoy one another as teammates, and as friends. We did just that. The result may not be what we wanted or anticipated, but we sure did learn, and develop into better people while having fun. And therefore we have achieved success!! Keep it up. Yo Yo Yo, Wsup gangstas? DOOO it. C.H.S. for Life. ALL RIGHT JANICE. Keep laughing and smiling Lions!

Make Waves

"This season has been one of the best in the history of the Chelmsford High School Swim Team. Under the leadership of our excellent coaches, Don Benson and Mike Wardwell, the team swam to a perfect conference record and once again captured the MVC title. Even more impressive was our unprecedented victory over Chelmsford's archrival, Acton Boxboro. Our team has tremendous depth and will no doubt continue to plow through the opponents in the coming years.

Well-deserved accolades go to our coaches and swimmers for their commitment and dedication throughout the season. We would like to thank them for the great victories and the great memories that have come as a result, and we wish them much luck for the future."

Tumble Time

Four years, 50 rips, 12 sprained ankles and 1,000 bruises later we have finally reached the end of the runway. As our season comes to a close, we look back and smile remembering our struggles and triumphs. This year we have all grown as athletes, as well as individuals.

We worked together, not only in the gym but outside as well, forming close bonds that we will take with us forever. Between the Applebee's coloring contest and the "tickle-me Blue Man", we have shared many memories and good laughs.

No one would have guessed that we started this year differently with Angie, our new head coach. Everyone came together very well as a team. The support of Miss Jill led us to complete our routines to the best of our ability, in hopes of a pink mentos! We had endless support from our little Lion Meghan, who cheered her heart out, and our own tight-rope walking Fred!! Thanks to all who supported us through our wins and our losses, we now bid you farewell as we vault into our future!!

Photo Finish

This year's team showed remarkable dedication and commitment both in training and in meets. Although we lost many key seniors last year, our young team made up for it by working hard and filling in the gaps. Mr. Christman, Durk, Lenny, Mr. Chamberas, and Obes trained us hard early on in the season and our work paid off. We finished with a respectable 5-2 record while qualifying our front runners for the state meet. We showed excellent depth thanks to sophmores and juniors who will return to solid team next year.

The strong seniors in each event led us to victory, Huy Trivers and Pat Long in the sprints, Dan Leahy and Steve Jacoby in the shot put, Bill Sheridan and Matt Corota in middle distance, and Sean McCarthy, Phil Coddair, and Brian Eastwood topped off the distance crew. The senior's leadership and hard work since the early part of the season paved the way for a successful year.

The entire track team and coaching staff would like to thank Mr. Christman, our head coach, for his years of dedication to the Chelmsford High track program. We would all like to express our appreciation for his years of devotion to the students and athletes of Chelmsford High. Good luck in the future, Wild Bill!

Road to Victory

This season was exciting, it went by fast
For all of us seniors, this winter season was our last.
Winter practice is always cold, and especially chilly,
Remember those long runs? On man were they hilly!
The throwers were awesome, they throw with great might,
They scored tons of points, they did it just right.
The sprinters ran fast, right out of thier blocks,
Their incredible speed, put opposing teams in shock.
Mr. Lang is our coach, he's been here for 25 years,
He helps us to win and to overcome our fears.
This season we wanted to try something new,
To get the team pumping,we figured out what to do,
Team warm-up and stretches was just right,
To get the team going and ready to fight.
The team was filled with a lot of new faces,
They helped out in all of the races.
We have many memories, we will keep in our hearts,
Keep our streak going, you all do your part.

Thanks for a great season!

This year's hockey squad was a success on and off of the ice. Together as a team we worked to achieve our goals. This year's team was different from others due to the team unity. We have a group of kids that love to be together and work to make each other's jobs a lot easier. This year we had the new locker room to start off the season which was and was a most excellent bonus. Good luck to up coming players and underclassmen. Strong Hold

The season began with many high hopes and expectations for the team had many returning starters, and some very promising new faces. The first meet was quite momentous; a decisive win over Shawsheen Tech gave Coach Rich his 300th career win. Success continued for the Lions, but it did not come easy. Every member of the team worked hard to stay victorious. Practices were much harder than those of previous years, and the tempo was raised to a fevered pitch. The team only hoped that their hard work would not be wasted, and that their success would continue throughout the season and for many years to come. Good luck next year!

