The sun rising over a gentle sea greets you with the promise of a new adventure. There is much to look forward to.

Welcome Aboard!

You may never find this definition of a cruise in your dictionary but it is inscribed on the heart of each member of The 1989 Lion staff:

"A cruise is a celebration. A fragile string of pleasurable moments. And while a cruise is defined by its duration and destination, it begins with anticipation and ends with remembrance. We invite you to join us in our celebration. The smiles are contagious. The joy, spontaneous. So if you find yourself dancing, though you’ve never danced before, there’s a reason. If you hear yourself singing in a voice you’ve never heard, we can explain."

We hope this cruise will not only meet, but exceed your expectations for an outstanding time. The Chelmsford High School Lion has earned a five star rating. We, the staff of The 1989 Lion wish to uphold that tradition. We have created a journal holding all of your fondest high school memories. Treasure it forever. You may return whenever you wish. This book holds your lifetime pass to memories.

Sail in a manner as grand as the destinations that await you. Thirteen tedious years of work have paid off. The elevation of spirit begins with the junior cotillion, yet over that horizon so much beckons! Cruise with us, enjoy the memories. This is your opportunity to indulge!

Bon Voyage!

Don't try to look so thrilled, Chris!

Bernie's buying lunch for the crowd!

Finish that application yet Lacey?
Laura and Laurie, you fit right in!

No, no Scott, we're taking a picture of the kid next to you!
You’re taking whose picture?

Yeah, we’re on our way to paradise!

On your mark, get set, go!

Ha! Don’t you dare!

Mrs. Harper and her suitors.

Isn’t that due next period Wai-Lan?
We couldn’t find dates, so we thought we’d just be part of the scenery.

It was the evening of May fourteenth and the ship was getting ready to set sail. The destination, an evening of fantasy to be remembered by all. Dressed in their finery all 492 passengers anticipated a magical evening. They were not disappointed.

Gentlemen escorted their ladies on board. The ship’s captains greeted their passengers and escorted them to the dining room where a sumptuous buffet was served. Along the passageway, stars shown brightly through the midnight blue sky. Sounds of music called from above deck. Soft breezes filled the hearts and dreams of everyone.

The deck became a tropical island where couples danced their way into a dreamworld of enchantment. The journey of the class of 1989 had begun.
Karen and Julie, you make such a cute couple!

Don't we look great?

Is this a line up or a dance?

Let's smile really hard. Maybe they'll take our picture!

Pretty in pink!

Chris and Jess, the perfect match.
Dancing into Paradise!

Isn’t it supposed to be boy, girl, boy, girl?

Enjoying the cruise Kathy and Geoff?

Okay, who’s your real date Nina?
Great friends, great memories.

Did somebody step on your foot Lynda?

Shake a leg Pam!

Got enough dates, Keith?

There’s always time for romance on a cruise ship!
Night Life

The Morp, the second evening dance of the cruise was a break from traditional black tie. Jeans, sweatpants, tee-shirts, and sneakers were worn by the guests. The port ballroom on the middle deck was packed with gyrating guests attired in various casual costumes. Everyone dressed in the latest styles danced to the trendy music provided by Larry Starr. The Morp was a smashing success, and everyone departed eagerly awaiting the next dance.
What?!? The class of '89 made some money?

Brandon and Lisa take a break from their dirty dancing.

How cute! Chris and Mike, Karen and Jim

Bow to the money Sean
And a good time was had by all.

Look Mom, no cavities!
That's it Caito, we knew you could dance!
A Halloween Extravaganza on the Promenade Deck

There's a chill in the air. The moon is full and a howl can be heard off in the distance. A howl? In the distance? What could be the cause of this? Has our ship sailed into eerie uncharted waters? What's the explanation for this? Of course . . . It's Halloween!

An occasional ghoul or a ghost can be spotted darting across the moonlit decks of the ship. There is an excitement in the air. The Senior Halloween dance has begun. It is a mystical gathering of witches, ghosts, vampires, and Christmas Trees?!? Throughout the night shouts of laughter and the sound of the music can be heard all through the ship.

Where is your "Hunny" Jen?

The Monster Mash?
The Lil' Rascals . . . Still in Black and White!

The tabloids are right . . . Elvis Lives!!!

They're Too Much!!!

Now we're eligible for the "Newlywed Game"!

Shannon is sick of cafe food
Well if it isn't Sue & Nancy, our favorite Dirt Bags.

The four SEA-sons

How cute!

The Cone-Heads have returned!

Yes, we left Barnum & Bailey for this!

By day they're found in your grocer's produce isle

Come on, do the locomotion

We're on Furlough!
No faculty member has spent more time pondering what it takes to get a yearbook dedication than Mr. Stephen Meidell. Alas, each year, despite his valiant efforts and ruses to enhance his odds of winning the dedication, Mr. Meidell has found the honor still out of reach.

