1984 — Negative utopias — not in Chelm sand, not by any means. We are needed again to warn. A very vivid, that is, profound. We are soldiers for peace, freedom, and strength.
Chelmsford High School students are the positive dimension of George Orwell's 1984.

1984: we are the affirmation. This year 1984, we salute you: to the future or to the past, to a time when thought is free, when men are diff erent from one another and do not live alone — to a time when truth exists and what is done cannot be undone — greetings.

The students at Chelmsford High School candidly participate in various aspects of education, inclusive of truth, plenty, peace, and love: the Ministry of Truth involves the students' search for awareness and understanding; the Ministry of Plenty involves the students' application of resourceful knowledge; the Ministry of Peace involves the students' efforts to eliminate hostilities within themselves; the Ministry of Love involves the students' desire to develop harmonious relationships. Throughout the day, the students experience each dimension to discover their actualized education. In 1984, Chelmsford High School is "a place where there is no darkness . . ."

No senior class can have a successful year without good guidance. They need someone who understands the importance of senior life, someone who wants to make their last year special, memorable. That unique person is needed to inspire enthusiasm and then direct that zeal in constructive activities. The Class of 1984 is most fortunate to have two such people — Mrs. Anne O'Bryant and Mr. Dick O'Donnell. Having guided these students for three years, they have become more than advisors — they are truly members of the class. They have accompanied the students to dances, beaches, mountains, distant cities, and foreign countries. It is with enormous gratitude and affection that the Class of 1984 dedicates its yearbook to Mrs. O'Bryant and Mr. O'Donnell.
ENTHUSIASM (én-tho'zē-az'ēm, in' hooz'-eaz'ēm) n. I. a. Rapturous interest b. ardent fondness or eagerness; zeal 2. A subject or activity that inspires a lively interest.

The spirited seniors are full of enthusiasm. They are committed to making their last year at Chelmsford High School one that is exciting and rewarding. They have attended school functions with a liveliness that has animated their class spirit. They have participated in special senior events that have molded wonderful memories: ski trips, shopping in New York City, vacationing in Quebec, senior week. They have brought to life their dreams of senior year. They have been a role model for other classes to follow. They will graduate, knowing that the Class of 1984 made an impact on Chelmsford High School.

The 1984 Lion contains the fond memories of our three years at Chelmsford High School. As I write this message, I am reflecting upon all the good times we have had together. The Lion captures and preserves these times. Upon every opening of this yearbook, memories will be set free and come alive. The three years we have spent together at Chelmsford High School will never leave us. The spirit and unity of this class will live long after June 3, 1984.

I thank our class advisors, Mr. O'Donnell and Mrs. O'Bryant; the class officers, Paul Arenstam, Sara Coffey, and Erin Sheehy; and every member of the senior class for making this a fantastic year. You are all the greatest! Chelmsford High School has given us the foundation upon which we shall build the rest of our lives. It is now up to us to reach our individual goals. I wish everyone one of you great successes.

Always remember the Class of 1984, the friends with whom you shared your high school years.

Stuart Barwise
Senior Class President
The senior class officers and representatives are an integral part of the Class of 1984. Both the officers and representatives organize social activities and class fundraisers. The main goals of this elected group are to promote class unity and spirit. Acting as leaders for the entire senior class is a responsibility that requires much time and effort. The officers do most of the pre-organizational planning for class events, and, in a sense, are the administration for the seniors. Working in conjunction with the officers are the representatives, who publicize and organize the final stages of the events. These unselfish, hard-working groups successfully join together, always keeping in mind the varied interests of the entire senior class.

A silent thought, a secret tear,
a constant wish that you were here.
Never forgotten.
For to live in the hearts of those we leave behind is not to die.
Formerly our classmate,
forever our friend.