BOSTON Harvard University

Center of Intellectual Expansion

Harvard students are among the top students in the country. Their desire for learning reflects their academic success and motivation to do their best. At Harvard, there is a wide variety of interests which makes for a diverse community. Like the students of Harvard University, the Chelmsford High School members of the National, French, and Spanish Honor Societies are students with great academic success. Entrance into these three prestigious societies are difficult but these students are up to the challenge.

National Honor Society members are students who are motivated to help others. They are always in search of community service projects to do, whether it's tutoring their peers or running a can drive to help the less fortunate. These students not only possess great academic talent, but also have good character and leadership skills. The members of the French Honor Society are students who have excelled in their French classes. They go the extra mile to perfect their speaking skills and have displayed a genuine love for the French language. In the past years, the French Honor Society have collected and delivered clothes during the holiday season to help those less fortunate. The Spanish Honor Society members include students who have also shown their love for the Spanish language. These students have succeeded in their classes and have been recognized for their wonderful Spanish speaking skills. All the members of these societies have one thing in common; they are the scholars of CHS.

Washington, DC

The Capitol

The Land of Leaders

Students at CHS make themselves known in various ways: some demonstrate athletic skills, some prove academic ability, and still some receive recognition for giving others the spotlight. These are the leaders of CHS. The elected representatives of the Classes of 2000, 2001, and 2002 work diligently to host events for both their classes and the school, much like the incumbents in Washington. They devote many hours to planning dances and class fundraisers, unifying their respective classes, and encouraging students to take part in all that CHS makes available to them, in addition to mobilizing class spirit for the annual November Spirit Week competition.

Much like the class representatives, the Student Council attempts to contribute to the positive humor at CHS by sponsoring events for the students and faculty, however the Student Council also reaches out to the community. Members organize events like toy drives, blood drives, can drives, as well as volunteer at local nursing homes and homeless shelters.

Far more important than the specific projects these students run are the leadership qualities they possess. They have the ability to appeal to their classmates and community members alike to make a positive difference in the lives of others. These students truly are the presidents, congresspeople, and diplomats of our community, and have enough potential to land them in our nation's capital!

● 2002 Class Reps are busy working on their first ever mural for Spirit Week. Good Luck Girls, only three more to go!

● Jared no one understands you!! the Student Council members are thinking as they listen to him during the Fall Lock-in.

● The Class of 2000 Reps are hard at work preparing for Spirit Week. They know that the seniors are the class to beat this year.

United Nations Building

Building a Bridge of Awareness

The United Nations Building in New York is one of the most important buildings in the United States. It is here that Representatives of the United Nations come to settle disputes or international problems that they are facing. Within the corridors and meeting rooms of this building, these Representatives work towards finding solutions to these problems in a diplomatic way. In order to be successful, the Representatives must be able to become aware of each other's problems and from there, work their way towards a solution.

The International Relations Club at CHS has had the opportunity to join other high schools at Harvard University where they participated in a model United Nations. These students become representatives of a country, whether rich or poor, and they must confront other country representatives with their problems. From that point on, they must try to solve these problems using the research they had done previous to arriving at Harvard. These students might not be successful, but they will have learned what it would be like to be a representative from the United Nations. DECA is one of the most popular clubs at CHS. This club allows business students to learn and experience what it would be like to be a businessperson in the real world. Using the information they have learned in class and their own knowledge of the subject, these students compete with other high school students in mock situations. For the day of the competition, they could be a manager at a big corporation or a supervisor facing a problem with an employee. These DECA students are then judged on their performance within these situations. The American Field Service, also known as AFS, is an interesting yet fun club to be a member of. Similar to a foreign exchange program, CHS students have an opportunity to visit a country and a student from that country has a chance to come back to Chelmsford for a short visit. Last summer CHS's own student, Kristin Lomicka, visited Finland. It was fun and education and a chance of a lifetime for Kristin. Being able to travel and visit another country allows a student to broaden his/her horizons. All three of these clubs are making CHS become more aware of its surroundings; they are building a bridge of awareness.

● Kristin Lomicka receives a welcome back hug from Tarandeep Gandhi after her return from Finland.