The quest began as an innocent longing, but over the years has developed into a raging obsession. Flowers, boxes of candy, and expensive perfumes found their way into the hands of yearbook advisors. When that didn’t work, he began to use his persuasive techniques on unsuspecting seniors. He has been seen compiling lists of senior homerooms, checked “Visited” and “Not Visited.” He has had subliminal messages pleading VOTE MEIDELL wedged between lines of senior exams. He has devised an intricate incentive program of supplying Dunkin’ Donuts to seniors who claim they will vote for him.

But he hasn’t stopped there. He is so intent on this honor, that he now spends most of his time skulking around the yearbook room, feigning surprise when detected, and smiling his famous Jimmy Carter smile. “Any ideas coming along about anything important . . . uh . . . like the uh . . . dedication?” he asks, and volunteers to edit copy for the staff.

Finally, his latest caper has been a sly one. He shrewdly contrived an invitation as keynote speaker at the 1988 National Honor Society induction ceremony where he intended to couch his desire for yearbook dedication in metaphors of aiming high and reaching for goals. Rumor has it, however, that as he approached the podium, Mr. Meidell realized he had inadvertently picked up his five year old acceptance speech for the yearbook dedication. Unable to remember his recently written speech, he had to improvise from the old. “It’s very disappointing to fail,” he said, tears falling on the page. In maudlin tones, he conveyed to us his hunger for the dedication.

Despite his shameless displays, Mr. Meidell is dearly respected. Sure, one reason we are devoting all this space to him is because he is the biggest customer of yearbook candy sales, but there are other reasons. Mr. Meidell is a friend. His class is one of pleasure and interest. Although his class is no easy “A”, each day is different and new. Thanks to his keen sense of humor, students who pass through his class each day also never pass a day without wearing smiles. Other students, too, who are not enrolled in his classes, enjoy his camaraderie.

Just as no one is safe from Mr. Meidell’s conniving in his quest for the dedication, no one is safe from his undiscriminating friendliness. Even at last year’s graduation, Mr. Meidell’s service to students continued. When it was time for faculty to assemble for the procession onto the field, Mr. Meidell left his co-workers to hold the door for the exiting seniors. He bade each of them a final farewell. So to you, Mr. Meidell, we bid farewell. And although still another yearbook is in your hands without a dedication to you, know that you have not failed.
For the past seven years Mrs. Janice Silva has been the driving force behind the publication of Chelmsford High School's award winning yearbook, The Lion. As Mrs. Silva has become a part of each and every yearbook she has worked on, she has gone beyond the position of "yearbook advisor".

The hours spent working on layouts, checking over copy, and developing the theme cannot be measured. Difficult situations arise constantly and must be dealt with. Only a person with Mrs. Silva's devotion and patience can possibly handle every aspect of a yearbook.

Warmth and compassion are what set our yearbook advisor apart from all others. She is always there to listen when we've had enough, and to console when it seems as though the book will never be complete.

Mrs. Silva has been a friend to every student ever to enter room 337. Freshmen and sophomores will always remember Mrs. Silva's English classes. Mythology and allusion notebooks will haunt some of us each time we open the yearbook. But every minute spent with Mrs. Silva (and Amanda) will be remembered fondly.

We love you, Mrs. Silva. Your warm smile and devotion to students will forever inspire enthusiasm in all of our hearts.

It is with gratitude and admiration that we, the class of 1989 dedicate this yearbook to you.

A cruise isn’t always pleasurable. No matter what, something goes wrong or someone complains. In order to prevent these little mishaps from occurring, our Cruise Directors have asked for the input of five randomly chosen seniors for their creative and enlightening ideas. So . . . Whatever floats your boat . . .

Captains

Chelmsford High School's Class of 1989 has finally reached the helm of the ship. It is now our turn to be captains. We will control the ship with spirit, enthusiasm, and responsibility. This experience will only add to the vast sea of knowledge of every graduating senior.

The time has come to venture from the safety of the ship, and its harbor. The open sea awaits. But no one will leave unprepared. A treasure chest of memories has been discovered for all to share and enjoy. Knowledge and independence have been gained along the voyage. The next journey begins, the boat may rock, the waters may be dangerous, but the anchor is there.

It is with sadness that we, the class of 1989, pull up our anchor. Chelmsford High will remain in our past, but memories and experience will steer the ship throughout the future. As we set sail to new beginnings we thank our primary navigators, Jeff Doherty and George Pollard. Their guidance and assistance have enhanced the entire fleet.

The celebration at Chelmsford High is over, but the treasure chest of memories will sail with each of us over every horizon.

In Loving Memory
Do you know that in a race all the runners compete, but only one receives the prize? So run that you may obtain it. Every athlete exercises self-control in all things. They do it to receive a perishable wreath, but we an imperishable.

1 CORINTHIANS 9:24-25

To an Athlete Dying Young

The time you won your town the race
We chaired you through the market-place;
Man and boy stood cheering by,
And home we brought you shoulder-high.