Submitted by Dawn Cady

Michael Naples
Your name, alone, reminds us of good old days gone past.
To ease the pain your leaving made
we were forced to grow up fast.
We can't be sad, but we have cried.
We came together when you died,
because you touched so many lives.
Your smile and laughter may only be just echoes in our minds, but there's still a place for you inside.

Your voice is quiet in our hearts,
and your love will be remembered.
We will take it with us through our lives and keep it all forever.

SADLY missed,
Friends

"Say, Say, Say," Paul McCartney and Michael Jackson

Many of us hope for success. It does not come easy, though. We have to work hard to achieve it. Success begins with a dream and grows with imagination. In 1984, many people have made their dreams come true. There have been a numerous amount of successes in the theater, an outstanding one being the movie "Flashdance". Jennifer Beals not only performed creatively, but she also began a fashion trend. Her unusual technique of dancing was imitated, and ripped sweatshirts became everyday apparel. Jennifer Beals' styles will long be remembered, even after our muscles are too brittle to flex and our sweatshirts are outgrown.

One of the most outstanding television movies this year was M*A*S*H. The final two-hour episode was watched by millions of people. Although the break-up left fans sad, this episode was a smash. M*A*S*H will be remembered as one of the greatest series ever.

A very successful musical figure was Michael Jackson. His "Thriller" excited the music world. The video "Beat It" displayed his talent as a skillful dancer. Michael Jackson had many hits that provided hours of listening and dancing pleaser for today's youth.

There were also many hit songs which have left their imprint. Def Leppard's "Pyromania" hit the charts as did the Police's "Synchronicity" album. Culture Club, ZZ Top, and Van Halen also reached the charts with outstanding results.
Impressive sports figures became topics of discussion, also. Carl Yastrzemski retired after twenty-three years of baseball. Not only does he hold the record for most games played, but he is the only American Leaguer to have 400 home runs and 3000 hits. He is now rocking on his laurels. Other sports personalities who achieved great success are Kitty and Peter Carruthers. All viewers experienced a sense of pride as the sister and brother figure-skating pair earned a Silver Medal at the Winter Olympics.

A famous politician whose name will be in history books, of course, is President Ronald Reagan. He began as an actor and was elected Mr. President. His "Reaganomics" became a new word in the political dictionary. Two major changes that took place were his increase in the military budget and his cut-backs in social programs. His choice to run for re-election surprised no one. As for the outcome of the 1984 election... who knows?

A 1984 heroine was Sally Ride. She accomplished a great feat by being the first woman to travel in space. Her maiden voyage was in "Challenger", a unique space shuttle. Sally displayed great courage, as did her male comrades.

These peoples' dreams came true, so why can't yours? George Orwell stated that one's future is "...only his own secret imaginations, founded on a dream." If you strive hard enough to achieve a goal, you can be successful, too! You have all that is necessary to start—just begin with a dream and make it come true.

Will President Reagan be ceded in the next election?

There she is, Miss America!

Yaz is a real hit on his final day.

Sally Ride's spacious smile is an inspiration.

The fans figured that this ice skating pair, Kitty and Peter Carruthers, would bring home a medal.
Many things happen in our lives for which we have no control. We must take the bad with the good, developing a balance between the two that allows us to cope.

One of the hardest aspects to accept about life is death. Perhaps it is because the timing is not always appropriate or reasonable. At thirty-two years old, Karen Carpenter's voice was as delicate as a songbird. But she suffered from anorexia, a disease that became fatal for her. Still, her music teaches that each person should live life to the fullest, that each new day is a new beginning. Listening to her music on the radio is a reminder that man is a mortal being, even if it is untimely.

Another aspect of life that is difficult to accept is losing. The twelve meter race for the World Cup, between the Liberty and the Australia II, demonstrated this. It was impossible to predict who would win until the very last meter of the race. The Liberty, unfortunate for the United States, lost. But they only lost the cup! What they gained throughout the race was suspense and excitement. The spirit of competition brought cheers from the crowds. Sure the Liberty lost the race, but the crew and the spectators had a wonderful opportunity to become involved in an adventure. This situation helped to put in perspective our need for good sportsmanship versus our need to win. Congratulations, Australia III! Thank you, Liberty!