Carnegie Hall

Making Music for the World

Carnegie Hall is the most famous music hall in which only the most renowned choirs, orchestras, and bands perform. This great hall demands that all performers must display their highest standards. During the 1998 Carnegie Hall concert series, selected choirs, bands, and orchestras were given the opportunity to perform in this famous hall. They want to show the world that music is their passion. For many musicians, being able to perform at Carnegie Hall is the peak moment in their lives.

The marching band, concert band, jazz band, and orchestra are the Carnegie Hall performers of CHS. During the fall season, the marching band had successfully kept the crowds alive at the football games. Playing upbeat and happy songs, they managed to get other CHS students on their feet dancing and cheering for the football team. Even on those bitter and cold nights, we could all count on the CHS marching band to keep the school spirit alive. The concert band is constantly giving evening concerts in which parents and friends are invited to sample their music. Many of these concerts are filled with wonderful melodies that make the audiences want to hear more. These students possess a passion to play and create music. The jazz band is a small group composed of a few selected students. These students perform in concerts, in which they play music with great rhythm and beat. The songs they play makes you want to get up and dance. The orchestra is composed of talented students who play string instruments and some winds. Their performances are wonderful and the music they play is outstanding. The songs they play can get difficult, but because they possess such a love for their instruments, they can overcome this minor obstacle very easily. The CHS orchestra had the chance to visit Austria, where they had the opportunity to show that they are talented musicians. Most people would not be surprised if the members of the bands at CHS performed at Carnegie Hall one day in the future.

● These guys mean business when it comes to playing music at these football games. Thanks to the CHS band for keeping the spirit alive at the games.

● Drum major Melissa Consalvo is ready to lead the CHS marching band into another lively song.

● This sax player is concentrated on playing the correct notes.

● These guys are getting ready to give another wonderful half-time show. The band keeps up team spirit for a home victory.

● The drummers are marching to the beat of their own drums and are ready to make some noise. Seniors Kevin and Derek lead the pack.

New York Broadway

Where Stars Are Born

Each day at Chelmsford High School, teachers and administration witness the amazing talents of CHS students, talents ranging from superior mathematical ability to outstanding examples of student leadership. However, there is one talent in particular that continues to surpass most: dramatic talent. CHS is most fortunate to have such a wealth of dynamic individuals with a keen interest in performance, and is constantly granted opportunities to enjoy such talents through shows run by the student body. Who needs New York City? We have our own Broadway right here at CHS!

Students are able to participate in drama and to express their stage tendencies through two specific groups. The Role Playing Club, a small group of students who share a similar interest in acting, meets leisurely but unfortunately does not sponsor any kind of event to display their work. The Theatre Guild, however, under the leadership of Mr. Chris Chew, works strenuously to present a fall show and children's play to the Chelmsford community each year. In addition, the Theatre Guild is heavily involved in the annual spring musical sponsored by the CHS Music Department.

This year, the Theatre Guild presented All My Sons, a poignant drama by Arthur Miller, as well as The Lying King, an original piece written entirely by Theatre Guild members.

And though it seems as though two performances a year would eat up all of the Guild's time, members still find the time to participate in the Massachusetts Drama Festival, an annual statewide play competition. Last year, CHS students placed seventh with their performance of their fall show, One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest.

The students truly are the best actors and actresses around, and with a little time, CHS may lose them to the Big Apple! Break a leg, guys!

● Jeff, Ethan, Sam, and Suraj light up the stage with their dramatic performances in All My Sons.

● Cast members of One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest proudly display their awards after achieving semi-finalist status at a statewide play competition in March 1998. Great Job!

Miami Inner City

Lending A Hand To Those In Need

Fortunately, Chelmsford High School is a community that has been blessed with a safe location and comforting environment. Most communities, however, are not as fortunate. Areas like inner city Miami, for example, have become so accustomed to tragedy and grief that such conditions have become a way of life. Several students at Chelmsford High School have recognized the misfortunes that exist in society, and rather than to accept such negativity, these students have made constant efforts to improve their surroundings.

A community service group entitled The Thomas Jefferson Forum has been a growing source of aid to the Chelmsford area and beyond. One of their focuses as an organization is work with senior citizens. TJF annually hosts the L.I.F.E. Games, an event filled with fun games and activities for the seniors. This day-long activity is not only an opportunity for seniors to leave their homes for a while, but it is also an opportunity for friendships to be made! TJF focuses on other aspects of community service as well. In the fall, members venture to Boston to volunteer at the City Year Project where they spend the day helping underprivileged communities. In the past, volunteers have painted school buildings, cleaned parks, and assembled playgrounds. TJF also promotes student participation in The Walk For Hunger and other such events.