Today, the road all runners come,
Shoulder-high we bring you home,
And set you at your threshold down,
Townsman of a stiller town . . .

A. E. Housman
Four years ago, the class of 1989 left the port of the Edith C. McCarthy Junior High School in the town of Chelmsford. Our ship took us to our first stop, Chelmsford High School. The first day of school we were alone, huddled together for security. The first stop on our trip was filled with maps for us to follow, they would help us find our way.

Our sophomore stay-over on our continuing journey proved to be worth our while. This stop opened up our eyes a little more to all of the clubs and activities that were available to us on our cruise. There were more opportunities to gain respect as our own distinct class.

The third stop on our journey was one of many successes. Culminating with a gala event that finally proved our worth. It was the junior cotillion, Cruise to the Tropics.

Now our trip is near its end, with such events as The Morp and The Halloween Dance. Our ship will soon arrive at another famous port of call; graduation. Graduation is a special port because it is both a beginning and an end. It is the beginning of a whole new life, a life with new friends and new learning experiences. It is also an end, an end to four years of sailing. Much of what we learned on the trip can be measured in a written test, but more importantly the learning that can only be measured by a test called life.

As your president, the skipper of our ship, it has been a distinct pleasure to be a part of those four years. My happiness cannot be expressed in the words I write here. It can only be expressed in my actions and my attitude. Of course our class could not have had such a successful voyage without the combined efforts of all our representatives and class officers, the rest of the crew, my first mate, Noah Luskin, purser Mark Dawson, and Yeoman Kristyn Lemieux. Even more thanks goes to our cruise directors, Mr. George Pollard and Mr. Jeffrey Doherty.

No group of people could have made me feel more proud about being a class president than you have. I love you, Chelmsford High School, Class of 1989. You made my job enjoyable. I'll never forget the good times and good friends I had at Chelmsford High. Don't you forget yours either. I hope all your dreams come true, whatever they may be.

To: The Captains of the C.H.S. '89 Lion
From: Cruise Directors Pollard & Doherty
Re: Final Voyage of the C.H.S. '89 Lion

Dear Captain,

On 4 June 1989, many believe you will finish your final voyage on the C.H.S. '89 Lion, and the ship will finally dock. We, the cruise directors, do not see this as a time of disembarking, but as the embarking on the most important voyage of all. The past four years your ship has never been fully out of the safety of the harbor; we have taken short cruises to just beyond the breakwall, but these four years have been a time of preparation, of outfitting your liner for your life-long voyage on the open seas.

Over the course of these four years, we have proffered in innumerable accessories and essentials which you could have added to your sea chest. Regardless of your immediate destination, work or school, your sea chest holds many safeguards to help weather the various turbulences which will await you. As you look for the beacons of lighthouses from the sea, think of the knowledge given to you over these years, knowledge gained in classes, discussions with the many navigators, and from your personal encounters with your fellow captains. Be prepared to adapt this learning to the prevailing winds of your voyage. When you sail to your various ports of destination, if you see a lifeboat with someone in need of help, hopefully the time, patience, and compassion our navigators have shown you over these years, will cause you to stop and assist others instead of worrying about your time of arrival. Finally, when the sea gets rough and you find yourself adrift and alone, may your memories of our time together: the most successful cotillion in the school's history, senior week, the magazine drive, the Winter Wonderland Dance, the Halloween Dance, the Talent Show, sporting events, plays, concerts, Cafe II, "quiet study" in the library, escaping through the career center, the smoking area, classes, and special, and normal times with friends; may these memories smooth your seas and give a steady wind to your sails.

The navigators and cruise directors have now totaled your bill for these four years of preparation. You have more than paid us with your smiles, laughs, heartaches, successes, failures, problems, and the time you have allowed us to spend as a part of your very special and important lives. All of us, and especially Cruise Directors Pollard and Doherty wish to thank you for your enthusiasm, wit, vulnerability, and trust. These are the rewards and payments we of the C.H.S. '89 Lion signed aboard for.

May your dreams be your only boundaries, and may you receive in return as much as you have given us through these four years.

With the greatest love and respect,

Cruise Directors Pollard and Doherty

Class Representatives and Officers

Over the past four years we have all sat through millions of classes, spent hours doing homework, and agonized over countless tests. But what is a cruise if there isn’t entertainment? Our class representatives and officers have spent the past four years making sure that there’s always something to do. If you just want to relax and enjoy the sea air, or if the exciting nightlife is more your speed, don’t worry. The choice is yours!

The promenade deck has opened its doors many times, The Morp, Halloween Dance, Christmas Dance, and the Beach Party and Luau dances have created the exciting nightlife we’ve all enjoyed. Pep rallies and spirit weeks, selling lollipops and balloons, selling magazines and donating blood. There’s never a dull moment.

As the end of our cruise approaches, there’s more excitement than ever. Senior week, with the luncheons, the prom, and the banquet, is the last stop before graduation, our most important port of call. Memories of this week will remain in our treasure chest for many years to come.