One of the more devastating aspects with which our society must deal is nuclear war. The made-for-television movie, The Day After, portrayed visions of such an event. ABC attracted millions of viewers by airing the show. Although the movie was only a simulated situation, it left a feeling of horror among those who watched. Reading about Hiroshima and Nagasaki is not as effective as seeing our town and our families being killed in a nuclear holocaust. Let's hope that the Nuclear Arms Race does not become a race to the finish!
There are certain devastating events which we will never forget. The downing of KAL Flight 007 was one of them. Two hundred and sixty-nine passengers were killed on this Korean Airlines. This occurred one dark, September morning; it will leave the lives of many families in darkness forever. After the crash, 100,000 people assembled in a Seoul stadium to mourn the dead. Whether the pilots of the Korean airliner had unintentionally strayed or whether the Soviets were trying to create an international incident makes no difference to the people who lost their loved ones. This event caused much controversy, one, perhaps, which will never be solved.

Another incident which caused disruption was the invasion of Lebanon and Grenada. The Soviets were building an airstrip in Cuba. President Reagan saw this as an attempt to infiltrate communism into Latin American countries. There were 5000 Cuban soldiers present at the time that President Reagan ordered U.S. troops to destroy the airstrip. Eight American soldiers gave their lives. Some say it had to be done; others insist Reagan acted hastily. No one can predict the future, and no one can change the past. There is still great tension between the United States and these foreign countries. How many more lives must be sacrificed in the quest for peace?

We have had our share of bad times. George Orwell implies that 1984 is a time of disagreement, quarrel, and mental conflict. He also provides a remedy for our ills, "... to sign a pact of friendship with the rivals and remain on peaceful terms for so many years ..."
If beauty is in the eyes of the beholder, then it must also be so for ugliness. But are all things that are displeasing to the eye necessarily ugly? Of course not! In 1984, some of the most unsightly characters aroused a great deal of delight.

Homely, awful, just plain ugly — this describes the Cabbage Patch Kids. Yet, they were the most successful selling toy during the Christmas season. They came complete with their own adoption papers. Small riots were started at stores which stocked them. Mothers stood in lines for hours. Grandmothers fought one another. All this so a precious little girl could receive one of these limited-supply dolls for Christmas. What makes these stuffed babies so desirable? There is a human quality about them. They are not fashionable, like Barbie and Ken, and they do not walk, talk, eat, or drink, like Baby Alive. These dolls have a huggable sense, though, and they express it. They give children a chance to respond lovingly to faces and features that are very strange from their own. They have shown children that being different is not ugly.

Another successful ugly is Boy George. He is the lead singer of Culture Club. He wears more make up than most girls do, and his taste in clothes leaves much to be desired. Nevertheless, his songs are hits. “Do You Really Want to Hurt Me” and “Karma Chameleon” are two songs which hit the top of the charts. He is a definite inspiration for people who do not fit the Miss or Mister America mold.
One person who has capitalized on her plain appearance is Joan Rivers, a successful comedienne who, this year, received Harvard University's Hasty Pudding Award. She pokes fun at her homely face and body. Audiences applaud her because most of them can identify with at least one of the physical flaws that Ms. Rivers jestfully criticizes. She encourages people to laugh at themselves, enjoying that they are not perfect beings.

Another not-so-perfect character who has clawed his way to the top is Garfield. He is a bug-eyed and overweight cat. But his features have been interpreted as dreamy and cuddly. He has worked his way into the hearts of young and old. He is pictured on postcards, mugs, school supplies, license plates, and comic strips. His antics have made him a favorite!