SADD is another group that works to improve the lives of others. Members of Students Against Drunk Driving spend time each year hosting events and educating CHS students of the dangers of alcohol and its affects on teens. They hope to serve as role models of responsible behavior while also providing fun and alcohol-free opportunities for students. Just before each prom, SADD organizes the Trinity Trauma Mock Accident for seniors and their prom dates. Last year, members also organized a candle light vigil in memory of CHS student Billy Taylor who was killed in a tragic car accident last September.

A third outreach organization at CHS is STAND. Much like Students Against Drunk Driving, Students Against Negative Decisions is a group focused on preventing teen drug abuse and other pressured teen choices. Members attend conferences and workshops to learn innovative ways to educate CHS about drugs, while also coordinating events that promote drug-free behavior. In addition, STAND also sponsors the Freshman Buddy Program, an opportunity for incoming freshmen to meet upperclassmen and learn more about CHS.

Lastly, students also have the opportunity to help the community through SEARCH. Students Entertaining And Reaching out to Children in Hospitals gives members an opportunity to brighten the lives of sick children. In the past, students have visited patients, purchased gifts, sent care packages, and raised money for needy organizations.

Each of these groups has a unique purpose, however they all share the same goal: helping others. These students possess a maturity and a wisdom far beyond their years, and while their activities do not take place at CHS, their kindness is felt here too!

● Thomas Jefferson Forum members help at City Year in Boston last year. Felix, Mark, and Neil rake leaves while Karl, Vivian, and Cegeon paint the gym at Dorchester Elementary School. Watch out Mary Ellen, it seems like Meaghan has something else in mind! Keep up the great work, guys!

NASA

Explorations into the Unknown

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is a United States agency that conducts research of flight beyond the earth's atmosphere. The agency is composed of only the most intelligent scientists, engineers, and technicians. NASA's major accomplished goal was when the Apollo spacecraft became the first to ever bring humans to the moon. From its beginning, many people were pessimistic about the venture, NASA explorers proved them wrong. NASA has always and will always make explorations into the unknown.

The CHS calculus team is composed of very talented student mathematicians. These competitive students possess a high interest in the calculus area. They meet each week and discuss math problems that are not normally part of the course curriculum. Followed by weeks of intensive practices, the calculus team goes and competes against other high schools at state, New England, and national levels. Like the calculus team, the computer team consists of talented students who have a great understanding of computers. These geniuses can overcome any challenging programming problem due to their weekly rigorous team practices. The computer club also goes and competes against other high schools in very difficult competitions. The math team is a team composed of students with an interest in pre-calculus. Joining the calculus and computer teams in their NASA-like efforts is the CHS math team. Facing challenging problems that are difficult to solve, these students work hard at it until they get it right. The math team also has the opportunity to compete with other high schools in Math division and state competitions. The Rufus Porter society is an excellent club for students who wish to further their understanding in the science area. In doing so, these students have the opportunity to hear guest speakers and take field trips. The club concentrates mainly on environmental sciences. So, if you want to learn more about science and environmental studies, join this club! These four clubs have done what the NASA explorers have already done; these students have gone beyond their class work and explored the unknown.

NEW ORLEANS

The French Quarter

Harmony in the Air

New Orleans is well known for its musical history and grand celebration of Mardi Gras. The festivities held on Mardi Gras are wonderful, filled with parades and music. Music always brings cheer to people, making them want to dance and sing along. The night air is filled with jubilant voices singing wonderful festive songs. These songs create a fun atmosphere for those who are there to share in the wonderful celebration. Voices have the power to create a spirit of happiness.

Chelmsford High School has its own group of singers who can always create a festive mood. The treble choir, concert choir, and vocal jazz ensemble are composed of students who have great voices and can bring music to people's ears. Each year, these students give performances in school concerts allowing parents, friends, and family to sample their talent. Many of the songs they sing are on a serious note, but there are few songs that are very fun and festive, causing the audience to want to get up and dance to the music. Although the concerts are not that long, the songs these choruses sing always leave a lasting impression with the audience. These singers are having fun at what they do best and at the same time, they are putting harmony in the air.