Fun and excitement have made the Class of 1989 what it is today. Special thanks go to all of our class representatives and officers, the hours of planning and decorating have finally paid off. Our cruise has been the perfect celebration!
Superlative

Aboard every cruise there are always just a few people who stand out for some reason or other. Whether it is their smile, their talents, or even their height, all of these people have been recognized for their own personal trait. These 22 select few who appear on the next four pages, have been chosen from the 530 seniors as representing the epitome of their particular category.

"You want me to do what?" This was a typical response when seniors were asked to give a whole pint of their blood. Not too many people like to have needles stuck in their arms! But those who weren't able to donate blood, eagerly volunteered their time to help out. They helped set up equipment, fill out forms, and encourage those giving blood. Congratulations to the Class of '89!

"You want me to do what?" This was a typical response when seniors were asked to give a whole pint of their blood. Not too many people like to have needles stuck in their arms! But those who weren't able to donate blood, eagerly volunteered their time to help out. They helped set up equipment, fill out forms, and encourage those giving blood. Bill relaxes before his next class.

“What did you get for number eight?”

Melissa enjoys having her blood pressure (and picture) taken.

Lisa says, "Help, give blood!"
"Bernie Battle, Katie DelVecchio, Lisa Jewett, and Gautem Patel . . . Come on Down!"

Every year the senior class has its magazine drive to help defray the cost of senior week. This year’s senior class had the opportunity to win many prizes, including tee-shirts, stuffed lions, and blankets. The hottest item this year was the all new locker answering machine.

Most seniors sold enough subscriptions to get a painter’s hat which they wore to show their enthusiasm and to win candy from the “mystery teachers”. This year’s senior class had the second highest total ever. Great job Class of ’89!

Bernie enjoys his instant fame.

“We can make it!” says Mr. Betses.
Winter Wonderland

On December 17, 1988, the doors to the promenade deck opened once again. This time it was for a festive, semi-formal "Winter Wonderland." After weeks of anxious waiting, the night finally came. Gentleman arrived with dates in hand, ready to dance the night away. The holiday spirit was in the air, Christmas trees and candy canes, snowflakes hanging from the ceiling, and even a tiny skating pond adorned our wonderland.

All attention was focused on Dave Beaton and Betsy Lonergan as they were crowned King and Queen of Chelmsford High. Their royal court included Dan Hamilton and Julie Long, Dave Caruso and Kerri O'Sullivan, and Greg Ivanov and Jen McCauley.

As the doors to the promenade deck were closed and the passengers departed, a great feeling of fun and enjoyment remained in the air. The "Winter Wonderland" Dance was surely a great time to be remembered by all.

There is no doubt that the Class of 1989 is at the helm of the Chelmsford High School cruise ship this year. After all, they are the captains. Without them, the ship would never leave port. They are in charge. Chelmsford High has built its reputation on three things: quality education, interesting activities, and an encouraging atmosphere. These make the cruise a treasured experience for everyone on board. All of this is possible because of the dedication and concern of the captains. This is what sets our journey apart. The captains work for the perfect cruise, the best on the seven seas, seven periods a day. The crew on this voyage is shown on the following pages. To depict them accurately, most members will be in home port. Appearing first are the swabs, the Class of 1992. The deck hands, Class of 1991, are second, followed by the first mates, the Class of 1990.
The first one hundred and eighty days on board the cruise ship are spent as swabs. The Class of 1992 is kept busy experiencing the adventure of a brand new voyage, getting used to occasional sea-sickness, and adjusting to being told what to do by everyone else on the crew. While they meet new and interesting people, see different ports of call, they learn the ropes from the bottom up. Of course, they are excellent swabs, and with experience gained from the first cruise, they will advance to the rank of deck hands.

The Deck Hands

The deck hands are crew members with some experience, out for fun on their second cruise. They are members of the Class of 1991. They have survived their first voyage, and are anxious to spend more time with the friends they met on board last year. While deck hands don't enjoy being told what to do, they do enjoy the status of being able to order the swabs around, and look forward to the next cruise when they will be first mates.

Here's lookin' at you.
The Class of 1990 has fared well during its voyages aboard the cruise ship. Now, proud first mates, they obey only the captains. It is the job of the first mates to make sure everything runs smoothly, learning from the captains so that when they take the helm, they too will be able to handle the job well. The first mates will be lead through a wonderful year, cruising to beautiful ports of call, all in anticipation of becoming, finally, the captains.

Another Monday?
The Ship’s Log
1989

With the coming of each new year there are great accomplishments and great sorrows. Feats such as those of the Olympians in Seoul to the disasters in Armenia and Aloha Airlines flight 737 are only a few. We are entertained by superb performances of George Michael, The Phantom of the Opera, and the controversial "Last Temptation of Christ". Our country has made great progress with its return to space and improved relations with Russia. We have seen political history being made as our country’s citizens elected a new President, George Bush. Although there have been many tragedies throughout the world this past year, they are out-weighed by the great successes and achievements throughout the globe.