There is one popular character whose physical appearance is definitely hideous. He models a mohawk hairdo. His speech is gruntled. Feather earrings hang to his shoulders. Thirty pounds of gold, in the forms of bracelets and necklaces, dangle from his husky body. Mr. T, how could you? Notwithstanding, in a magazine poll he was voted Second Best Hunk for 1984. Perhaps he is idolized because he is the physical enforcer for the A Team, a real do-gooder in an evil world. Whatever the reason, there is no doubt that this unusual specimen has earned prime time television rights. Broadway is not without its uglies, either. The junkyard setting of CATS vividly portrays T.S. Eliot's "Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats." Everything is out of proportion: old boxes of cereal, useless tires, and many more discarded odds and ends. There is eerie, electronic music. And tons of cats slink out on stage for late evening frolics. Put all together, the ugly junkyard and the slithering cats have thoroughly captivated audiences. The singing and dancing have provided a wonderful evening of entertainment.

These characters have proven that ugly can be beautiful. They have encouraged people to look within, to the heart, to recognize pleasing qualities. It has long been a struggle for man to look beyond physical attractiveness. But these uglies have broken through the beauty barrier. George Orwell explains, "They had done it, they had done it at last."

UGLY

Garfield has purr-ged the hearts of many.

Joan Rivers' comedy just flows right along!

Mr. T's muscles are accented by all those karate.

Definitely a motley crew!

Practical cats, dramatical cats, pragmatical cats, fanatical cats, crassional cats, delphora-clie cats, skeptical cats!
UNDERCLASSMEN WONDER,
“IS BIG BROTHER WATCHING?”
Innovative is an adjective that befits the Class of 1985. These students are constantly working hard, but the activities in which they are involved are not routine; they prefer to be imaginative and creative, to devise the fund-raisers and class functions that are different from their predecessors. And because so many of the functions are new to the school, the students have a lot of fun while participating in the events. Because of the successes they have already met, there is no doubt that the members of the Class of 1985 will be great leaders next year at Chelmsford High School.

The freshmen have made a fine adjustment to their new surroundings — to the staff, the schedule, the building, the upper classmen. Administrators note that this class made the smoothest transition to the high school of any class. The freshmen are also spirited and hard working. Their pot luck supper broke all previous attendance records. The Class of 1987 has made its presence known by active participation in sports, clubs, and school activities.

The dedicated, talented staff of Chelmsford High School accepts the commitments inherent in its partnerships. Together, the staff seeks to respect, utilize, and maintain the materials, equipment and facilities that enhance the learning process for the student. Yes, the 1984 staff at Chelmsford High School is committed, mutually, to a total education in which exhilaration for learning, preparedness for work and/or college, service to the community, interest in the whole world, love for this extraordinary democratic society, and confidence in oneself are fostered in the student. It is through the cooperation of staff members that the student achieves these academics, preparing them for their "only true life . . . their future."
TO THE CLASS OF 1984

You will hear, as Graduation Day approaches, much advice and many speeches about the challenges that lie ahead for you. Though such advice and such speeches may sound familiar, and perhaps, somewhat trite, the challenges to which they refer are quite real.

It is my sincere hope that your years at Chelmsford High School will have played an important part in preparing you for these challenges. I would also hope that you have learned that truth does exist and that in our society "double-think" will not exist.

As you graduate, to the echoes of class songs, promises to "Keep in touch," and the familiar strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," remember that the larger world beyond the walls of the building in which you have spent your high school years will need all of the enthusiasm, concern, sense of humor, and sense of purpose that you can contribute to it. Your individuality and individual accomplishments will help mold the future.

It has been my privilege to serve you as your Principal. My good wishes go with you as you leave Chelmsford High.

Dear Seniors,

At graduation time you will be congratulated, feted, challenged, presented with gifts, and advised over and over about your new responsibilities and life's goals and objectives. I have no gifts, no challenges, no advice. All I have is a simple wish that comes from the bottom of my heart—a wish for HAPPINESS. I sincerely wish you the type of happiness that will help you meet your new challenges and goals, fulfill your commitments, achieve success, and be that someone who makes our world a better place in which to live.