● These three chorus girls are so happy to be here and are ready to sing a lovely song for us to hear. Come on girls, let's hear it.

● The chorus students seem to be restless. Better give them a song to sing or a riot might arise.

The Rockies

Straight To The Top!

Students at Chelmsford High School are faced with constant challenges, whether they be academic, athletic, or extra curricular. Like climbing a mountain, students start off small but eventually make their way to the top. Unwavering dedication to their goals and development of their talents puts them on the path to success, and in the end, only the best make it to the top!

Several groups at CHS have shown such excellence, however they have not received the accolades they deserve. One such group is the Ski Club. Although members do not compete, they possess a keen talent for the slopes. Last April during school vacation, the Club spent a week in Aspen at some of the most challenging mountains in the world. This year they planned a trip to France to try their skills on the snowy peaks of the Alps. With a passion for their sport and an enthusiasm for travel, these students certainly are among the best!

Another group that has demonstrated superior achievement is The Voice, the school newspaper. The editors that contribute to this production devote countless hours each week collecting, editing, and organizing stories to place in each issue. The Voice has been awarded several times for its creativity, artistic components, and overall appearance at various state and national journalism competitions.

Mosaics is yet another group that supports a creative expression of ideas. Members work hard to pool together an array of art samples, creative writing, and other prose for its annual issue. While this group is often overlooked, their hard work yields the single best way to view the talent of CHS students.

Lastly, the TV Club is another group dedicated to promoting the talents of CHS students. Members are present at every CHS event to film student activities for various news shows. In particular, students are responsible for athletic commentaries and footage of school committee meetings, in addition to many other community-sponsored activities.

While the natures of these groups are all quite unique, they all share a common excellence among them. With tireless efforts and unyielding dedication to goals, these students prove that they have what it takes to make it to the top!

●Voice editors Will, Amanda, Suman, and Patty Jo plan their next issue. Will is responsible for all of the wacky artwork and graphics, Amanda writes about CHS activities, and Patty Jo discusses the latest news. Suman works with Chiraag Bains, Editor In Chief, to oversee the general operations of the staff. Great work, guys!

●Smiles all around on top of the mountain in Colorado. The Ski Club ventured here last April during school vacation. What a view!

California

Los Angeles

The Melting Pot

Too often in society, people are discriminated against on the basis of such superficial things as color, race, religion, or appearance. However, in large cities like Los Angeles, diversity is a way of life, and differences are celebrated, not shunned. Several groups at Chelmsford High School have worked to achieve a similar environment: one full of diversity and free of judgement.

Two years ago, now-seniors Erica Willis and Chrisanthi Tsingos started an organization called Unity in Diversity in order to educate students about various cultures. Last February, members of UID created displays as part of their focus on Black History Month. Later in the year, the group brought News 4 anchor Liz Walker to CHS to speak to students about discrimination and her encounters with it. At the start of the 1998-1999 school year, UID also hosted an Ethnic Dinner at the Chelmsford Elks for CHS and the community to enjoy an array international foods. In the future, the organization hopes to continue to educate students about diversity through such events as film festivals and trips.

Best Buddies is a second group at CHS that encourages diversity. It consists of special needs students as well as student Buddies who spend time outside of school together. The Buddies have gone shopping and bowling, while also attending school dances and other events. These students are not only appreciating their differences, but they're having fun!

Yet another group of students at CHS that tries to encourage diversity is the Mustard Seed Bible Club. Mustard Seed members encourage a slightly different type of diversity. They serve as a role model for students for making moral and just decisions by supporting religious study of all types. The group hopes not to be seen as merely a religious organization, but rather a gathering of several unique individuals making a common effort to improve the environment of CHS, an admirable goal that each of these organizations has pledged itself to. Such positivity is precious, and CHS is fortunate to be exposed to it!

● Erica and Chrisanthi, the founders of Unity and Diversity, pose with News 4 anchor Liz Walker. The girls arranged an assembly for Walker to speak to CHS students last year.

● Members of Best Buddies share good times! Tom poses with friend John O'Connor, while Gina, Phil, Michael, and Kristy enjoy a story.