Navigators

The navigators are the quintessential part of any ship. From the very first sea voyage, they have helped to guide ships safely through the treacherous waters that await them. Without their help, the ship would never reach port.

At Chelmsford High School, the crew is guided by highly skilled scholastic navigators — the teachers — whose knowledge keeps the ship on its charted course. Navigators are the core of Chelmsford High’s existence. Without them the ship could hardly stay afloat.

At the beginning of the journey, the crew leaves the safety of the home to enter the dark and mysterious waters. Knowing the skilled navigators are at the helm, the crew’s fears of danger are assuaged. Although the voyagers may stray off course, the navigators are always there to see them back en route.

Along this four year journey, the steadfast navigators of Chelmsford High School stand as beacons to guide those who dare to venture out. These bastions of the ocean will endure any weather to set their charges on a straight and narrow course to their ultimate destination. Before they embarked upon their journey, the crew was nomadic, wandering hopelessly for knowledge, and now they are explorers, ready for whatever lies ahead. During their exploration, the ship encounters rough seas. At times some of the explorers fall overboard. The navigator is always there to provide a life jacket, and if necessary, to vault overboard to rescue those who wander off course.

With the work of the navigator finally complete, the ship releases it precious cargo to the world. Every year the navigators see the crew disembark at its destination: graduation!

As this group passes over the horizon these pilots of the stars turn and face the questioning minds of their new apprentices. Even though the previous journey is complete, the navigator is ready to embark upon a new quest for knowledge with new adventurers to guide.

On-Deck Activities

Not everyone is a genius. Not every sailor can calculate with intricate mathematic equations that exact course of his ship. That’s why on board the ship here at Chelmsford High School almost forty on deck activities are offered. Swabs and captains alike mingle to improve their skills in activities that interest them. For some, extra curricular activities help them chart their course in life. For others, on-deck activities merely make their sail through life a little smoother, providing enjoyment along the way.

The on-deck activities at CHS are among the finest and most diverse of any ship afloat. Our exchange programs span the globe, ocean to ocean, while our award winning mathematics team, literary magazine (Mosaics), newspaper (The Voice), distributive education program (DECA), and yearbook (The Lion) are sailing full speed ahead.

Whatever your port of call, whether you are voyaging with the well-traveled music department, or creating your own club, such as the Students Activist Group for the Environment (SAGE), on-deck activities at Chelmsford High School are the best on the high seas!

Recreation

On a cruise ship the opportunities for recreation are endless. Shuffleboard, pool, swimming, aerobics... The list goes on and on. Any passenger has a chance to test his abilities in any of the recreational activities he chooses. The ship provides these activities for the passengers' enjoyment, recreation, and well-being, hoping that everyone can find something to his liking.

During your four year voyage at Chelmsford High School, the same is true. Chelmsford High School's athletic program allows each person to have a refreshing excursion away from the routine of every day. Sports allow each participant to seek far horizons, set higher goals, and meet new friends. All passengers are invited to meet the day-to-day challenges that this type of activity presents. This recreation keeps each passenger in ship shape, and lets each learn the value of sportsmanship and competition.

The Lions of Chelmsford High School are known throughout the state for their strength, talent, and ability. Each athlete has the desire to win. Because of all the hard work and dedication on the part of the athletes, our mighty ship is one of the most feared and respected on the high seas. Sports at Chelmsford High School bring the chance for activity, exercise, and fun on board our ship.
The 1988 Cross-Country season turned out to be a truly successful endeavor for the LION Harriers.

Besides stomping on the Merrimack Valley Conference, and placing 7 out of 12 on the All Star/All Conference team, they also captured the Northern Area title.

Leading the “all senior” top 7 through many victories were co-captain Brian Cox, senior Chris McDermott, and senior Jayme Fishman. Close behind this unstoppable trio were co-captains John Duggan and Mike Murphy, senior Chris Backman, and unbelievable newcomer Mike Butler.

Through the teams fraternal strength it held together and ran superbly. Having lost close friend, teammate, and captain, John Carson in a tragic accident last year, this year’s team went to work against the odds and gave 110% effort in his memory.

Congratulations to all the members of this year’s C.C. team and a special thanks to Mr. Durkin and Mr. Christman, two excellent coaches who brought the best out of their team.

The Chelmsford High School Girls' Cross Country Team of 1988 won the MVC title for the fourth year in a row. The team was led this year by the four captains Kathy Gavin, Amy Labrecque, Lisa Sternstrom, and Rachel Warren. With the help of junior Alicia Duff and sophomore Kerry White, they managed to capture first place in all but one of the meets. Many of the girls recorded personal bests as the season closed. Also scoring for the varsity team were junior Patty Gavin, and seniors Joyce Whitney and Emilie Brough.