Dear Seniors,

As a student many years ago, 1984 represented the distant, horrible future described by George Orwell. One main theme of that novel that I found abhorrent was that "truth doesn't exist." Now that 1984 has arrived, we must accept the challenge of seeing to it that truth not only exists, but that it flourishes and permeates our every fiber: in our personal lives, in business, in government and in world events. Without truth, all else is rendered meaningless. I have confidence that the Class of 1984 will accept and meet this challenge.

In 1984, sports were an important part of life at Chelmsford High school. Through our athletics, whether we participated by performing or by spectating, we were able to experience a new dimension of life. We were exhilarated by our victories and frustrated by our defeats, but through it all we felt a mutual sense of pride — in our school, in our athletes, and in our fans. At Chelmsford High School, sports unified us. As each game, meet, or match began, all differences among students dissolved; all students came together to work toward a common goal. Regardless of the scoreboard, we were always victorious, for we had not failed unless we had not tried. Therefore, at Chelmsford High School, "always, at every moment, there will be the thrill of victories."

The extra curricular activities at Chelmsford High School fulfill a variety of needs. These clubs hold different meanings for various levels of school participation.

What do the activities at Chelmsford High School mean to the students? They mean an accessible outlet to which we can turn. The various activities provide individual students with a situation where they can develop their particular talents.

What do the activities at Chelmsford High School mean to the faculty? For those who advise, they allow the teacher to share a talent with the students. Through this experience, oftentimes a closer student-teacher relationship develops, one that is difficult to establish in the larger classroom situation.

What do the activities at Chelmsford High School mean to the school as a whole? Spirit, unity, and recognition are the key elements that are derived from continuous participation.

The extra curricular activities at Chelmsford High School are a positive outgrowth of the academic life. They are an opportunity where "the inventive and speculative type of mind can find any outlet."
FRENCH HONOR SOCIETY

The French Honor Society is comprised of juniors and seniors who have maintained an A average in French for three consecutive semesters and above average performance in other subjects. New members are initiated each spring at a ceremony well attended by parents, teachers, and administrators.

The French Honor Society offers a language tutorial program and a scholarship to an outstanding senior member.

The officers for the 1983-84 school year are: Denise Bellemore and Heidi Eklund, President; Kristen Edlund, Vice-President; Maureen Hart, Secretary; Jennifer Murphy, Treasurer.

SPANISH HONOR SOCIETY

The goal of the Spanish Honor Society is to reward academic excellence, especially in the study of the Spanish language. Sophomores, juniors and seniors who meet the language and academic requirements are inducted each spring into the Honor Society. The members of the Honor Society assist in activities planned for the Venezuelan Exchange, offer tutoring to Spanish students, and plan and participate in the induction ceremony for new members each spring.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society has as its objectives: the creation of an enthusiasm for scholarship; the stimulation of the desire to render service; the promotion of worthy leadership; and the encouragement of the development of character in students of the secondary schools of the nation. The Society conceives of education as a total product measured by the four dimensions of life: character, scholarship, leadership, and service. The Chelmsford Chapter, established in 1952, elects to membership fifteen percent of the senior class and ten percent of the junior class each year.
FRENCH EXCHANGE CLUB

The French Exchange Club is the official organization to plan and coordinate the annual exchange of students between Chelmsford High School and Institut Fenelon in Grasse, France. Membership is open to all students who wish to promote understanding between the two cultures by planning the American program for the French students.

VENEZUELAN EXCHANGE CLUB

What is an exchange? It is learning a different language, new words and expressions. It is eating strange foods, meeting new people, making new friends. It is sharing thoughts and feelings.