NEW HAMPSHIRE SCENICS

Dear Mom,
It's times like these that I'm glad we consulted a travel agent first! Passing through California, all the maps and brochures helped us stay on track and led us to some of the most amazing sights we've ever seen. Their guidance has made this trip possible.

Dear Mom,
 Sorry if this comes out a bit messy but I'm writing in the car. We are in the middle of the desert in Arizona, and the only things to entertain us are the billboards. Surprisingly enough, there is a billboard every mile or so. Oh well, I guess this is life when you are on the road...

As We Look Towards Our Next
DESTINATION

We Remember The

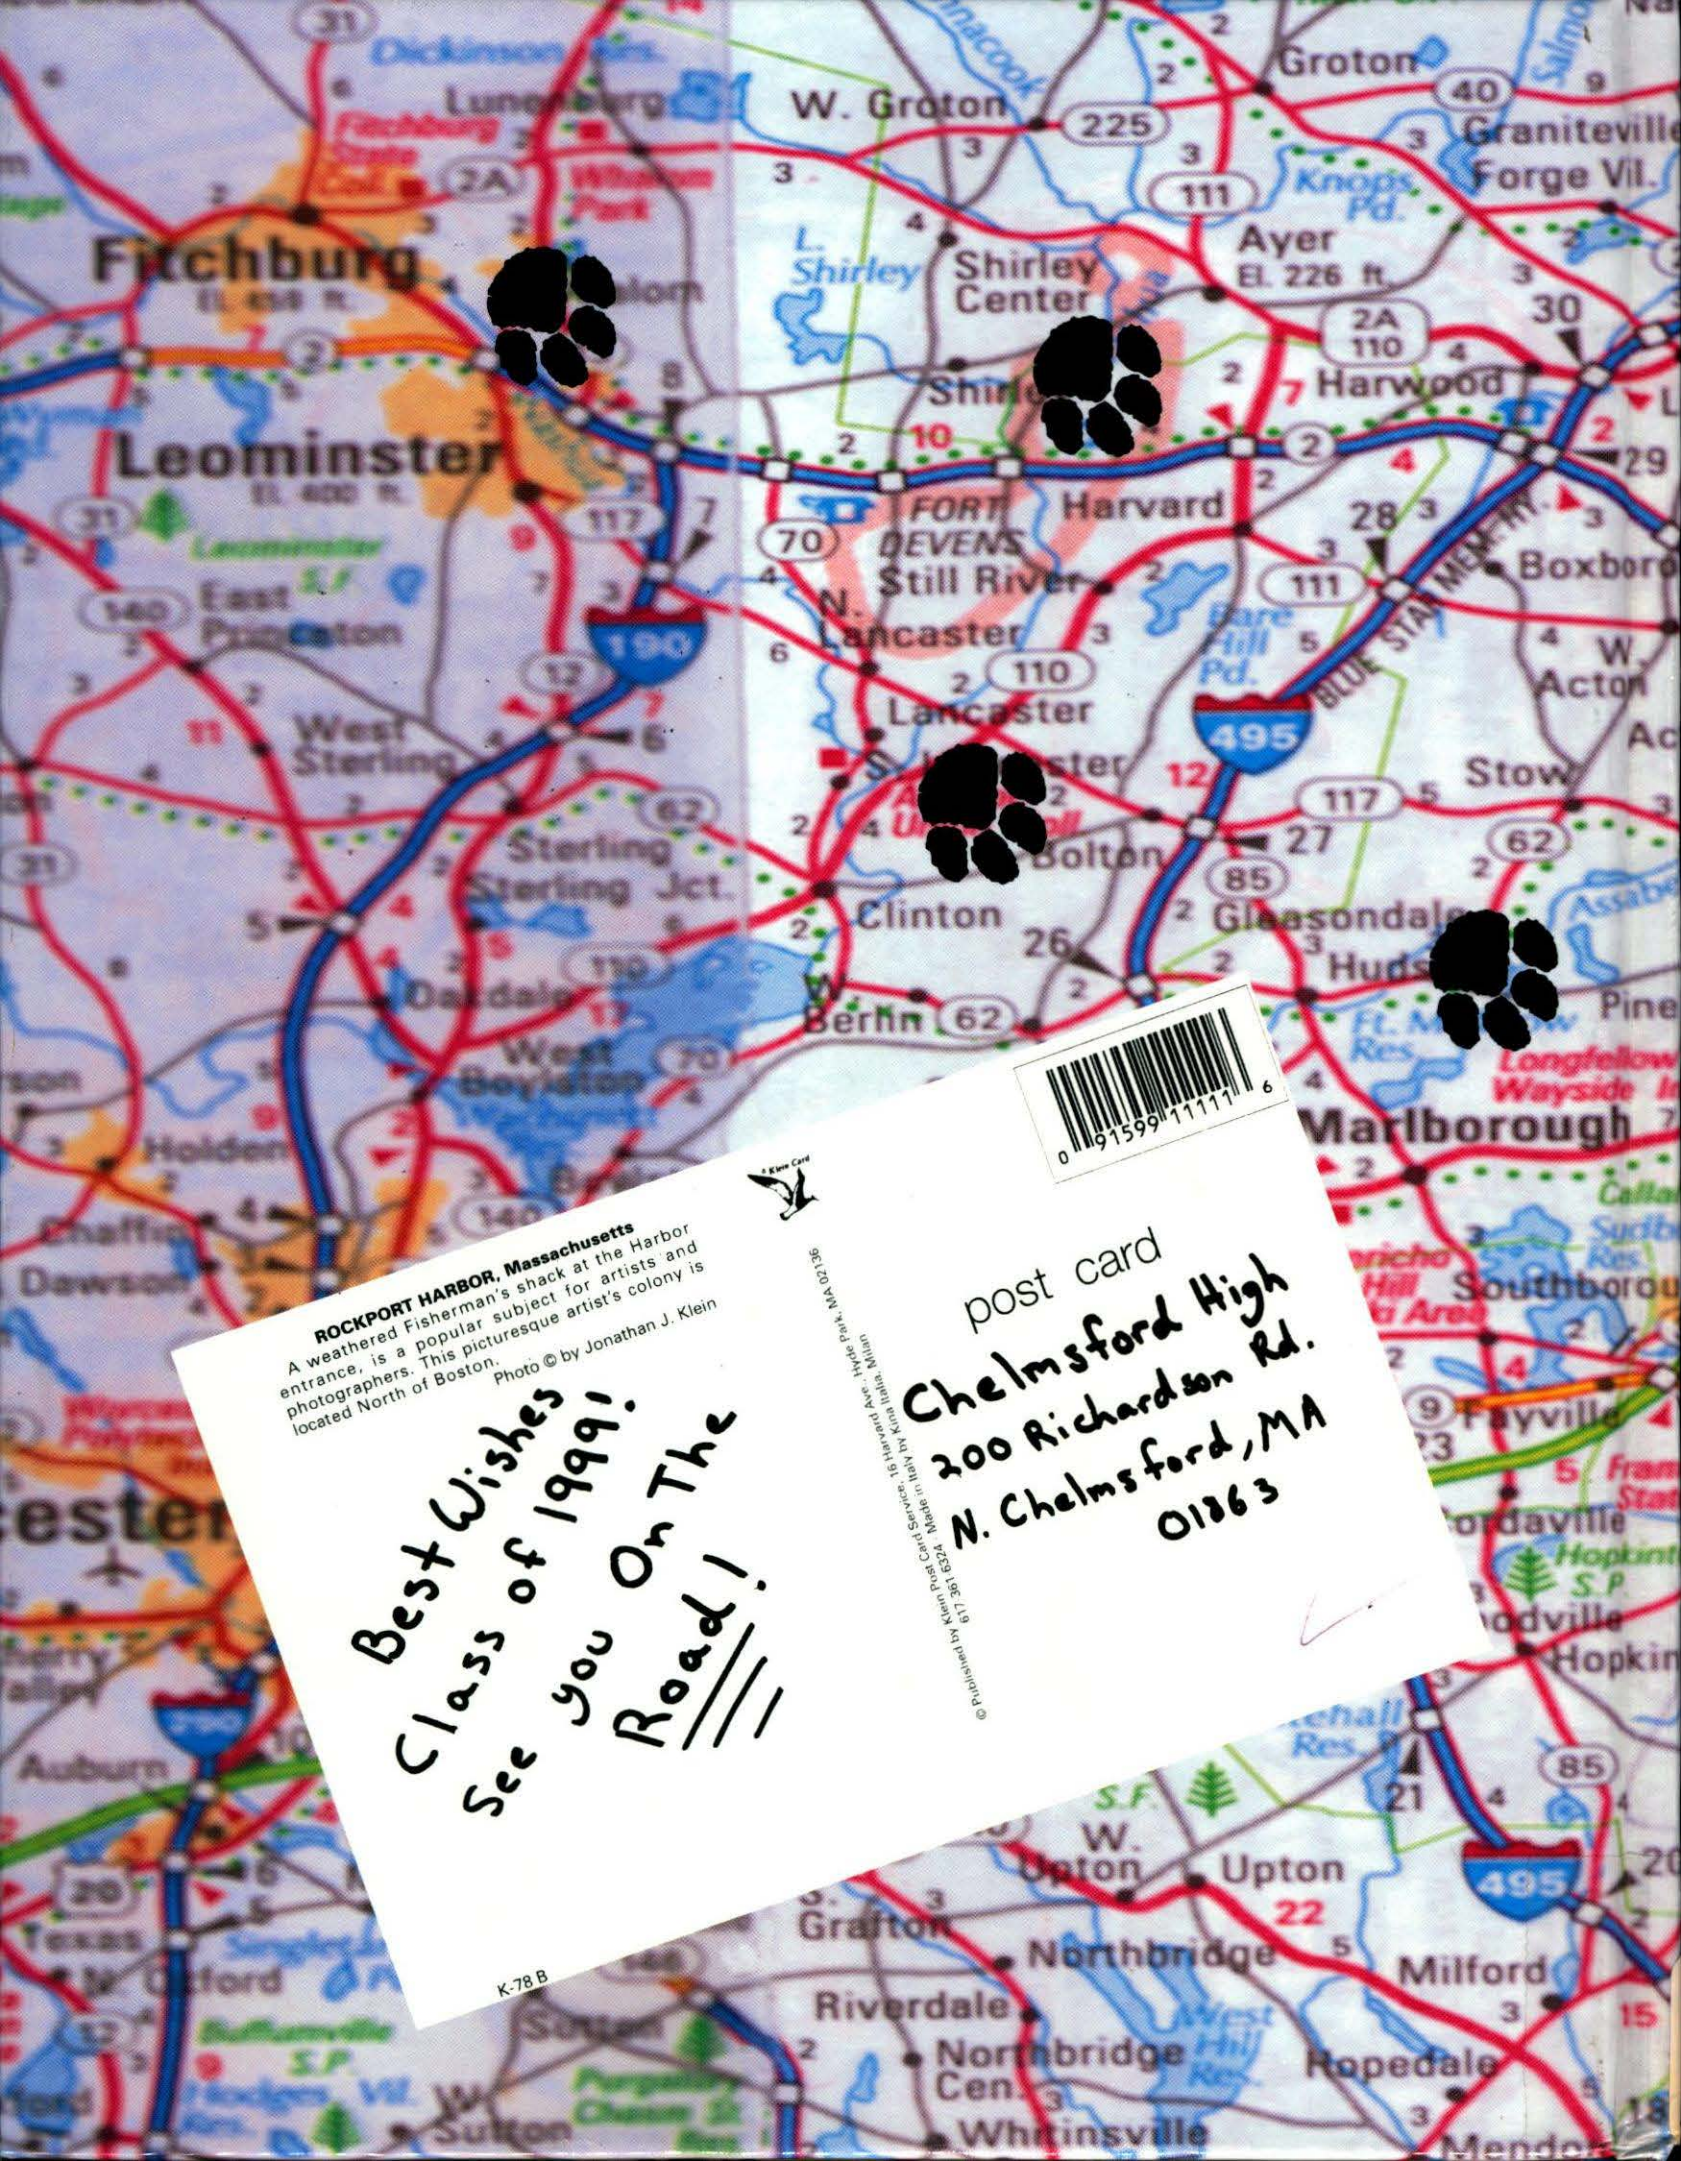

ROAD

That Brought Us Here

"The sun is high The Road is wide and starts where we are standing. No one knows how far it goes, for The Road is never ending..."

ROCKPORT HARBOR, Massachusetts
A weathered Fisherman's shack at the Harbor entrance, is a popular subject for artists and photographers. This picturesque artist's colony is located North of Boston.