The Lions were proud to have two of their runners signed to the All-Conference Team this fall; senior Rachel Warren and junior Alicia Duff. Overall, the girls felt that this was a successful season and hope to retain the victorious stance in the years to come.

The Varsity Field Hockey team had one of its most successful seasons this year. The team ended with an impressive record of 12-2-2, qualifying them for the state tournament. The team was led by captains Rose Smith, Kris Blane, Krissy Kydd, and Kim Ross. Seniors Julie Sacchetti, Krissy Davis, Jen Lamb, and Karen McClure contributed greatly to the efforts of the team. The team feels that its accomplishments were partly due to the enthusiasm and comradeship of all the players. Because of the many returning varsity players, the team should be successful in the seasons to come.

The 1988 football Lions had a difficult task of living up to the accomplishments of last season's performance, a task which they proved they were more than capable of handling. With impressive wins over arch rivals such as Andover, Central, Lowell, and Xaverian, the Lions were able to boost an impressive record for the second straight season. Outstanding teamwork enabled a mostly inexperienced varsity squad to overcome any shortcomings and end the season with an almost perfect 9-1-0 record.

These seniors led the team to another victorious season.
Under first year coach Scott Thomas, the team lost only two games after winning only three the previous year. The highlight of the season for the Lions was bringing a Merrimack Valley Conference title to Chelmsford High School for the first time.

After losing 2-0 to Westford Academy in the opening game, the team went without a loss for the next eleven. Tri-captains Noah Laskin, Steve Doyle and Ned Lisi were steady leaders on the field. Phil Bethea, Mike Pomrehn, Peter Gallagher and Brian Rea, all seniors, played well for the team throughout the season. Peanut Gallery members Mark Dawson, Dave Hannon, Chris Fleming, Steve Douglas, Matt Chaffee and John Poor kept the team motivated and took up the slack when needed.

The team qualified for the Eastern Massachusetts Tournament, but suffered a tough 1-0 loss to a talented Lexington squad in the first round.

The 1988 Girls' Varsity Soccer team had one of its best seasons ever. The team was comprised of 12 seniors, 5 juniors, 3 sophomores, and 2 managers. Every member of the team was very special and important. The team's final record was 11-5-2, giving them a berth in the state tournament. The team was led by captains Michelle Gilet and Amy Souza, and coach Carl Rondina. This team was a close-knit group that also possessed talent. The team had the ability to get psyched for their important games, as was evident by their tie-dyed team shirts. Credit goes to all members of the team, Mr. Rondina, and all other supporters of the soccer team.

Recreation 193
The Girls' Swim Team had a solid season this year and was led by captains Lori Sheehan, Stephanie Panas, and Lauren Thomas. The team supplied solid competition, and many of the girls turned in personal best times. The team suffered its only losses to Nashua, Lowell, and Andover. Senior Leslie Dutton and junior Michelle Kersbergen each supplied important points for the team. Although it trained without a coach, the diving team was quite successful, and an integral part of the whole team. With the talent and dedication of the girls, the team should be looking forward to many more successful seasons in the years to come.
Captains Steph, Lori, and Lauren guided the team to victory.

The Girls' Volleyball team at CHS has always been a very successful team. This year's team kept up this winning tradition. With the team's hard work, dedication and enthusiasm, they advanced to the North Sectional Finals of the State.

The team was led by senior co-captains Nicole Pasternak and Heather Cody. Sue Sullivan, Jen Roberts and Sam Whittaker also added to the talent of the team.

Next year's team will be led by returning varsity players, Laurie Carson, Patty Trudel, Meredith Swierzbin, Wendy Wilcox and Kathleen Gillis.
Meredith and Patty are ready!

A together team.

Going for another win.

The 1988-89 Cheerleading Squad was a success, as usual. The girls’ enthusiasm and school spirit was evident at all of the football games, as well as the pep rally. The team is coached by Eileen Fletcher and Barbara Carano, and led by captains Julie Robinson, Jenn Roche, and Lisa Belkas. The dedication possessed by the whole squad allowed them to support and encourage the football team to their victories.
The cheerleaders perform one of their many routines.

Erin and Kristin are all smiles about cheering!

Chelmsford High School is one of the few remaining schools in the local area to have a majorette squad. Many thanks are awarded to coach Maureen Dunn for keeping baton twirling alive here. Her energy, patience, and perseverance all serve to promote the spirit of this unique sport. The squad performs during the half-time intermission at all Chelmsford football games. Variations in single and two batons spark the interest of the crowds. Fire baton twirling, a tradition created by Coach Dunn and performed by the captains, adds excitement as well.

While twirling is less competitive than other sports at the high school level, dedication is still required. Attending practice almost every day, and braving the freezing cold weather of football season proves to show the endurance of the squad. The squad’s diligent attitude is best described in the words of Mrs. Dunn, who is noted for saying, "Do it one more time!"