What makes it possible for all students at Chelmsford High School to share in this kind of exchange? The Venezuelan Exchange Club provides this opportunity. This year the club hosted fifteen students from San Vicente High School in Barquisimeto, Venezuela and sent ten students to Venezuela to represent Chelmsford High School.

Although the exchange lasts for only three weeks, the memories that are shared last forever.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

Technically, A.F.S. stands for the American Field Service, an organization that sponsors students from all over the world in a foreign exchange program. However, among A.F.S.ers, the program means friendship. It means getting to know each other, and learning to accept people for what they are. A.F.S. is understanding that people everywhere are the same. A.F.S. is a symbol of peace. It is the beginning of the future.

This year the Foreign Language Club has grown tremendously. Members are presently enrolled in Spanish, French, Latin, and German. The club is involved in tutoring junior high students needing help, fund raisers, and cultural field trips.

Speech Team members become adept in many forms of public speaking such as oratory, extemporaneous speaking, and dramatic reading. As a member of the Massachusetts Forensic League, the Chelmsford High School team entered several interscholastic competitions.

The Debate Team resumed its affiliation with the Massachusetts Forensic League this year. After researching the national topic, "Resolved: That the United States Should Establish Uniform Rules Governing the Procedure of All Criminal Courts in the Nation," the team entered several interscholastic competitions. Debators must be able to research and present evidence on a specified topic through prepared speeches as well as in logical, spontaneous presentations.
The Drama Club attempts to recreate every part of a theatre production, from choosing the play, raising the necessary funds, and buying the scripts, to building and painting the sets and advertising the production. And, of course, there is the casting, directing, rehearsing and presenting of the play. Don’t forget the cast party, either!

Key Club is a service organization by the Chelmsford Kiwanis Club. It teaches members about their community, develops initiative and leadership, serves the community, and serves the school in a variety of ways.
The Student Council is the liaison between the administration and the student body. Its primary purpose is to make each aware of the other's concerns. Among its functions, Student Council supervises all student elections and encourages school spirit.

The Varsity Club was formed a number of years ago to support athletic events by boosting school and team spirit. Varsity Club members attend athletic contests to cheer the Chelmsford athletes to victory. They also decorate the gym before pep rallies. Notes of encouragement and dessert rewards are nestled into the lockers of deserving sportmen. The Varsity Club is also responsible for conducting the Senior Girls' Luncheon in the spring. The members decorate, find entertainment, and make favors for this memorable event. The Varsity Club members are busy, yet satisfied. There is great pleasure in rewarding the achievements of others.
PEER COUNSELING

The Peer Counseling Program has been developed in an effort to meet a wide range of interpersonal and affective needs of students at Chelmsford High School. This program trains high school students as Peer Counselors who provide direct counseling and support services to other students through group discussion, individual meetings, and classroom presentations on adolescent life issues.

PHYSICAL THERAPY PROGRAM

The Physical Therapy Program pairs Chelmsford High School upperclassmen who are interested in pursuing related careers with multihandicapped students, aged three to twelve years old, at the Lowell Y.M.C.A. Under the direction of a physical or occupational therapist and a pool-side coordinator, these volunteers aid their charges in developing both fine and gross motor coordination skills as well as learning how to swim.

MATH LEAGUE

The Math League competes in math divisions and state competitions. Members study pre-calculus, which forms the foundations of the math advance placement program.

COMPUTER LEAGUE

The Computer Club encourages good programming habits:

a. Thoroughly define the problem and devise an algorithm to solve it
b. Outline before writing code
c. Include sufficient error checks

NO ERRORS DETECTED
COMPILE COMPLETE
INITIATE EXECUTION
UNEXPECTED 'END'
UNRECOVERABLE ERROR
SORRY, RUN TERMINATED

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club, through field trips and guest speakers, provides members with an opportunity to explore areas of interest in science, particularly in environmental studies, in an informal setting.
INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

The Industrial Arts Club provides enrichment for all students interested in industrial arts via field trips and individual projects.