The Chelmsford High School Colorguard squad consists of 15 girls who are extremely dedicated to the teams they march for. These girls practice every day after school, just as any sport does. They are at the football games cheering on the team, and encouraging the fans to do the same. The squad carries flags from all of the countries that CHS has exchanges with, plus the Chelmsford High flag, and they also twirl rifles. The Colorguard also has to be in step with the Majorettes, and they all have to work as a team.

Sandy leads the majorettes.

The colorguard displays the flags of different nations.

The majorettes give the crowd a good show.
Sue displays her talents.

These senior majorettes proved important to the squad.
Boys Basketball

This year’s basketball team was led by starting seniors Jed Carman, Gary Mulckigan, Dan Harvey, Ed Keefe and Jim Sheedy, while seniors Jim Desisto and Steve Borowick also contributed greatly to the team. The hardwork and great team effort enabled them to be a challenge to any opponent. The team demonstrated excellent skill and talent this season. Next year’s team holds great promise and should be a strong competitor in the Merrimack Valley Conference.

Once again the girls' basketball team had a successful season. This year's team started off the season with an unexpected win. The team, which was led by Heather Cody, Jen Lamb, Tricia Lea, and Kim Ross, won the Winnicunnet Christmas Tournament. The team's hard work and dedication is what helped them do so well this year. Although the team is losing four key players, it will retain many underclassmen who will provide for great seasons in the years to come.

The gymnastics team has had an outstanding season once again. Second only to Dracut in the Merrimack Valley Conference, it has become known to State Champion teams as a rival. Once again, sophomore standout Emily Lueck led the team in high scores, with surprise freshman Angie Rapone close behind. Captain Julie Sacchetti, the only senior on the team, was a very important member, contributing points with her performances on the floor and vault. A lot of hard work has gone into their winning record, and hopefully they will have another successful season next year.

Recreation 209
Due to the high caliber of competition in the Merrimack Valley, CHS’s hockey team got off to a rough start. But with forwards led by senior captain Matt Tramonte, senior captain Jeff Stagnone, and senior Dave Balan, the offense began to put the puck in the net. The defense was led by juniors Craig Manzi, Bill Christie, and goalie Greg Hirsch. Soon the team was looking at a 7-6 record and a possible berth in the state tournament. Although the team did not meet this goal, it can be proud of its improvement throughout the season. The players deserve praise for their hard work and dedication.
Dave evades his opponent.

Jeff breaks away to score another goal.

Score!!!

Boys Swimming

The boys swim team had a great season going undefeated in their dual meets (6-0) and also by winning the MVC meet. This year’s team was led by co-captains Dan Benson and Steve Scaplen. Along with the captains, the big point getters were seniors Dave LeBlanc and Ryan Kuechler. Also contributing to the victorious team were Josh Blagg, Kurt Leslie, Sean Gouldson and Todd Lawrence. Coach Al Thomas has a young squad which is expected to do well in the upcoming years.

Pete is swimming to another victory.

Strong performances were contributed by these seniors this season.
The Lions have once again captured the Merrimack Valley Conference Title, but have gone further to capture the State Championship. Senior co-captains David Beaton and Vernon Willis led the way for the Lions. Willis became a two-event State Champion, in the high jump and the high hurdles. Junior standouts included Reggie Willis, Tom Cai to, Jamie Cerretta, Charlie Maffeo, Phil Bethea and Ben Winther dominated the 600. Rob Veth and Mike Flanagan led the Lions in the shotput. Mike Butler and Chris Davis were tops in the 1000. Shining in the mile were Jayme Fishman, Dave Hannon, Chris Backman, John Duggan, and Dave Beaton. Brian Cox, Mike Murphy, and Steve Kelts led the way in the two mile. The Lions' success is attributed to superior coaching and dedication from all the athletes. All members, no matter what class or age, are winners.
Mike is a strong competitor in the 2 mile.

Vernon’s in the lead ... again.

Reggie watches the events.

Steve runs a strong race.

Although the girls’ track team started off slowly, it ended its season with an impressive 4-3 record and many participants in the state meet. Seniors leading the team to its victories were Michelle Gilet, Lisa Sternstrom, Amy Labrecque, Trish Hutchins, Jessica Paquin, Rose Smith, Janet Keistead and Rachel Warren. Despite the loss of these key senior athletes, Chelmsford is confident that the underclassmen who have proven themselves to be valuable will continue to shine in the seasons to come. Congratulations to a team which is much like a family off the track and much more of a threat on the track.

Wrestling is a sport that demands a great deal of personal sacrifice as well as a total team effort. True dedication and consistent discipline are necessary to have a competitive squad. The 1989 Lions appreciated the leadership of coach Bruce Rich and assistants Dennis King and Bob Russo. Captains Ned Lisi and Dave Mills, along with seniors Paul Bauch, Steve Doyle, Joe Howard, Rich McAndrews, Mike Pomrehn, and Andy Rosenzweig helped make the season a success. Many of the hardworking younger grapplers also played a significant role by contributing to the winning season. The wrestling team would like to thank their fans for their support during the season.