DECA

The Distributive Education Club of America is a student organization for those interested in a career in the field of marketing. DECA helps the student build self-confidence and confidence in the free enterprise system. DECA members compete with other members in schools throughout the country in written and oral testing in fields of marketing. Club members, through fund raising activities and community projects, receive positive training in the need for civic consciousness.

ART CLUB

The Art Club provides enrichment for all students interested in all aspects of art through field trips and individual projects.
PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

The purpose of the Photography Club is to sharpen picture taking skills and allow students to learn photo processing. They also are encouraged to display their work and enter contests. The use of various photographic equipment is explained and some of this is available for student use.

TELEVISION STUDIO

The Television Studio provides a number of services to the school and the community. Students learn all aspects of television production, including studio and portable production techniques and editing. Student produced programs are then telecast on Chelmsford's own television channel, Cable 43. The "Lion's Tale" is Chelmsford High students' own program, featuring videos and other creative and informative segments.

The Canoe Club attempts to encourage the growth of individual potential through physical challenge and teamwork. At the same time, members are solving problems in the natural environment. Paddling around the next river bend, just to see what is there, is also part of the club’s fun!

Mr. Turner, Paul, and Brian make their way through the river.

Rebecca and Sue get a chance to show off their sportsmanship.

Chris Reilke keeps a steady pace.
OUTING CLUB

This has been an excellent year for the Outing Club. Trips have included a hike to Sawyer Pond, Willard Brook, Zealand Hut, Carter Hut, Miz-Pah Hut and Cape Cod. Good luck to the new members next year where they will soon find out that a week-end with Mr. Sorenson is not just a job, but an adventure!

The Ski Club swung into a new phase of activity this year. Weekly trips for night skiing at Crotched Mountain replaced last year's visit to Nashoba Valley. A new venture of a week-end trip to Waterville Valley was very successful and enjoyed by twenty-nine students.

SKI CLUB

The Chelmsford High School Chess Club is open to all students interested in the fascinating game of chess. For some students, we serve as an opportunity to learn the game of chess or a time and a place to play a leisurely game. As a member of the Merrimack Valley Chess League, we offer the more serious-minded student an opportunity to test his or her skills in formal competition. The challenge is real, exciting, and open to all.

CHESS CLUB

The War Games Club was founded this year at Chelmsford High School in response to an expressed desire of a group of students. The members meet regularly to recreate historical battles and futuristic wars. The club members have fought Austerlitz, Marengo, and Poltava.

WAR GAMES
The goals of Students Against Driving Drunk are:
to help eliminate the drunk driver and save lives — to alert high school students to the danger of drinking and driving—to conduct community alcohol awareness programs — to organize peer counseling programs to help students who may have concerns about alcohol. Chapter members dedicate their efforts and time to promote these goals and conduct activities in the school and the community that will highlight the serious problems which result from driving drunk. "If we can dream, it can be done."

During the 1983-84
school year, a new student organization was formed at Chelmsford High School, one that reflects the major political concern of our time: the threat of nuclear war. Students and Teachers Organized to Prevent Nuclear War, called S.T.O.P., is a nationwide network of high school students and teachers involved in the citizens' movement to reverse the arms race. Chelms­ ford's S.T.O.P. goals for the first year have been to educate and involve students, teachers, parents, and the local community about the nuclear arms race.
Enthusiastic, highly motivated, and energetic are three words that can be used to describe The Voice staff. The editors and staff members work together to create this monthly news magazine. The Voice has won first place from the Columbia Press Association for the past two years, and the staff hopes to continue this high standard.