The Thrill of Victory
This year's Pep Rally took on a new twist. The rally served as a grand finale of the mini spirit week that had been held during the previous days. School spirit was emphasized, encouraging participation from the entire student body.

At the rally, captains from each fall sport were recognized. A panel of judges had been organized in order to determine which class had the most school spirit. The judges were looking for spirit, enthusiasm, and, most importantly, sportsmanship and dignity. The Freshman Class of 1992 was announced as the winners. The 1988 pep rally proved to be an amazing display of school spirit, and the tradition will be continued in the years to come.
Ship's Vault

Rest assured that your valuables are safe in the ship’s vault. Beyond the steel wall lies the wealth that helped to assemble this record of our voyage. Without the riches of this vault, we would have never been able to set sail. Character, creativity, and willpower are not the sole factors of an excellent voyage; money has also been a guiding force.

Our loyal crew members began their journey early in the summer of 1988. During the hot and humid days of July and August, they went to various merchants and businesses seeking money in the form of advertisement sales. The crew stuffed envelopes to mail out requests for parent messages. They sold subscriptions for our cruise aboard The 1989 Lion. They did not stop until the vault was full. The crew wanted to make sure that you would have the best.

Because news of previous voyages had spread to neighboring ports of call, the crew was able to make money from many different places. Our journey extended beyond Chelmsford. Our successes have become renown. We have made our mark throughout the world.

Our four year voyage is at an end. The vault is closed and locked. Our memories are preserved. Perhaps our ships will pass once more, and the beacons of friendship and wisdom that we have developed in our years at Chelmsford High School will guide our way.

As we set sail on our new journey into the adult world, it is only fitting that the people who love us the most — our parents, our teachers, our sponsors — are waving bon voyage from dock-side. We thank them all for their support. They have watched us grow. Now, they are ready to let us sail.
Congratulations, Kei! May all your dreams come true. We love you.

We hear our Destination with
Memories of Happy
Times . . .

From the shore, the ship can be seen coming forward through the mist. The joy of those on board reaches far across the sea. It is not an ending, but merely the beginning.

As the class of 1989, we have spent four very important years at Chelmsford High. We have been touched by many events. We've sailed together through gentle waves and through the roughest of waters.

Since freshman year we've stuck together. There is no doubt that senior year has been the best. The future is uncertain. It has long been known that we will each embark on our own voyage. But what will each journey bring? This will be a time for each of us to live out the dreams we have long held dear.

Alone, each of us will depart, a boundless drop in an infinite ocean. The time to part has come. We have gathered together one final time. We cannot let the waters separate us. Our times together will always be remembered as they sail with us, in our treasure chest of memories.

The past four years have prepared us for departure. We are ready to go and await the wind with cageriness. When it comes, we will sail to the ends of the earth.
Rough life, Brian?

Where's the Hackey-Sack?

Daydreaming in class?

"Am I awesome, or what?"

We all use Close up.
Four of a kind

We're innocent, honestly!

Enjoying your free time?

Oh no, here comes my father.

Who's the mummy?
We have reached the twilight of memory. We must look upon these times as a beginning. Anticipation will begin each new day. The past will always be today's memory, and the future, the essence of today's dreams. Cherish each sunrise, as a beginning and each sunset as a moment of reminiscence.

The cruise had ended, the ship is in its harbor. The treasure chests have been unloaded onto shore, and the passengers await their next journey as the sun approaches the horizon.
As our ultimate destination is upon us, we must end our cruise with remembrance. The smiles have been many, and the enthusiasm seems as if it will never fade. The celebration has ended, but the memories will last forever. This is your book, treasure it just as it has been created, with tremendous care and devotion.

Each editor has achieved the unimaginable: Chris Kokinos and Alyssa Soracco have gone beyond the pages of this book and have kept us all in line. Rose Smith and Lorrie Stewart deserve special praise for their always on time and always perfect layouts. Amy Sime and Heather Westbrook have created the best-ever activities section. Heather Cody has succeeded in completing some of the toughest pages. Carrie McCoy and Martha McCoy have fulfilled our every request. We are proud to have such fine artwork. Greg Gilchrist and Tor Trivers spent endless hours completing their entire section within days. Without the fine work of Mike MacKinnon, Dave Rauktys, and Steve Roberts none of this would be possible. The money raised has been more than enough to do anything within our wildest imaginations.

Mrs. Silva created this wonderful staff. She started off our journey, with the perfect theme and piles of ideas.

Mrs. McCoy has been a second mother to each one of us. She’s settled the roughest of waters, and kept our spirits soaring.

Mr. and Mrs. Donovan have guided our business editors. Together the business staff has achieved so much, the copy and organization of much of the book.

All of our advisors deserve special thanks. We couldn’t have done it without you!

The staff of The 1989 Lion wishes you a lifetime filled with anticipation and remembrance. Sail in style, ride every wave, the future is yours!

Sincerely,
Kristine Rainge