MOSAICS

Being revived this year as the high school literary magazine, Mosaics publishes from one to three volumes a year. Students collect, edit, write, draw, publish and distribute the magazine under the direction of advisors.
THE 1984 LION

The Chelmsford High School yearbook, The Lion, is a memory book. It is read by students, their relatives and their friends. It is a probing, sensitive look at life in the school and in the community at this point in time. It must examine the home, community, and extracurricular lives of the students. Furthermore, it must present the issues with which the students deal. These must all be faced honestly, in words and pictures. Producing a good yearbook, one worthy of the time and energy spent in its preparation, is a rewarding experience for the staff. The achievement of this goal, a quality production, demands organization, patience, and a genuine interest in doing the job correctly. The 1984 Lion staff has achieved success!

Members of the Chelmsford High School Chorus have a busy schedule. The Christmas season, this year, has been particularly engaging. Of course there was the Christmas concert; in addition, the members sang for Bay State Rehabilitation Center, tree lighting ceremonies at the Professional Building, Daughters of Penelope, Toys for Tots Telethon, and the Rotary Club Luncheon. A special event was participation in the first, annual, town-wide choral concert. Other music department functions included the student recital and spring musical.

The Orchestra meets once a week after school for an hour and one-half. Literature is chosen for all combinations of wind, brass and string instruments. Music from all periods and styles is investigated and performed on appropriate occasions.
The Chelmsford High School Concert and Marching Bands are actually the same, although there are some who do not participate in the Marching Band during football season. This year the Band’s record was 10-0 during halftime performances. The style is a balance of college and military maneuvers. Eligibility is universal. The concert season commences with the Christmas Concert and ends with the “Pops” in May. The marching season commences the third week of August and ends with the fourth of July parade.

Being a member of the Chelmsford High School Concert / Marching Band is total commitment!

BAND

JAZZ BAND

Each jazz band has its own melodic and rhythmic characteristics, and the Chelmsford High School Jazz Band is no exception. As they combine their imagination with both familiar and modern tunes, they transport their audience from reality to fantasy. The excitement of the polytonal sounds and polyrhythmic accents truly makes any listener feel so good.

A process of growth is experienced by the students at Chelmsford High School which prepared them for diverse experiences in life. This growth process extends beyond the school life of the students; and interaction between the students and the community occurs. Such relationships enable the students to familiarize themselves with the society and add a vital dimension to their developing lives. Numerous businesses of the Chelmsford community offer valuable opportunities for the students. By working, students become acquainted with various occupational fields. The Chelmsford community, interacting with the students, "spreads knowledge outwards from individual to individual, from generation to generation." Such knowledge influences the futures of this generation of students, better preparing them for their lifelong goals.

A REMEMBRANCE

In words and pictures, we have presented the many dimensions of life at Chelmsford High School. The broad scope has included such areas as academics, sports, activities, and community. But the year 1984 has been made particularly unique by George Orwell. Thirty-five years ago, he forecasted 1984 to be a time of despair, when "men all over the world will lose their most human qualities, will become soulless automatons, and will not even be aware of it." The positive dimension of Orwell's 1984 is Chelmsford's student. In us exists "faith in human progress and in man's capability to create a world of justice and peace." That makes us special, unique in a world that sometimes lacks individuality. The students at Chelmsford High School are not hopeless and resigned; rather, we are responding with greater clarity and greater courage to a world which has needs. We are aware of the world and confident in the dignity and integrity of man. "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

As yearbook editors, we hope that you have enjoyed your visual walk into the sunlight. The endeavor could not have been accomplished without the mutual efforts of Assistant Editor-in-Chief Jo Pergola, Layout Editor Karen Hentz, Copy Editor Jonna Labowicz, Sports Editor Kimberly Coursen, Activities Editor Laurin Dinnigan, Art Editor Mary Ellen Steeves, and Business Editor Alyson Shannon. Under the direction of our literary and technical advisors, Mrs. Janice Silva and Mrs. Bonnie Fenton, we have been able to capture and preserve 1984 at Chelmsford High School. George Orwell's manuscript, Nineteen Eighty-Four, is a remembrance of things present for future reference. We hope you enjoy these special memories as you continue your journey toward Utopia.
